

Again, thank you, Len Holmquist, for visiting our website and entrusting us with your request. We endeavor to answer online reference questions within seven (7) days.

We will do all we can to find the information you are looking for, but unfortunately, there are times when we are unable to locate something.

If we do find what you are looking for we may not have the rights, permission, or ability to transfer or copy material. If we can copy material there will be associated duplication and postal costs.

Also be advised that if you do not receive a timely response, you may need to adjust any email SPAM filtering settings to accept our messages.

These are the details you entered:

User Information:

Name:	Len Holmquist
Email:	len@eurotraveler.biz
Street Address:
City:
State/Province:
Zip/Postal Code:
Country:
Telephone:
Topic of Request:	Jonathan Goforth
Collection:	Goforth

Question/Request

I am writing a book about a Swedish missionary family named Rinell who lived and worked in China between 1894 and 1951. In 1913 or 1914, Jonathan Goforth and his wife, apparently, spoke at a revivalist meeting at the Rinell's mission station. I would like to find out if there is any record of this revivalist meeting among Goforth's papers. How can I go about finding out? Thank you. Lennart Holmquist Wheaton Graduate School Class of 1978

If you wish to send another request, please hit the back button on your browser and re-submit.

Close this window.