NOTE.—The above table is made up from latest Baptist hand-books in this and foreign lands, and shows latest possible figures. The methods of collating statistics are becoming more uniform, although difficulty is experienced, especially in distinguishing between ordained and local preachers, according to the English and Colonial plans. In Great Britain and other countries only pastors are counted. The apparent decrease in number of churches is occasioned by the unreliability of the reports of the colored Baptists in the United States. The "non-reporting churches" of Great Britain are those that have withdrawn from the "Baptist Union," and are the English estimate.—ED. B. Y. B.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

Clerks of Associations will greatly sssist in the complication of the statistical tables if they note the following particulars in their Minutes:

1. The number of churches. 2. The names and post-offices of all ordained ministers, whether pastors or not. 3. The separated totals of additions by baptism, letter, experience, and restoration. 4. The separated totals of diminutions by death, letter, exclusion, and erasure. 5. Amount of church expenses and benevolent contributions. 6. Specify on the title-page to what State the Association belongs. 7. Indicate if any of the churches are located in other States.

The Minutes of State Conventions and General Associations have heretofore furnished valuable help. The value of these Minutes will be greatly increased if they embody:

1. Correct lists of all the Associations in the State, with the total of statistics as given above.

2. The names and statistics of all Negro Baptist Associations.

3. The names and statistics of all unassociated Baptist churches.

4. The number of Baptist meeting-houses, their value and seating capacity, together with the number and value of church parsonages, and the total value of all church property.

5. The statistics of Sunday-schools—giving in full—the number of schools, officers and teachers, scholars, volumes in library, scholars baptized, school expenses, and benevolent contributions.

6. The name and post-office address of every ordained Baptist minister and of each superintendent in the State.

7. Ministers ordained, churches recognized, and meeting-houses dedicated during the year—giving the name, date, and place of each.

8. Ordained ministers who have died during the year.

The clerks or secretaries of all Baptist Associations, Conventions, Theological Seminaries, Colleges, and other educational institutions, are earnestly requested to forward, as soon as possible, two copies of their Minutes, Reports, or Catalogues, to A. J. Rowland, D. D., No. 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. Should any churches fail to report at the annual meeting let the membership previously reported be included in the total membership.

To insure insertion, these statistics should be received not later than Dec. 1.

AMERICAN BAPTIST YEAR-BOOK 1896

PUBLISHERS' NOTE

Among the many things swept away by the great fire of February 2, which destroyed our building and plant, was almost the whole of the "Year Book" for 1896, which stood in type ready for printing. Proofs of a large portion of the matter were preserved, and hence a reproduction of the work was possible without an entire rewriting by the editor. Much of the matter here presented, however, has been thus reproduced.

In consequence of the loss of the font of type used, of the press of work in other directions, and in the interests of an earlier publishing of the work, it has been deemed best to omit a large portion of the matter usually included. The list of officers of the different Boards however being complete, as well as the ministerial lists, perhaps the most valuable portion, the omission may not detract materially from the value of the publication. The names and addresses of the Secretaries of the various national and State organizations being given, any information desired not here included can be obtained by applying directly to them. Another year, it is expected, will see all the fullness and completeness of information which has made the "Year Book" so valuable a work of reference.

Education.

The institutions maintained by the Society for the education of colored people, Mexicans, and Indians, continues with increasingly gratifying results, although there had been a necessity of curtailing somewhat the expenses in this department. A lively interest on the part of the negroes in their institutions is reported. By arrangement with the Southern Baptist Convention, Advisory Boards are to be appointed where the institutions are located, to recommend action based upon careful observation of peculiar needs. The institutions for the education of colored youth are located at Atlanta, Ga.; Littlerock, Ark.; Columbia, S. C.; Marshall, Tex.; Richmond, Va.; Jackson, Miss.; Nashville, Tenn.; Raleigh, N. C.; Selma, Ala.; Louisville, Ky.; Washington, D. C.; in Atlanta and Richmond there being two institutions for male and female education respectively; of schools of secondary class, there are institutions at Arkadelphia, Ark.; Allendale, S. The latest available statistics of this work should be sought in our educational tables, as these contain later figures than those given in the Annual Report.

In order to carry on the work it was necessary to make loans amounting to $104,227.88, of which $10,412.39 had been due the year previously. The disbursements were, to Africa, $7,060.12; to China, $33,120.72; to Japan, $5,119.41; to European missions, $18,366.57; to Mexican missions, $24,657.18; to Brazil, $21,375.55; to church property at Rio de Janeiro, $10,000.00; making total to missions, $119,699.55; the expense account, including $3,640.00 for salaries of officers, and interest on borrowed money, and necessary printing and traveling expenses, amounted to $10,097.52. There were time loans paid, $78,500, and call loans paid, $24,979.06, leaving balance in bank, $534.33. The debt of the Board had been reduced to $19,858.88.

Home Mission Work.

Balance from preceding year, $247.73; from churches and individuals, $76,523.18; from "Our Home Field," $528.09; miscellaneous items, including sale of lots, and receipts from the store rents, cemetery, and hospital in the Cuban work, $11,341.20; making total of $88,640.20; from bills payable and due from preceding year, $56,634.56, all of which had been paid during the year save a balance of $1.100. The disbursements included salaries of missionaries and merchandise forwarded to them, $51,912.54; for State agencies, $2,211.15; Cuban work in hospital, cemetery, taxes, etc., $6,661.50; church building funds, $11,863.12; "Our Home Field," $1,024.67; salaries of administration, $1,450.00; other administrative expenses, $1,879.12; printing, office, and other expenses, $1,885.76; interest, $979.74; bills payable, $55,534.56; balance to new account, $109.06. The amounts received and expended in co-operative work with various State Boards, for work in their respective States, aggregated $67,138.89, and $58,973.40 were expended in church building. The assets of the Board amounted to $109,730.00, and include real estate held for religious purposes in New Orleans, Key West, Cuba, and El Paso. Over this amount are liabilities aggregating $10,300. The amount contributed by the Woman's Missionary Union for this work, was shown to be $23,515.61.

The Board was anxious to do a larger work among the negroes than the means provided had been able to afford. The important conference at Fortress Monroe it is hoped will lead to many practical results. The Board had ratified the agreements reached in that conference. Active institute work by well-equipped men had been conducted in Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, and Texas. In some of these States evangelical work had been accomplished through colored missionaries of the Board.

The Sunday-school Work.

The items in the report show an increase of the business done by the Board, the beginning of a reserve fund for future enlargement, and a threefold benevolent work including contributions of money for Sunday-school evangelization through State Boards, gifts of literature to needy schools, and gifts of Bibles. Only partial statistics of Sunday-school work are given, since no attention was given to any organized effort for compiling them. The circulation of the periodicals has largely increased. These now comprise a monthly "Teacher," "Primary," "Intermediate," and "Advanced" quarterlies, the "Kind Words" paper in three editions, weekly, semi-monthly, and monthly, "Lesson Leaflets," the small weekly, "Child's Gem," for little children, Lesson Cards, Bible Lesson Pictures, and "The Young People's Leader," for the societies of young people.

The Constituency.

The table, prepared by one of the secretaries, shows 17 bodies in 14 States in organic relation to the Convention; there is also partial connection in the District of Columbia. In the territory covered there are 702 associations, 9,907 ordained ministers, and 17,803 churches, with a membership of 1,431,041; the baptisms reported in 1894 were 105,190; 21 colleges, 25 female seminaries, and 28 academies were reported, with 715 instructors and 11,016 pupils; these institutions possess $2,651,577 endowment funds, and a total property of $7,410,327; the reported value of church property was $17,913,444; in State mission work, not included in the Convention work, there had been 857 missionaries employed, who had preached 63,174 sermons, baptized 10,135 persons, and organized 204 churches. So far as the white Baptists are concerned, these are figures taken from the District Associations, the minutes of all save 28 having been obtained.

Next Anniversary.

Christian Culture Courses.

The educational plans of the Union contemplate eight years of training in three lines known as the Christian Culture Courses, four years in the Junior and four years in the Senior Departments. The courses are known as the Bible Readers' Course, the Conquest Missionary Course, and the Sacred Literature Course, and may be briefly described as follows:

Junior Department.—Bible Readers' Course: First year, Matthew; second year, Mark; third year, Luke; fourth year, John. Conquest Missionary Course: First year Convictions and Beginnings; second year, Organization and Methods; second year, Fields and Operations; fourth year, Leaders and Triumphs. Sacred Literature Course: First year, Old Testament Biography; second year, the Life of Jesus; third year, The Acts of the Apostles; fourth year, New Testament Biography. The first course consists of daily reading in the Bible, the second and third courses are a series of questions, answers to which are to be sought in the missionary readings of the Senior Department, or in the Bible. Mrs. F. L. Wilkins is the conductor of the department, to whom correspondence may be addressed, at 324 Dearborn Street, Chicago. The calendars for the Bible Readers' Course and the questions for the other courses are published weekly in the Junior Department of the Baptist Union. An examination for the Juniors is provided in May of each year; certificates are given to the successful examinees, and three prize banners to three State or provincial Unions showing respectively the best record in each of three courses, no competitor to receive more than one banner at the same convention.

Senior Department.—Bible Readers' Course: First year, Historical Books; second year, Poetical Books; third year, Epistolary Books; fourth year, Prophetical Books. Conquest Missionary Course: First year, Convictions and Beginnings; second year, Organization and Methods; third year, Fields and Operations; fourth year, Leaders and Triumphs. Sacred Literature Course: First year, Preparations for Messiah; second year, The Life of Jesus; third year, The Dawn of Christianity; fourth year, Struggles for Distinctive Principles. The object of these courses is training for Christian service; twenty minutes a day devoted to them will compass their requirements, which are simply a chapter a day in the Bible, and the reading of about 1,200 words per week in missionary lines, and the same amount per week in sacred literature. Side-light readings in general literature are suggested, but not required. Examinations occur in May each year, open to all who desire to enter; certificates will be given the successful examinees, and three prize banners to those State and provincial Unions showing the best record respectively in the three courses, no competitor to receive more than one banner at the same convention. All material for the prosecution of the work of the Senior Department will be found in the "Baptist Union" each week.

Financial.

The treasurer reports receipts for the year, $57,610.00, and a balance to new account of $5.59. Among the receipts were subscriptions to the paper, $23,891.32, and contributed to the Founding Fund, $14,358.99. Among the disbursements were $18,906.47 on account of the publication of the paper, $7,964.04 general expense, and $9,778.51 for salaries. The assets of the Society include the paper plant, $13,800.00 and other items amounting to $24,100.60, against which there are liabilities aggregating $24,230.40, showing a deficit of $124.80. This is a great gain, as the deficit of the previous year was $9,302.58. The outlook is encouraging from the fact that advertising receipts had tripled and subscriptions to the paper had handsomely increased.

There is a large publishing interest, with headquarters at Cleveland, O., and under the management of Rev. P. Ritter. The business had been satisfactory in despite of the financial depression. Rev. J. C. Grimmell is the editor of the various publications. "Der Senbote" is a weekly eight-page paper, and had an increased circulation. A number of books and a still larger number of tracts and a Sunday-school song book had been published, all in the German language. It was determined to enter into a co-operative relation with the Publication Society at Philadelphia, especially in the line of colportage work, and the churches are asked to include this object in their benefactions. The organ of the Young People, "Der Jugend Herald," is published in New York, with Rev. Walter Rauschenbusch as the editor. In spite of many hindrances, an organization of Young People's Societies was effected, with D. B. Stumpf, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y., as President, and Rev. NEW MEXICO.

There is no report from this Territory. There are a few churches scattered at long intervals. The attempt to secure associational organization is defeated by the difficulty of obtaining anything like a good attendance owing to distance and expenses of travel. The Home Mission Society is aiding in a few churches, where there is population sufficient to warrant expenditure in hope of future results.

OKLAHOMA TERRITORY.

Up to the latter part of the year 1895 the interests of this Territory were combined with those of the Indian Territory in one Convention. There has very recently been formed a Convention for Oklahoma, but so recent that no facts and figures are available. It was nothing more than an organization. The information afforded by the work in this section is included in our review of the Indian Territory. The country is new and disorganized religiously, although strenuous efforts are being put forth to develop church life. A number of weak and small Associations have been formed, yet it is impossible to furnish a full statement of Baptist affairs at this time.

WYOMING.

The few churches in this State are embraced in the single Association. Nothing of particular interest has been observed through a scrutiny of the denominational press throughout the year. The uncertainty of the times, and the scattered condition of the field, probably have combined to make the past year one of seed-sowing and of patient waiting for results.

ORDAINED MINISTERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

NOTE.—Among Baptists there exists no official register, as among other denominations, compiled by a central ecclesiastical authority. Because of this, perhaps, we suffer the disadvantage of an always incomplete list. The present roll is compiled chiefly from the Associational Minutes, and is as near exactness as it is possible to be. There are many Associations, however, which publish no lists of ministers at all, and many others which publish only the names of pastors, and these without postal address.

The policy of this YEAR-BOOK is to make the Associational Minutes the basis of operations, on the only and simple ground that it is deemed that every minister of good standing will be mentioned by the Minutes of his home organization. If names are omitted in this list that should be enrolled, let an examination be made first of the District Association Minutes, and the Editor then acquitted. Errors will be cheerfully corrected, however.

The perpetual movement of such a large body of men occasions almost incredible numbers of changes and alterations in the course of a year. The YEAR-BOOK does not claim that the appended list includes all the Baptist ministers of the country, but it claims only to present an accurate list as furnished by the Associational Minutes, with such alterations as are discovered in a weekly scrutiny of the denominational papers.

In certain States, especially in the South and West, it is an impossible thing to obtain all the Associational Minutes before making up this list for any given year. Consequently, the Editor does not claim that it is a complete list, but it is an accurate one so far as it goes, affected by the constant changes to which the ministry is exposed. In these States, the Minutes for 1895 are closely followed, and where the Minutes of that year are not at hand, those of 1894, are carefully compared with the list; so that if a minister has removed, his last known address is given, and his movements may be traceable from that office. No name appears that is not in the District Association lists within two years. If the names of any so contained do not appear, the Clerk of the Association has sent neither blanks nor Minutes to us.

Before it will be possible to compile a full and complete list of American Baptist ministers, the friends of statistics must secure in their Associational Minutes these several features: 1. An alphabetical list of all ordained ministers living within the bounds of the Association, or serving churches, with their correct post-office address attached; this list to be published quite separate from the statistics of the churches, and to show, by simple abbreviations, whether the brethren are pastors, teachers, without charge, agents, or honorably retired. 2. A corresponding list of ministerial changes, showing who have entered the Association within the year; who have left it, and where gone; and who have died, and when; and who have been ordained during the year.

If Clerks of the Associations can be induced to adopt the suggestions above, and be careful to address a copy of their Minutes to the Editor of the YEAR-BOOK, very early an absolutely correct list of ministers would be published. The attention of interested brethren in the Associations, and of Editors and Statistical Secretaries of State bodies, is respectfully called to these considerations.

Colored Ministers.—The fire of February 2, destroyed the only approximately reliable list of colored ministers in several Southern States; it will require much time and labor to reproduce them, and would indefinitely delay the issue of this edition. In a few instances duplicates had been preserved in the editor's office.

The orthography of the postal addresses conforms to that adopted by the United States Official Postal Guide, 1896.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

Clerks of Associations will greatly assist in the compilation of the statistical tables if they note the following particulars in their Minutes:

1. The number of churches. 2. The names and post-offices of all ordained ministers, whether pastors or not. 3. The separated totals of additions by baptism, letter, experience, and restoration. 4. The separated totals of diminutions by death, letter, exclusion, and erasure. 5. Amount of church expenses and benevolent contributions. 6. Specify on the title-page to what State the Association belongs. 7. Indicate if any of the churches are located in other States.

The Minutes of State Conventions and General Associations have heretofore furnished valuable help. The value of these Minutes will be greatly increased if they embody:

1. Correct lists of all the Associations in the State, with the total of statistics as given above.

2. The names and statistics of all Negro Baptist Associations.

3. The names and statistics of all unassociated Baptist churches.

4. The number of Baptist meeting-houses, their value and seating capacity, together with the number and value of church parsonages, and the total value of all church property.

5. The statistics of Sunday-schools—giving in full—the number of schools, officers and teachers, scholars, volumes in library, scholars baptized, school expenses, and benevolent contributions.

6. The name and post-office address of every ordained Baptist minister and of each superintendent in the State.

7. Ministers ordained, churches recognized, and meeting-houses dedicated during the year—giving the name, date, and place of each.

8. Ordained ministers who have died during the year.

The clerks or secretaries of all Baptist Associations, Conventions, Theological Seminaries, Colleges, and other educational institutions, are earnestly requested to forward, as soon as possible, two copies of their Minutes, Reports, or Catalogues, to A. J. Rowland, D. D., No. 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. Should any churches fail to report at the annual meeting let the membership previously reported be included in the total membership.

To insure insertion, these statistics should be received not later than Dec. 1.

Anniversary.

The eighty-second anniversary was held at Asbury Park, N. J., May 22, 23, 1896. There were enrolled as present 196 life members, 158 annual members, and 365 visitors, a total of 707. The annual sermon was delivered by George Bullen, D. D., Mass., on "The Assured Victory of our Priest-King," from Heb. 10 : 13.

The occasional matters considered by the meeting embraced the address of the president on taking the chair, on "Go and Lo"; a conference conducted by Dr. Mabie, with reference to the relations of the churches at home to the work abroad; the decision on the report of a committee not to press the matter of women representatives on the executive committee of the Union; the inauguration of a Commission on Systematic Christian Beneficence, looking toward the adoption of better methods for missionary contributions, and in which are to be included the executive officers of the general societies; and the adoption of resolutions regarding the atrocities in Armenia. A number of addresses were made by missionaries respecting their various fields of labor, also by Rev. T. S. Barbour, on "Christian Giving"; and one by Rev. T. J. Villers, on "The Purpose of the Ages." An hour was given to the consideration of the interests of the Baptist Young People's Union, in their relation to the foreign missionary enterprise, at which addresses were made by H. C. Applegarth, D. D., Miss E. D. MacLaurin, E. M. Poteat, D. D., and Mrs. Newell Jones. A deputation from the Southern Baptist Convention was received.

The Annual Report.

The appropriations for the year had been met, although great difficulties were confronted, and the debt decreased as much as $26,129.19. The constant agitation of the public mind has continued to chill philanthropic feeling and check benevolence. The year had been remarkable for the magnitude of legacies which had come into the treasury, the largest sum from this source which had ever been received in a single year. The falling off in donations had created an anxiety which continued to be depressing, and a meeting for daily prayer had been established in view of this condition of things. The simple maintenance of the work on the established scale demanded an increase of donations as much as $200,000. The problem of retrenchment is environed by difficulties of more than ordinary magnitude. Figures were presented showing by comparative ratios the excess of results in the work as compared with other large missionary bodies in the world.

Financial.

The treasurer has received during the year from all sources the sum of $666,569.32. The Field.

The changes in the working force were: appointees, 15; missionaries who had departed to their work, 56; of these 20 went to Burma, 4 to Assam, 8 to South India, 5 to China, 11 to Japan, and 8 to the Congo; returned home on furlough, 42; resigned, 17; appointees not designated, 4; not in active service on account of age, 6; and died, 6.

In contrast to the financial anxieties at home were the activities in prosecution of the work abroad. In one of the Chinese stations the work had been temporarily suspended by the riots which swept over that country, but the missionaries had returned to their work. A personal visit to the French mission by Dr. Duncan, had resulted in clearing away the difficulties which bid fair to destroy its usefulness; and a valuable conference with the German brethren was had. The report details at length the pressing needs of particular fields and calls for reinforcements where the cause appears to be dependent upon additional workers in order to maintain accomplished results. In many instances the work had grown to such proportions as to imperatively need buildings for its preservation and the meeting of the opened opportunities.

The list of the dead, while including a number of valuable and efficient friends in the churches at home, contains the names of Mrs. Charlotte B. Thomas, Rev. Charles Hadley, Mr. J. A. Finch, Rev. Wm. Dean, D. D., Mrs. Geo. E. Whitman, Mrs. A. B. Harris, Mrs. Ellen Sharland, and Miss Johanna Shuff, all of whom had been missionaries of the Society.

Bible Work.

Work had been prosecuted upon the revision of the Assamese Bible; the New Testament in the colloquial dialect of the people of South China had been completed and was ready for the press; an edition of 5,000 Bibles and 2,000 Testaments of the Sgua-Karen version had been printed from photogravure plates, and was immediately exhausted, so that a new edition of 5,000 was ordered to be issued.

Africa.

Efforts have been confined to holding the work, without attempting advances. There are hindrances arising from violence inflicted upon the natives by agents of the civil government. Railway improvements have been pushed, which afford access to new points for labor. The heroic faith and devotion of the missionaries continues in face of great obstacles. The following stations are occupied, all on the Congo River, but reaching more or less a population of 40,000,000:

Europe.

FRANCE.—Reports were incomplete, and nothing was heard from many important centers; two French preachers had died; the north of France contains a number of vigorous stations from which encouraging reports of progress were in hand.

GERMANY.—The work of the Society is one of co-operation with existing organizations. In some points, as Berlin, no reports are made to the Society. The Theological Seminary had graduated 4, which was a small class, but there are 44 under-graduates. Publication work is carried on and was reported as making steady progress; 38,060 volumes of Scripture had been circulated through colporters. In connection with the German Union, there are now 169 churches with 512 Sunday-schools.

SPAIN.—The mission has reported at last an increase to over 100 members, which had been the prayer of the aged missionary who has worked so long without apparent results. There are ten small churches. More work had been done than in previous years, and hundreds had heard the living gospel for the first time. The work is scattered over 20 towns and villages.

SWEDEN.—As in Germany, the work in this country is through home organization; there are now 38,094 members, and 91 churches reported additions by baptism of ten per cent. or more; in some cases rising to fifty per cent. The growth is solid and substantial. All the peculiar methods observable in American churches are noted here, especially societies of young people. In the Theological Seminary 36 pupils were enrolled.

RUSSIA.—No report had been received; the churches are principally aided by the Union; but there are no more steadfast or zealous believers to be found than those gathered into the Baptist churches of Russia. The persecution is severe and one reason why no reports are in hand may be the espionage exercised by the government over our brethren.

FINLAND.—The year had been marked with blessing and encouragement. Much revival work had engaged the attention of preachers and people. An encouraging school work exists. Constant tours of preaching throughout all portions of the country occupy the devoted missionaries, who have seen fruits of their labors.

DENMARK.—A good school for general education with a theological department has been established; there had been 183 baptisms and the membership had been increased to 3,374. There are 26 churches, one being newly organized. One new chapel had been erected.

NORWAY.—No report had been received, yet the work had been prosecuted with vigor and with abundant tokens of Divine blessing. The work is under the charge of a committee of Norwegian brethren at home and in their own land.

Summary.

In the lands of the heathen, there are 91 stations, and 1,040 out-stations; the missionary force is thus divided: 166 men, 159 wives of missionaries, 97 single women, 27 physicians, a total of 472; 250 ordained and 809 unordained native preachers; 205 Bible-women; 381 other helpers; making a total of 2,101 missionary laborers of all descriptions. There are 468 self-supporting churches and 353 non-self-supporting, a total of 821. There were baptized in 1895, 4,657, and the membership aggregated 97,231. There were 765 Sunday-schools, with 26,471 pupils. Of the school work conducted by the missionaries, 347 were self-supporting and 789 not, a total of 1,136; these had 955 male and 454 female teachers, in all 1,871 natives engaged in this work; the pupils numbered 15,735 boys and 9,701 girls, in all, 27,622. There were 828 church buildings or chapels. The value of missionary property was $747,035. So far as the contributions of the mission churches were reported, they were for churches, $21,818.75; for Sunday-schools, $15,574.67; for general benevolence, $4,860.67; a total of $47,248.09. In European missions, carried on by the natives of the respective countries, there were in addition to the above, 1,149 ministers, 903 churches, 6,895 reported baptisms, and 97,787 members.

Anniversary.

The seventy-second anniversary was held at Asbury Park, N. J., May 20, 21, 1896. There were reported in attendance 71 life members, 19 annual members, 153 delegates of churches, and 393 visitors. The annual sermon was preached by W. H. P. Faunce, D. D., N. Y., from Matt. 17 : 19.

The prepared addresses were by W. M. Lawrence, D. D., Ill., on "Denominational Literature and its Distribution"; Rev. Warren A. Partridge, Ohio, on "The Sunday-school in its Relation to the Kingdom of Christ"; W. W. Main, Mass., on "Requisites to Greater Efficiency in Sunday-school Work"; Rev. E. P. Tuller, Mass., on "Sunday-school Literature"; Rev. James Larsen, Mich., on "Colporter Work"; Frank D. Hall, N. Dak., on "Sunday-school Missionary Work"; Rev. S. N. Vass, Ga., on "The Society and the Negro"; Col. Chas. H. Banes, Pa., on "A View of the Society and its Outlook"; J. J. Taylor, D. D., Ala., on "The Society in its Relation to Denominational Unity and Progress"; and Russell H. Conwell, D. D., Pa., on "The Society as an Educational and Evangelization Agency." In addition reports were presented and spoken to on the "Publishing Work," by Prof. H. C. Vedder, Pa.; on the "Missionary Work," by Rev. W. H. Geistweit, Ill., and on the "Bible Work," by James W. Willmarth, D. D., Pa. The annual report contains abstracts of all these addresses.

The Annual Report.

Allusion is made to the complete destruction of the Society's building, February 2, 1896, in which everything was consumed not protected by fireproof vaults. With great energy arrangements were immediately made by which the work of the Society suffered but a small hindrance especially in its re-issue of Sunday-school publications. Temporary location was secured as above noted, and the work went on. Insurance to the amount of $115,000 upon the building, $199,750 on stock, machinery, and fixtures, and $50,000 on plates, protected the Society from the utter loss which was threatened. Steps were taken to rebuild upon a larger scale. The completion of the new manufacturing building upon another location was pressed, and since the anniversary has been occupied for the work for which it was erected. The contract price for this building was $108,620 and the cost of the lot, $37,000; when furnished it will represent an outlay of $175,000, drawn from the reserve fund, which has been accumulating for this purpose. In the branch houses the stock and good will of an established firm in New York had been purchased, and the Society located at its admirable position on the great thoroughfare of that city. Agencies had been established at Toronto, Canada, and London, England; and similar arrangements had been made in Germany and Sweden.

The new publications for the year numbered 74, of which 230,500 copies had been printed. Progress had been made in the construction of the Old Testament Commentary. The District Baptist Histories had received an addition by the issue of Dr. J. A. Smith's volume on the "Baptists of the Western States." Special editions of some of the more popular works issued by the Society had been printed. As classified the issue of denominational and standard books was 12; of Sunday-school books, 12; of holiday books, 4; and of leatherette and paper pamphlets, 19; new tracts numbered 26, of which two were in French and one in Norwegian.

Of periodicals, 38,230,200 copies had been issued; of this number 2,803,000 were reprints of those destroyed by the fire. Classified they were as follows:

Our Little Ones, weekly	7,009,000
Bible Lessons, weekly	5,485,000
Picture Lessons, weekly	9,750,000
Picture and Question, weekly	30,000
Barnens Tidning, weekly (Swedish)	294,000
Young Reaper, fortnightly	3,098,000
Sunlight, Fortnightly	2,424,000
Our Young People, fortnightly	1,201,000
Baptist Teacher, monthly	701,000
Baptist Superintendent, monthly	75,200
The Colporter, monthly	749,000
Advanced Quarterly, quarterly	1,952,000
Senior Quarterly, quarterly	518,000
Senior Inductive Studies, quarterly	46,000
Intermediate Quarterly, quarterly	963,000
Primary Quarterly, quarterly	991,000
Junior Inductive Studies, quarterly	63,000
Two Years with Jesus, quarterly	76,000
Same in Swedish, quarterly	2,000
Reprints of above	2,803,000
	38,230,200

In the missionary department there had been commissioned 86 persons; these rendered 21,344 days of service, traveled 451,546 miles, sold 21,610 books and gave away 7,174 others; distributed 344,855 pages of tracts; delivered 14,966 sermons and addresses, held 4,700 prayer meetings, baptized 442 persons, constituted 50 churches and 180 Sunday-schools, and held 1,018 institutes. The record of schools aided by donations and also of pastors and students aided with grants for their libraries was destroyed by the fire. The missionaries of the Society were scattered all over the country, and comprised 51 who were colporter missionaries and 29 who were devoted particularly to the Sunday-school work. Four of these are in charge of the chapel cars of the Society for the work of which there had been a constant demand.

The amount received for Bible work had been $11,558.32; a large quantity of copies of the Scripture in various languages had been sent out, but the destitution is very great. It is hoped that in the current year the revision of the books of the Old Testament will be ready for publication. In the matter of grants the demand had increased despite the losses of accumulated material by the fire, and this fact calls for material aid in rendering favorable response to these demands.

also an educational symposium, consisting of brief addresses by E. C. Mitchell, D. D., La.; Owen James, D. D., Tenn.; Rev. J. A. Booker, Ark.; Rev. N. Wolverton, Tex.; and A. C. Osborn, D. D., S. C., each of whom is president of the society's institutions in the States named. A Commission on Systematic Beneficence was instituted, composed of members representing the general societies; it is to serve for three years; devotes itself to the study of the question of denominational beneficence; mature plans for the development of giving; and seek to serve the denominational interests generally. The resolutions embraced satisfaction at the results of the co-operative movement in the interest of evangelization among the colored people; invoking the Czar of Russia, who was being crowned the day of the anniversary, in behalf of Armenian Christians; advocating withdrawal of public funds for the support of sectarian educational institutions; and favoring constitutional amendment prohibiting such disposition of public moneys.

The Annual Report.

The year began with a debt of $108,000. The receipt of certain legacies had enabled the year to close with a reduction of debt, which was reported to be $86,245.41. The total receipts had been, exclusive of church loans repaid, $505,949.40; these came from 48 States and Territories, British Columbia, Mexico, and China. They are thus classified: Contributions of churches, Sunday-schools, and individuals, including $27,129.50 trust funds, $266,921.27: legacies, $172,460.82, of which $4,625.00 were for trust funds; income from church edifice loans and invested funds, $48,472.81; from the schools of the Society, $3,305.90; miscellaneous sources, $14,788.60. These funds were applicable for general purposes, $409,639.22; designated for church edifice fund, $22,926.59; for the loan fund same department, $5,510.60; for school building and similar objects, $29,764.57; permanent funds other than church edifice funds, income to be added to principal, $956.91, contributed $1,668.50, and legacies $1,935; conditional or annuity funds, the donors receiving annuities during their lives, from individuals $25,461, legacies $3,690, and interest $20.

The expenditures were for the year, $488,188.94. These were for salaries of missionaries, $213,096.17; salaries of teachers, $89,939.32; school buildings, etc., $30,075.62; gifts to churches, $23,890.27; loans to churches, $18,713.83; expenses of schools, $6,036.93; annuities, $21,177.15; expenses of administration at the rooms, $15,451.36; general expense and publication account, $24,027.37; general superintendents, $13,186.07; district secretaries, $20,575.98.

The divisions of work of the Society were in the western section of the country, among the foreign populations, missions in cities, among the Indians and Negroes, work in the Republic of Mexico, and in the maintenance of educational institutions, and church edifice erection.

Missionary Department.

The whole number of laborers, missionaries, and teachers supported wholly or in part, was 1,147; in New England, 44; middle and central States, 57; Southern States, 235; Western States and Territories, 772; Dominion of Canada, 13; Mexico, 26. French missionaries have wrought in 7 States, Scandinavian in 23 States and Manitoba, German in 18 States and Canada, and colored missionaries in 21 States and Territories. Among foreign populations had been 246 missionaries; among colored people, 43; Indians, 23; Mexicans, 20; and among Americans, 528. The nationalities represented had been Americans, Germans, French, Portuguese, Swedes, Danes, Norwegians, Finns, Welsh, Bohemians, Poles, Indians, Negroes, Chinese, Mexicans, Jews, and Italians. The 1,147 laborers had served 37,110 weeks, supplied 2,015 churches and out-stations, preached 92,382 sermons, attended 54,781 prayer meetings, made 248,370 religious visits, distributed 10,891 Bibles and Testaments, and 4,196,149 pages of tracts, baptized 6,258 persons, and received otherwise 5,172, organized 187 churches, and gathered $92,719.69 in benevolent contributions. The membership of mission churches was 54,509, and 1,195 Sunday-schools had been maintained.

In a number of States, particularly in the West, a system of co-operation with State conventions exists by which appropriations are made upon agreed percentage of the contributions raised within the States themselves. In such cases the corresponding secretaries of the State conventions are the superintendents or general missionaries employed by the Society. Those in charge of the work on the fields are thus classified: Mississippi division, W. M. Haigh, D. D., Chicago, Ill.; Rocky Mountain division, H. C. Woods, D. D., Colorado Springs, Col.: Red River district, O. A. Williams, D. D., Minneapolis, Minn.; Missouri River district, Rev. N. B. Rairden, Omaha, Neb.; Wisconsin, Rev. D. W. Hulburt, Wauwatosa; Minnesota, Rev. E. R. Pope, Minneapolis; Iowa, Rev. E. P. Bartlett, Des Moines; North Dakota, Rev. W. L. Van Horn, Fargo; South Dakota, T. M. Shanafelt, D. D., Huron; Nebraska, Rev. A. W. Clark, Omaha; Kansas, Rev. E. B. Meredith, Topeka; Indian and Oklahoma Territories, Rev. L. J. Dyke, Lawrence, Kan.; Montana and South Idaho, Rev. L. G. Clark, Helena, Mont.; Colorado and New Mexico, Rev. Geo. P. Wright, Denver, Col.; East Washington and North Idaho, Rev. A. M. Allyn, Spokane, Wash.; Washington, Rev. D. D. Proper, Seattle; Oregon, Rev. Gilman Parker, Portland; Northern California, Rev. W. H. Latourette, Oakland; Southern California and Arizona, Rev. W. W. Tinker, Los Angeles; Utah and Southwestern Wyoming, Rev. S. G. Adams, Salt Lake City, Utah; the Indians, J. S. Murrow, D. D., Atoka, I. T.; the French, Rev. J. N. Williams, Providence, R. I.; the Germans, Rev. G. A. Schulte, Jersey City, N. J. The detailed reports giving a vast amount of information of these general workers are included in the annual report.

The report of the field secretary relates the success of the scheme of co-operation in the South between the Society, the Home Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and the conventions in the States of the colored Baptists. Up to the time of the report this arrangement was in successful operation in North Carolina, Alabama, South Carolina, and Georgia.

Church Edifice Department.

The whole number of churches aided by gifts and loans was 93; aided by gifts only, 54; by loans only, 22; by both gifts and loans, 17. The grants from the loan fund were 39, and from the gift fund, 71. The churches were located in 27 States and Territories and Canada. By nationalities they were American, 68; Scandinavian, 7; German, 4; Indian, 4; French, 1. The receipts from interest of permanent funds were $9,126.50; from contributions, $9,244.76; legacies, $2,000; miscellaneous resources, $112.32; income from real estate, $2,393.01; gift returned, $50.00; total, $22,926.27. The loans to 22 churches aggregated $18,713, an average of $850.59; nine churches had paid off their loans. The balance in the treasury was $3,545.98, which had been appropriated. The gifts to churches had aggregated $23,890.27, an average of $442.41. The invested funds of this department are $144,213.90. The amount of outstanding loans is $131,439.61.

Educational Department.

The system of Baptist schools for the Negroes has now assumed substantially the present condition: Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C.; Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va., comprised of a theological seminary and a college for girls, and two or more auxiliary institutions are about to be brought into affiliation; Spelman Seminary, Atlanta, Ga.; Roger Williams University, Nashville, Tenn.; Benedict College, Columbia, S. C.; Bishop College, Marshall, Texas; Jackson College, Miss.; Wayland Seminary, Washington, D. C. These are the strategic points upon which the influence of the colored Baptists is aimed to be concentrated particularly. In addition to these are institutions mostly founded by the Society and largely maintained by it, but which now are controlled by Boards of natives, and taught almost exclusively by Negro teachers; to which reference may be had in the educational tables elsewhere. It would seem that the policy of the future demanded that at least two millions of dollars should be placed at the disposal of the Society for the endowment of the institutions mentioned as occupying the strategic points mentioned. The report of the superintendent of the educational work notes 13 institutions of higher grade; and 16 secondary schools for the colored people; 5 institutions for the education of Indians; Chinese mission schools aided by the Society in California, 7; in Oregon, 3; in Washington, 3; and aided by the Women's Society at Boston, two in California and one in Montana and two in Utah among the Mormons; this Society also aids in three schools among the Mexicans. The enrollment of pupils for the year had been 4,698 in the colored institutions; of these 1,371 were boarders. Of this number 1,481 were preparing for the ministry, and 20 were in the course for teachers, 35 in the missionary course, 32 in nurse training, and 1,148 in systematic instruction in industrial lines. Among the Indians the enrollment was 522, of whom 9 were preparing for the ministry and 30 preparing to teach. Of the 29 schools for the colored people, 15 are under the entire control of Boards of colored trustees, viz., 3 of the higher and 12 of the secondary or academic schools; these are subject to visitation by the superintendent of education, and they make financial and other reports to the home office.

Next Anniversary.

The next anniversary is to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., at some time in May, 1897, to be arranged by the Executive Board, that is charged with the other arrangements for the meeting.

Anniversary.

The forty-first session (fifty-first year) was held in the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-12, 1896. There were entitled to seats upon the financial basis, 719, and 443 representatives of associations had been elected, a total of 1,162; of these there were enrolled as present 612 on the financial basis and 207 associational representatives, a total in attendance of 819; there were enrolled in addition 16 visitors. The representation by States, both classes, was: Alabama, 65; Arkansas, 21; District of Columbia, 7; Florida, 13; Georgia, 127; Indian Territory, 4; Kentucky, 103; Louisiana, 17; Maryland, 9; Mississippi, 50; Missouri, 39; North Carolina, 52; South Carolina, 77; Tennessee, 80; Texas, 59; Virginia, 90; North Pacific Coast Convention, 1.

The annual sermon was delivered by Charles A. Stakely, D. D., District of Columbia, from Mark 12 : 28-30.

In addition to the routine business arising from the consideration of reports of committees delegated to consider the various phases of the work, a committee reported upon the relations existing between the Convention and the Theological Seminary at Louisville from which it appeared that while no organic control over the institution existed, provision had always been made for conventional nomination of trustees, which is to be utilized in the future. The consolidation of the two missionary journals as ordered the previous year was found to be unsatisfactory, and the provision was repealed. The joint action of the Home Board and the Home Mission Society with reference to the evangelization of the colored population was endorsed. An expression of gratification upon the organization of the young people into a general work within the bounds of the Convention was made. Advanced resolutions upon the subject of temperance were adopted after an extended discussion. A number of subscriptions and pledges for the relief of the interests of the Convention were made, notably for the relief of the Foreign Mission Board. A number of missionaries were present and addressed the Convention.

The printed proceedings contain, besides the journal of the sessions and the reports of the Boards, the portraits of T. G. Jones, D. D., George R. McCall, D. D., Russell Holman, D. D., and Rev. E. L. Compere, who at various times had sustained official relation to the body, and who had died during the year. The statistics are full, showing a constituency of 711 Associations and 18,143 churches in the bounds of the Convention, with a membership of 1,468,991; there had been 90,877 baptisms reported; in educational matters there were reported 21 colleges, 26 female seminaries, and 41 academies, with 7,801 pupils enrolled in all, with endowments amounting to $2,753,777, and a total valuation of all property amounting to $7,961,077; the value of church property reported was $19,551,268; in State mission work 852 missionaries had been under appointment who had baptized 12,786 persons; for this work there had been contributed $122,210.13.

Foreign Missions.

The Board reported that six missionaries had returned upon furlough, and one had resigned; two had died, eleven had been returned to the field, three of whom are new missionaries. Much stress is laid in the report upon the necessity of new methods in obtaining the means for successfully prosecuting the work. A debt of $31,900.71 was reported, and this was reduced by contributions made during the sessions of the body.

The financial statement shows cash receipts of $107,262.42 from churches and $888.14 from miscellaneous sources; in all $108,150.56; but during the year it had been needful to borrow $100,344.98 at various times including a debt from preceding year and much of which had been paid. The receipts by States were: Alabama, $6,696.33; Arkansas, $1,248.34; Western Arkansas, $134.75; District of Columbia, $1,565.91; Florida, $766.90; Georgia, $13,060.61; Kentucky, $10,510.52; Louisiana, $1,739.80; Maryland, $5,922.80; Mississippi, $5,077.55; Missouri, $5,543.17; North Carolina, $6,724.73; South Carolina, $10,804.35; Tennessee, $7,271.24; Texas, $8,151.23; Virginia, $20,659.48; the remainder coming in small sums from a number of sources. In the disbursements $4,180.18 were expended on African missions; $30,510.98 on Chinese missions; $5,837.50 on Japan missions; $18,534.67 on European missions; 25,201.17 on Mexican missions, and $20,754.40 on Brazilian missions, a total of $105,018.90. The home expenses, including all salaries and administration, were $6,366.77, and miscellaneous items, including publication of "Foreign Mission Journal," printing of tracts and literature, and interest account, amounted to $5,184.31; and $86,413.30 of borrowed money had been repaid. There was a balance in hand of $953.18.

The work is divided between Southern, Central, and Northern China. In all there are 19 churches and 31 out-stations; the missionaries number 16 male, 25 female, 7 ordained natives, and 37 native helpers; there had been 152 baptisms, and the membership was 1,266; there were 689 Sunday-school pupils, and 21 schools with 575 pupils; there are 5 houses of worship, and the contributions reported were $2,190.55.

The reports indicate a diligent prosecution of work in teaching, preaching, and in village tours, besides medical and school work. The disturbances in China have not affected the missions; one instance of violence had no serious result. The termination of the war with Japan had occasioned renewed effort, and the outlook is encouraging as a result of this providence.

FUKUOKA.—Rev. J. W. McCollum, Mrs. J. W. McCollum, Rev. E. N. Walne, Mrs. E. N. Walne.
KOKUKA.—Rev. N. Maynard, Mrs. N. Maynard.

There is one church, with 2 out-stations; 3 male and 3 female missionaries, with one ordained and 3 unordained native helpers; there were 3 baptisms; the membership is 40, with 150 Sunday-school pupils.

There was no recent report from this field. The indications are that the successful termination of the war with China has created difficulties in the work, growing out of the victory.

The summary of operations by this Board in foreign lands is: Churches, 98; out-stations, 128; male missionaries, 38; female, 48; male ordained natives, 34; unordained native helpers, 75; baptisms, 735; members, 4,295; Sunday-school pupils, 1,713; houses of worship, 30; number of schools, 31, with 851 pupils, which is but a partial report; and so far as reported the contributions from all the fields amounted to $5,553.20.

Home Missions.

The Home Board had under its control 411 missionaries who reported the following results of their work: Weeks of labor, 12,329; churches and stations, 1,626; sermons and addresses, 58,041; prayer meetings, 9,662; baptisms, 5,617; received by letter, 6,672; total additions, 13,295; Sunday-schools organized, 372; teachers and pupils, 12,635; religious visits, 61,498; churches constituted, 207; houses of worship built, 92; houses of worship improved, 146; amount expended on houses of worship, $86,209; Bibles and Testaments distributed, 2,595; tracts distributed, pages, 726,675.

In 12 States and the District of Columbia and the Indian Territory there was co-operation with local Boards. A co-operation with the Boards of the Colored State conventions and the Home Mission Society had been commenced, by which a more thorough evangelical work is to be pressed among these people. This plan is now established in the States of Alabama, North Carolina, and South Carolina; in some other States division among the colored people themselves postpones the inauguration of similar co-operation.

The work in Cuba had been suspended, owing to the distractions existing in the efforts of the inhabitants to free themselves from Spanish domination. The chief missionary, A. J. Diaz, had been compelled to leave the island with most of his evangelists; but this event was not permitted to occur until such arrangements had been made for the protection of the valuable property owned by the Board in the city of Havana. Previous to his exile he had been able to render excellent work in the Red Cross hospitals, many of which he had established.

The work of the Board had been prosecuted among the general white populations, especially in those portions of the South where Baptist principles are held by but few; in the congested centers of large cities where special attention had been given to foreign populations; and in the wide stretches along the frontier; effort was made to enter New Mexico, but the funds were not adequate to warrant effective work. Work in the department of church building had been commenced with vigor. A number of timely gifts to struggling interests were made, which insured the possession of valuable properties.

The receipts for the work by States were: Alabama, $4,606.51; Arkansas, $1,656.00; District of Columbia, $692.15; Florida, $1,179.31; Georgia, $12,418.10; Indian Territory, $25.10; Kentucky, $8,152.48; Louisiana, $1,543.86; Maryland, $7,671.95; Mississippi, $2,611.04; Missouri, $4,495.77; North Carolina, $3,850.77; North Pacific Coast Convention, $250.00; South Carolina, $4,989.76; Tennessee, $5,591.28; Texas, $5,324.83; Virginia, $10,198.50; small gifts from other sources, $68.65; making from churches and individuals, $53,976.08; value of merchandise forwarded to missionaries, $21,349.98; other items, $492.42; bills payable during the year, or borrowed money, $33,820.00; balance from preceding year, $109.06; making total receipts from all sources, $109,747.54. The disbursements amounted to $39,452.18 in salaries of missionaries; $21,349.98 in merchandise forwarded to them supplementary to their salaries; $11,827.59 in appriations to church buildings; $4,950 in salaries and office expenses; $1,724.65 in traveling and agency expense; $1,957.82 in printing literature and other ordered expenses; $26,970.00 for payment of loans; $766.09 interest account; and other items, leaving balance on hand of $112.71. The assets of the Board in real estate now amount $109,730.00; against which are liabilities aggregating $5,150.00. In addition to the statement furnished as above, there were expended for the Board in home mission work on their fields of labor, by bodies co-operating with it, $59,010.00, and there had been raised in the same way, $80,801.00 for church building, a total of $139,811.00.

The Sunday-school Work.

The Board reported a successful year, the circulation of its periodicals having had a large increase; these comprise a "Teacher," three grades of quarterly issues, the Sunday-school paper called "Kind Words," Lesson Leaflets, Cards, and Picture Lessons and the "Child's Gem," for primary classes, and the "Young People's Leader," for societies of young people. The Board also furnishes all the material for the successful conduct of Sunday-schools. The method of the printing arrangements is outlined in the report, and reasons afforded for declining propositions for the publication of the literature of the Board apart from its own immediate supervision. There was issued the necessary literature for the missionary day in the Sunday-schools. Work had been begun in the distribution of Bibles and Testaments, with the hope of enlargement if the funds would warrant. There had been gifts in Bibles and literature, $1,715.40, and in cash to Boards in States for Sunday-school evangelization, $3,887.50.

The eighth annual meeting was held at Asbury Park, N. J., May 25, 1896. There were enrolled 122 delegates, representing 31 States and the District of Columbia. In addition to the annual reports, there were addresses by John H. Harris, LL. D., on "The Day of Prayer for Colleges, Shall it be Sustained or Abandoned?" and C. R. Henderson, D. D., on "How to Promote the Religious Spirit among College Students." The proceedings of the session were of a routine character only.

The annual report declared the period of financial depression unfavorable to great activity in promoting the endowment of institutions. Progress had been made in the collection of outstanding pledges, and several of the institutions were ready to attempt enlargement of their endowments if grants applied for from the Society were decided favorably. Fourteen institutions, viz.: Franklin College, Ind.; Keystone Academy, Pa.; Kalamazoo College, Mich.; Ottawa University, Kan.; McMinnville College, Ore.; William Jewell College, Mo.; South Jersey Institute, N. J.; Carson-Newman College, Tenn.; Furman University, S. C.; Bucknell University, Pa.; Williamsburg Institute, Ky.; Cedar Valley Seminary, Iowa; Connecticut Literary Institute, Conn.; and Southwestern University, Tenn., had collected from their friends during the year $47,345.49, and were given $15,257.24 from the funds of the Society, on its co-operative plan. The total increase of the permanent funds of these institutions was therefore $62,602.73. In addition, $800 had been donated to Des Moines College, Iowa, for affiliation purposes, and $2,087.50 for salary of president. Thus the total appropriations for the year were $18,544.74. Apart from the work of the Society several institutions had been financially strengthened, notably the University of Chicago, whose resources had been increased more than two millions of dollars, and Columbian University at Washington, which was completing a guarantee fund of $15,000 per year for five years. Information had been received that wills had been made in which the Society would be ultimately benefited. The rest of the report touches upon the Baptist principle of separation of Church and State as illustrated in the matter of the new Constitution of the State of New York, and the theme of Christianity and the College.

The financial statement shows receipts of $19,120.75, of which Mr. Rockefeller had contributed $18,832.24 on account of pledges to various institutions, $204.89 coming as interest on trust funds, $2.00 as a church contribution, and $81.62 as balance from previous year. There had been paid to sixteen items representing the colleges and schools toward endowment and kindred items, $18,544.74; the interest of trust funds to specified purposes, $204.89; expense account, $231.32; balance to new account, $139.80.

The arrangements for the next meeting are in the hands of the Executive Board, by the constitution, and they will be duly announced.

The Baptist Union.

A young people's weekly religious paper, published at 324 Dearborn, Street, Chicago, Ill. Has the largest circulation of any Baptist paper in the world.

Principles and History.

This new organization is designed to provide a fraternal union for all young people's organizations in the Baptist churches of North America. It was effected in the city of Chicago, Ill., at a convention called for the purpose which met July 7, 1891. It holds a yearly meeting. The cities that have entertained the convention are in their order: Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Toronto, Baltimore, Milwaukee. Delegates to these annual meetings are appointed by regular Baptist churches, directly where such churches have no regular young people's organizations, or indirectly where the churches have authorized departments for young people's work—in which case the young people's societies name representatives, whose credentials must be certified by an officer of the church. It is, therefore, a strictly representative body, closely related to the local Baptist churches sending representatives to meet in this convention. The convention is purely for conference and inspiration in this line of work. It has no legislative function; it does not, therefore, undertake to determine under what particular name or method the local church shall conduct its work for young people. No special form of young people's organization is imposed as a condition of representation. Any church may send as many visitors to the annual meeting as it may desire, but delegates must be according to the ratio of one delegate to every twenty members or major fraction thereof, in the young people's society, and one delegate to every fifty members or major fraction thereof in the church where no young people's organization exists.

The Sixth International Convention.

This was held in the Exposition Building, Milwaukee, Wis., July 16–19, 1896. There were 10,402 enrolled delegates and visitors, the largest total recorded at an annual meeting of the Union. At many of the sessions the large hall, seating 15,000, was filled. At the opening session addresses of welcome were given by Rev. E. W. White, E. W. Drake, and Hon. F. L. Rauschenberger, representing respectively the Baptist churches, the Baptist young people, and the citizens of Milwaukee. Response was made by E. M. Poteat, D. D., of Connecticut. The annual report of the Board of Managers was presented by General Secretary Frank L. Wilkins, D. D. It was moved by Rev. Alexander Blackburn, Massachusetts, who spoke on "The Pastor's Place and Power in Our Work," and seconded by Rev. H. H. Hunt, New York, who spoke upon "The Young People's Movement and Revivals." Other addresses given during the convention were, "The Young People's Society a Training School of the Church," "In Bible Knowledge and Soul Saving," by Rev. Thos. J. Villers, New York; "In Missionary Enlightenment and Christian Stewardship," by Rev. W. E. Witter, M. D., Massachusetts; "In Doctrinal Emphasis and Denominational Loyalty," by D. I. Purser, D. D., Louisiana; "Unseen Forces in Character Building," by President B. L. Whitman, Washington, D. C.; "Christian Giving," by Rev. Thos. Barbour, New York; "Corrupt Literature," by C. R. Henderson, D. D., Illinois; "Personal Consecration," by Rev. W. L. Pickard, Kentucky. The convention sermon was preached by H. C. Mabie, D. D., Massachusetts.

Early prayer meetings were held on each day of the convention, which proved to be times of great blessing. Workers' conferences for the consideration of practical working methods in the various departments of the work were held on the afternoon of the 16th and the morning of the 17th. The "Salutation of the Flags" on Friday afternoon, which was participated in by representatives from 38 States and territorial unions and 2 provincial unions, was followed by the rallies of the different State and provincial unions. Saturday morning was devoted to the four departmental rallies. At the junior rally on Saturday afternoon the large hall was crowded with the juniors and their friends. A model presentation of the Junior Christian Culture Courses and an inspiring "Chalk Talk" by Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, of Philadelphia, were the main features of the program. The "World Review of Missions" on Sunday afternoon was characterized by messages from workers among many nationalities both in this and foreign countries. The German and Swedish young people held sessions in their own language on Saturday and Sunday.

Christian Culture Courses.

The educational plans of the Union contemplate eight years of training in three lines, known as the Christian Culture Courses, four years in the Junior and four years in the Senior Department. The courses are known as the Bible Readers' Course, the Conquest Missionary Course, and the Sacred Literature Course, and may be briefly described as follows:

Junior Department.—Bible Readers' Course: First year, Matthew; second year, Mark; third year, Luke; fourth year, John. Conquest Missionary Course: First year, Convictions and Beginnings; second year, Organizations and Methods; third year, Fields and Operations; fourth year, Leaders and Triumphs. Sacred Literature Course: First year, Old Testament Biography; second year, the Life of Jesus; third year, the Acts of the Apostles; fourth year, New Testament Biography. The first course consists of daily readings in the Bible, the second and third courses are a series of questions, answers to which are to be sought in the missionary readings of the Senior Department or in the Bible. Mrs. F. L. Wilkins is the conductor of the department to whom correspondence may be addressed, at 324 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill. The calendars for the Bible Readers' Course and the questions for the other courses are published weekly in the Junior Department of the "Baptist Union." An examination for the juniors is provided in May of each year; diplomas are given to the successful examinees, and three prize banners to the three State or provincial unions showing respectively the best record in each of the three courses, no competitor to receive more than one banner at the same time.

Senior Department.—Bible Readers' Course: First year, Historical Books; second year, Poetical Books; third year, Epistolary Books; fourth year, Prophetical Books. Conquest Missionary Course: First year, Convictions and Beginnings; second year, Organizations and Methods; third year, Fields and Operations; fourth year, Leaders and Triumphs. Sacred Literature Course: First year, Preparations for Messiah; second year, the Life of Jesus; third year, the Dawn of Christianity; fourth year, Struggles for Distinctive principles. The conductor of the Bible Readers' Course for 1896–7 is Prof. Ira M. Price, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago; the writers of the Conquest Missionary Course are Rev. E. F. Merriam, A. C. Osborn, D. D., C. R. Blackall, D. D., Rev. W. E. Witter, M. D., H. L. Morehouse, D. D., Lansing Burrows, D. D., Mrs. N. M. Waterbury, Rev. W. H. Warren, B. D., Miss Mary G. Burdette, Rev. W. H. Cline, Rev. C. S. Blackwell, Boston W. Smith. The writer for the Sacred Literature Course is Chancellor O. C. S. Wallace, of McMaster University, Toronto, Ont. The object of these courses is training for Christian service. Twenty minutes a day devoted to them will compass their requirements, which are simply a chapter a day in the Bible, and the reading of about 1,500 words a week in missionary lines and the same amount in sacred literature. Side-light readings in general literature are suggested, but not required. Examinations occur in May each year, open to all who desire to enter; diplomas will be given to the successful examinees, and three prize banners to those State and provincial unions showing the best record respectively in the three courses, no competitor to receive more than one banner at a time. All material for the prosecution of the work will be found in the "Baptist Union" each week.

The publications include 6 new leaflets and 34 reprints. The "Farther Lights" have completed their third year of study, the subject for the year being India. About 40,000 mite-boxes had been distributed to children; 25,000 silver boxes and letters had been sent out. The circulation of the "King's Messengers" was 12,494.

Anniversary.

The twenty-fifth anniversary was held in the First Church, Chicago, Ill., April 22, 23, 1896. A profitable conference of workers was held on the preceding afternoon and evening. The attendance upon the sessions was very large and the remotest States were well represented. A roll-call of missionaries who had been sent out during the past twenty-five years was read; nine responded in person, and greetings were sent by letter from India, China, Japan, Assam, and Burma, all expressing loyalty to the Society and joy in their work. Burma was represented in the meetings by Mrs. Laura H. Carson, Mrs. Inez U. McGuire, and Mrs. Helen W. Hancock; China, by Miss Emma Inveen, Mrs. Wm. Ashmore, and Miss Emma Parker; and Japan, by Miss L. C. Cummings and Mrs. E. L. Halsey.

A history of the twenty-five years in "Ten Memories" was presented by Mrs. J. H. Randall, Minn., recalling the deliverances of the past and making mention of the helpful agencies which have aided in carrying on the work. "Probabilities and Possibilities of the Next Quarter Century" were presented in a paper by Miss Katherine Kidder, Minn. An address followed by Mrs. J. Q. A. Henry, Ill., on "Pentecostal Power." An evening session was entirely in the interests of young ladies, when the assemblage was large and responsive. Miss Ackerman spoke of "Glimpses into Heathen Homes," taken during a journey around the world; Miss Yates, of the Assam mission, spoke on "Why One Should Work on the Other Side," and Miss Stuart, Iowa, on "Why One Should Work on This Side." An object lesson was given by Miss Inveen, aided by several missionaries, illustrating points in Chinese character and social customs. A sectional conference on "Circle and Young Ladies' and Children's Work" was held. The annual address was made by W. W. Boyd, D. D., Mo., on "Obligation to Christ and the Way to Meet it." A closing address was made by P. S. Henson, D. D., Ill., on "Women Warriors."

A large number of Young Ladies' "Farther Light" Societies had been organized during the year, and leaders secured in several States. A course of "Farther Light" studies had been prepared, extending over four years; these lessons are being used in a large number of churches by the older as well as the younger women. Examination papers are sent out in May, and to those who fill them out with the required per cent. of answers, certificates are given. More examination papers had been sent in during the year than ever before. The work is begun by taking "A Trip Around the World"; and in the succeeding years the studies are confined to one country; during the present year the young ladies study Africa.

The crowded condition of the Home for Missionaries' Children at Morgan Park makes it imperative that the Society have a permanent building. It was voted to secure the money and erect such a building to be ready for occupancy by May, 1897.

The total receipts for the year, including contributions from 44 States and Territories and foreign lands, savings in exchange, canceled appropriations, interest, collections, and miscellaneous sources, were $48,392.04. Cash balance in treasury, April 1, 1895, $224.28. The expenditures upon the foreign field in Burma, Assam, India, China, Japan, and Africa, including a deficit from the previous year of $8,657.49, amounted to $42,706.88. The home expenses were $8,928.25. Cash balance in treasury, April 1, 1896, was $200.00. The receipts for the Home for Missionaries' Children were $1,275.25; the expenditures were $1,248.86. Several of the States exceeded their apportionments, and larger contributions were received from some of the States than ever before. The deficit was reduced more than one-half.

The Society had sustained a great loss in the death of Mrs. Howe, who had for many years been the efficient president, and whose interest continued to the last. Three new workers had been sent out during the year, Miss Julia E. Parrott, Ind., Miss Thora Thompson, Minn., and Miss Hattie E St. John, Ill. Great losses had been sustained in the removal of four of the workers on the foreign field, and the monetary stringency had obliged the transference of some valuable workers to other societies. Two missionaries had resigned. Mrs. Sharland, of the Japan mission, and Miss Harris, of Burma, had ceased from toil and received the victor's crown.

The next anniversary is to be held April, 1897, at such place as the Board of Directors may appoint, and announcement made through the religious press.

Anniversary.

The nineteenth annual meeting was held in the church at Asbury Park, N. J., May 18, 19, 1896. A year of progress was reported, notwithstanding unusual deficiency in the financial receipts which, while in excess of actual receipts for preceding years, is not commensurate with the number of employed missionaries, since there had been 130 as against 114 previously. A willing reduction of salaries was patiently submitted to by the missionaries owing to the financial distress. The 130 missionaries employed were distributed as follows: Frontier, 19; Chinese, 7; Jews, 1; Germans, 21; Danes and Norwegians, 3; Swedes, 10; Indians, 13; Mexicans, 6; Negroes, 52. Two missionaries working on different fields during the year are counted twice in this enumeration. These had aggregated 3,734 weeks of labor, or 26,138 days, and much of their work is unreportable, being difficult of classification. They reported 68,939 religious visits, and about 10,000 sessions of Sunday and industrial schools, with meetings for children, and in the interest of young people, temperance, and missionary enthusiasm.

The Baptist Missionary Training School graduated a class of 24 young women; two-thirds of these were under appointment before graduation. The enrollment for the current year was reported to be 58; seniors, 22; and juniors, 36.

Auxiliaries.

The total number of auxiliary branches and mission bands reported was 2,019. These include the regular organizations of women, young women, and children. Besides these, the Missionary Garden Band enrolled 109 and Baby Band 3,046 members. There had been 131 life members added, and West Virginia had joined in the sisterhood of States; a Women's Mission Union had also been organized among the German Baptists. The monthly circulation of "Tidings" was about 12,000; 4,384,555 pages of literature had been published and 4,347,344 pages had been sold or gratuitously distributed during the year.

Financial.

Total receipts from all sources had been $66,275.13, and the disbursements amounted to $63,280.03. Unpaid obligations at close of year were $7,200, making the expenditure account $70,480.03; but as there was in the treasury $2,995.10, the real deficit was $4,204.90. The value of contents of boxes and barrels for missionary families for distribution among the poor and of material for sewing-schools was estimated at $14,677.42. "Tidings" had shown a profit of $46.68.

Next Anniversary.

The next anniversary is to be held in four or more consecutive sessions immediately preceding the anniversaries of the Missionary Union, Home Mission Society, and Publication Society, in Pittsburg, Pa., during the month of May, 1897; due announcement is to be made through the religious press.

Anniversary.

The eighteenth anniversary was held at Holyoke, Mass., April 29, 30, 1896. A total enrollment of 263 was reported, covering all of the New England States. The meetings were prefaced by a Workers' Conference at which a number of practical topics were freely and voluntarily discussed. The sessions of the Society were likewise marked by the practicality of the themes discussed. Several papers of much interest were read, and the reports from the fields of operation were exhaustive. The whole anniversary was one of a practical and business character.

The Report.

After appropriate notice of the departed during the year and other changes which had occurred, the report makes mention of enthusiastic meetings held in the interest of the work among the home churches; notes the desirability of a closer connection with the young people's work; the increase of literature issued, and other matters of routine. Work in Alaska has been prosecuted with gratifying results. The work of the vice-presidents in the States is reported in detail. In the work of sustaining teachers in schools among the Negroes, reports were in hand from Spelman Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., where 19 teachers are maintained wholly or in part; Mather School, Beaufort, S. C., 2 teachers; Hartshorn Memorial, Richmond, Va., 5 teachers; Wayland Seminary, Washington, D. C., 1 teacher; Bible and Normal Institute, Memphis, Tenn., 2 teachers; Howe Institute, New Iberia, La., 2 teachers; Waters Institute, Winton, N. C., 2 teachers; Allendale Academy, S. C., 4 teachers; Roger Williams University, Nashville, Tenn., 1 teacher; Arkansas College, Littlerock, Ark., 2 teachers; Jackson College, Miss., 1 teacher; Coleman Academy, Gibsland, La., 2 teachers; Houston Academy, Texas, 1 teacher; Berwyn, Ind. Territory, 3 teachers; Bacone, Ind. Territory, 1 teacher; State University, Louisville, Ky., 1 teacher; Atoka, Ind. Territory, 7 teachers; Wichita Mission, Oklahoma, 2 teachers; Provo, Utah, 2 teachers; Sacramento, Cal., 1 teacher; Chinese Mission, Fresno, Cal., 1 teacher; Butte, Montana, 1 teacher; Morning Star Mission, New York, 2 teachers; Monterey, Santa Rosa and Rinconada, Mexico, 6 teachers. In all there were 75 commissioned under the Society, classified as follows: Work among Negroes, 54; Indians, 4; Mormons, 2; Chinese, 5; Mexicans, 6; Alaskans, 4.

Financial.

The contributions of the auxiliaries had been: Maine, $2,512.92; New Hampshire, $1,685.06; Vermont, $1,058.21; Massachusetts, $15,760.70; Rhode Island, $3,256.21; Connecticut, $2,434.33; miscellaneous, $7,405.88; total, $34,113.31. The expenditures had been $41,048.90. As there had been an available balance of $8,538.30, the demands were met and a balance carried to new account of $1,602.71. The expense account was $3,104.44. The permanent funds amount to $11,346.17. Additional to this, as would appear from the statement, is the Alaska work, for which $3,879.29 had been received for the Orphanage, and $4,650.44 expended, but owing to a transfer from the Alaska Fund of $1,200, the balance in favor of this department was $2,109.79. "The Echo" had received from subscriptions, $2,261.83, and a deficit of $277.37 was supplied out of the general funds. There had been 97 new life members constituted during the year, making the whole number now, 2,096.

Next Anniversary.

The time and place of the meeting for 1897 are to be determined by the Executive Board and duly announced.

Object.

This Society, as an auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention, appoints no missionaries, undertakes no independent lines of work, and disburses no funds. Its two-fold object is: (1) To distribute missionary information and stimulate effort through State Central Committees where they exist; and where they do not, to encourage the organization of societies. (2) To secure the earnest, systematic co-operation of women and children in collecting and raising money for missions.

Anniversary.

The eighth annual meeting was held at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8–11, 1896. Besides 9 officers, 61 delegates were present from 14 States, the District of Columbia, and the Indian Territory. A carefully prepared program was successfully carried out. Large attendance at each meeting showed an increasing interest in the organization. Reports of the year's work were given by the corresponding secretary and State representatives. The recommendations of the three Boards of the convention were presented by their respective secretaries and adopted as the basis of work for women's missionary societies during the current year. The session of Sunday afternoon was devoted to addresses by missionaries present. Mrs. J. H. Eager, Italy; Miss Hale, Mexico; Rev. A. J. Diaz, Cuba; and Miss Buhlmeier, German missionary at Baltimore, addressed the meeting.

The Annual Report.

The corresponding secretary gave the following statistics: Letters written, 8,112; postals written, 181; leaflets, pamphlets, etc., distributed, 153,651; mission (prayer) cards, 21,150; mite barrels or boxes, 2,665; Christmas envelopes, 74,292; papers, 3,050. Ten thousand dollars was the year's increase to home mission contributions; 358 frontier mission boxes were reported against 224 the preceding year; Miss Buhlmeier, German missionary located at Baltimore, had done faithful, efficient work in meeting emigrant ships, directing industrial schools, and in general missionary labors; the peculiar and individual work of the Chinese Sunday-schools had borne fruit in New Orleans, Augusta, Ga., Baltimore, and elsewhere; mothers' meetings and industrial schools among colored women and children had resulted in only good wherever tried; the report presses this work upon the conscience of Southern Baptist women. Missionary Day in the Sunday-schools, the Week of Prayer in January, with one day devoted to the ingathering of Christmas offerings for China and Self-denial Week, observed in March, had been a three-fold cord, drawing old and young to prayer and sacrifice. The value of the convention series of Sunday-school literature, "Kind Words" and "The Young People's Leader," as missionary educators, had been faithfully and persistently brought to the attention of the workers, as well as the claims of "The Mission Journal," in which were maintained departments for Women's Missionary Union societies and bands. Missionary information had been furnished each month to 18 State papers. Grants of leaflets, periodicals, Bibles, and Testaments had been made by the Boards. Mission room leaflets had been presented to notice as efficient aids in missionary meetings. Co-operation had been secured in the District of Columbia by alteration in the constitution of their general society, by which contributions can be reported to home and foreign missions through Northern and Southern Boards. Representative Indian women from the Indian Territory asked and received admission as auxiliary to the Missionary Union.

Financial.

The total contributions from Woman's Missionary Union for home and foreign missions were $56,342.19, an advance of $8,276.23 over the previous year. For home missions, $33,542.64; foreign missions, $22,799.55. Financial growth: At the first annual meeting in 1888, total contributions reported were $21,039.16; in 1896 the increase was $35,303.03. The grand total since organization has been $378,580.53. Expenses: The total regular expenses for the year were $1,784.96; of which the Foreign and Home Boards contributed $700 each and the Sunday-school Board $200, the expenses of Christmas offering, etc., being defrayed additionally by the Foreign Board. Printing, postage, expressage, paper, etc., constituted the regular expenses; the officers receive no salaries and meet all traveling and personal expenses incurred in the work.

The annual sessions are always held in conjunction with the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention.

This is the general body of African Baptists, and is a consolidation of several other bodies devoted to missionary and denominational purposes. The annual meeting for 1896 was held at St. Louis, Sept. 16-20. The annual sermon was preached by A. S. Jackson, D. D., from Joshua 13 : 1. The missionary sermon was preached by Harvey Johnson, D. D., from John 8 : 32. There were other sermons preached in the evenings of the time occupied by the Convention. The committee on enrollment reported 525 in attendance.

At the time of going to press we have failed, after diligent endeavor, to obtain the report of the Board of Foreign Missions which was said by the denominational press to be an interesting review of the year's work, and showed the employment of 3 missionaries in Africa, the organization of a church in Cape Town, and many conversions. The corresponding secretary for foreign missions had been in communication with 11 State bodies, and collected $741 in cash and over $2,000 in pledges. The Women's Missionary Union had contributed $163.46 for the foreign mission work. There were received through the finance committee of the Convention of funds sent up to the meeting, and collections during the progress of the anniversary, $1,791.43; most of which was specified for African missions. To this should be added a number of pledges to be raised at a later time. Much attention was given to educational matters, and a special sermon in that interest was preached by Rev. E. W. D. Isaac, from 2 Tim. 2 : 2. There were addresses also by representatives engaged in educational institutions, but without any special statistics, for which reference should be had to our educational tables. Some attention was given to the project of establishing a publishing house entirely in the interest of the colored Baptists, but it is not likely that this will materialize soon. There was an excellent spirit manifested throughout the meetings, and it is a matter of congratulation that the various conflicting organizations have been consolidated into this Convention, which now promises to be of great value in the development of the large number of colored Baptists in the United States.

The next convention is to be held at Boston, Mass., beginning Wednesday, Sept. 22, 1897.

Anniversary.

The exercises of the forty-third anniversary were held at Asbury Park, N. J., May 21, 1896. There was a deeply interested audience. The entire collection of the Society was destroyed in the disastrous fire of Feb. 2, 1896, and the Board had promptly determined to arise and rebuild. These facts gave tone to the meeting, and the Society responded with enthusiasm. Philip L. Jones, D. D., made an address on the "Impelled Renaissance." The great disaster must be the occasion for a notable and worthy advance; much that was lost cannot be recovered, but vastly more is within easy accomplishment than has hitherto been attempted. An appeal was made by President B. L. Whitman, of Columbian University. A committee was appointed to procure a series of studies in Baptist history. This will constitute a nucleus for a guild for Baptist historical investigation, the monographs to give the results of original research.

The Society will have permanent fireproof quarters in the new building in course of erection for the Publication Society. These will cost $10,000, and this sum is the first and most presssng need. There is also need of not less than $15,000 as the beginning of a fund whose income will provide for the purchase of books, pamphlets, manuscripts, and memorials of all sorts for the new library and museum. Contributions of such material are solicited. Everything written by Baptists in favor of them and their doctrines, or against them, will be welcomed. Clerks of associations, presidents of colleges and seminaries, principals of academies, and all other schools, and editors of all Baptists periodicals, are requested to put the Society on their mailing lists, and to send copies of their publications. Annual membership in the Society is $1.00; life membership, $10.00 Offerings of any amount for the above fund will be gladly and promptly acknowledged. The Society has entered upon a new career, which should be worthy of the greatness, intelligence, and historic character of the denomination. All correspondence should be addressed to the president, at 1632 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., until the new publication building is completed, when the address will be as before, viz., 1420 Chestnut St.

The seventy-fifth annual meeting was held at Huntsville, November 6–9, 1896. There were enrolled 47 delegates from 30 churches, and 46 representatives of 28 associations; with 11 visitors, there were present 104. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. M. Burr, from Heb. 5 : 9.

There had been 23 missionaries employed; these had rendered 5,035 days of service, traveled 41,120 miles, delivered 2,088 sermons and 828 addresses, constituted 3 churches, baptized 253 persons, 238 being baptized by others as the results of their labors, and added otherwise 267, organized 12 Sunday-schools, distributed 36,828 pages of tracts, superintended the erection of 12 houses of worship, and performed a large quantity of other evangelistic and colporter work. In the work co-operation existed with the societies of women, and the Home and Sunday-school Boards of the Southern Convention had given aid. In the work among the colored population there is also a co-operation with the Home Mission Society and the Convention of Colored Baptists. The Board had paid $500 for this work. Six institutes for the instruction of the ministry had been held.

The Board had controlled the colportage work; the year began with resources amounting to $2,163.64; the churches had contributed $63.81; the losses and discounts reduced the total to $2,088.28. The sales had amounted to $4,759.19, and the expenses of this department were $372.51. There is an existing indebtedness upon this work of $1,591.08; but the value of stock in hand is $2,226.

In ministerial education the Board had assisted 14 students at Howard College and there had been 18 at the Seminary at Louisville, whose support was partially provided. At Howard College there were 27 with the ministry in view, 21 of whom are depending upon the Board for aid besides an increased number at the seminary.

Howard College was passing through a financial crisis, its bonded indebtedness having become due. Strenuous efforts had been made to secure the property, which had measurably succeeded. By an effort put forth by certain pastors, who took the field for that purpose, over $8,000 in cash was reported at the meeting. This sum makes possible such a readjustment as to promise security for the valuable property now held. There is a need of $26,710 to completely remove all the incumbrances.

The Orphans' Home reported the presence of 47 children, of whom 12 had been received during the year. The property now consists of 80 acres of well-fenced and watered land, with a ten-room dwelling and the necessary outhouses, gardens, orchard, and farm. This had been paid for during the past year and titles received. The receipts from all sources had been $5,433.82, of which $2,233.33 had been paid on the property in purchase, and $3,055.76 in current expenses.

The report of the treasurer showed receipts for State missions, $10,001.92; home missions, $2,884.93; Bible and colportage, $63.81; ministerial education, $1,430.08; foreign missions, $4,483.37; for the church at Greensboro, $1,754.76; Orphanage, $606.46; Children's Day, $27.29; church building, $104.72; Howard College, $320.68; institute work, $113.05; and sundry miscellaneous items of interest, principally in small sums, aggregating a total of $21,745.70.

The central committee of women's work reported receipts for all purposes, $7,370.44; of this $1,453.71 were for home, foreign, and State missions. In addition 22 boxes had been sent to missionaries at a value of $1,230. The distribution of literature had been large.

The next meeting is to be held at Eastlake, the seat of Howard College, beginning Friday, November 12, 1897, and A. B. Campbell, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The forty-eighth annual meeting was held at Hot Springs, November 13–16, 1896. There were 172 delegates present, representing 59 churches and 23 associations. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. H Autrey, from 2 Kings 2 : 6.

The State Mission Board had employed 19 missionaries, who rendered 666 weeks of labor; preached 1,615 sermons; made 2,208 religious visits; held 491 prayer meetings; baptized 253 persons, and received 189 otherwise; organized 5 churches; distributed 157 copies of Scripture, and 19,800 pages of tracts. Four of these missionaries were associational evangelists; one had been engaged in traveling with the Chapel Car; 13 local churches had been aided in pastoral work. The amount contributed for the work from the churches was $2,119.23; the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Convention had also made a contribution of Bibles and Testaments; the expenditures for missionary labor amounted to $2,296.92. There had also been contributed to foreign missions $1,058.50; home missions, $782.79; ministerial education, $309.80, and for associational missions, $2,855.59.

The two institutions of learning fostered by this body for male and female education reported the details of the work for the year. The later statistical information is to be found in our appropriate tables. The number of ministerial students aided was 24; amount paid to beneficiaries, $1,098.33; scholarships, $1,200; the churches had paid $1,115.76, and a collection of $1,075.95 was made for the sustentation of students during the coming year.

An Orphans' Home has been established and opened with 4 inmates, with a building equipped for work; a contribution of a building and 80 acres of land had been made, situated at Monticello. A contribution of $541.85 was made to this new interest; the receipts for the year had been $1,904.75.

The work of the Convention was principally of a routine character in which the various phases of denominational interest were considered at length by reports and subsequent discussions. The only matter of general interest aside from the above, is the establishment of a separate Board for Sunday-schools and colportage, to which all the interest of that department of work was committed.

The next session is to be held at Pinebluff, beginning November, 1897, and O. L. Hailey, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

South Canadian, Indian Territory, September 12–15, 1896.

This body co-operates with the Southern Baptist Convention, and comprises not only churches in Western Arkansas, but also some in the Indian Territory. The co-operation with the Home Board of the Southern Convention is very close, the missionaries holding their commissions under that Board. There had been 56 missionaries who reported nearly 5,000 sermons and addresses; over 700 baptisms; 21 churches and 22 Sunday-schools organized; and about $1,400 collected on the field. It is affirmed that no other body of ministers can show such results under the circumstances which attend their labors, many of them receiving very meagre salaries, and depending principally upon supplies in kind sent by the women in the churches of the East. A ministers' institute was held in connection with this meeting, at which 50 ministers and nearly 100 others were in interested attendance, some of these coming several hundred miles in wagons, and camping on the grounds. We have no further information.

The fifteenth annual meeting was held at Twin Lakes, August 25–28, 1896. The enrollment committee reported 153 delegates present. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. I. D. Wood, from 1 Kings 20 : 40.

This body occupies Northern and Central California, and is in direct co-operation with the American Baptist Home Mission Society, but upon a different basis from previous years; the system of a dollar for dollar basis having been rescinded after the most careful consideration; all applications for aid are now considered on their merits. There had been received from all sources, $8,064.63; the pro rata of the Board being $2,688.22. There had been engaged 24 missionaries for all or part of the year, who had rendered 344 weeks of labor; aided 22 churches having a membership of 1,095, and Sunday-school pupils, 1,341; supplied 19 out-stations; held 45 prayer meetings; reported 77 baptisms; received otherwise, 132; and distributed 16,905 pages of tracts; 3 churches had reduced their application for aid, one a Swedish, and one a Dano-Norwegian; and 9 had become self-supporting. There had been 8 houses of worship built, and 4 more are building; 6 of these are on fields unoccupied by any denomination; all of them were completed without debt, save two. In the supplementary report, made necessary by the change of date in the holding of this Convention, for the quarter beginning April 1, 1896, the number of missionaries employed was 15; weeks of service rendered, 168; sermons preached, 607; addresses made, 21; prayer meetings held, 270; religious visits, 1,129; Sunday-schools organized, 5; tracts distributed, 4,990; baptisms reported, 17; and the Lord's Supper administered 41 times.

The treasurer's report showed balance on hand from preceding year, $505.14; from churches and Sunday-schools in the State to the missionary fund, $2,875.14; to the church edifice fund, $147.25; on hand from preceding year, $616.13, a total of $763.38; to colporter's fund, $113.01; from the Publication Society, $50.00; and the disbursements were $3,035.89.

The Board had assumed the Chinese work in the State, but not its financial support; the principal operations being in San Francisco, where 4 teachers are employed in Chinese education, 9 conversions had been reported; a State evangelist had been added to the missionary force, and a district missionary had been engaged in a wide and important field. The year had opened with a debt of $4,747.24; this had been reduced to $2,947.24.

The Sunday-school and colportage work is carried on in co-operation with the Publication Society, and a Sunday-school missionary had been engaged during the year, and two colporters for 6 months each, who aggregated 412 days of service; 4,409 miles traveled; 11 Bibles and 4 religious books donated; books sold, 42; distributed 5,315 pages of tracts, preached 132 sermons, and made 88 addresses; found destitute of the Bible 22 families and 106 individuals; made 1,374 religious visits; held 34 prayer meetings; organized 10 Sunday-schools; and collected $82.35. There is now a deficit in this department of $39.99, and for this reason the colportage work closed Aug. 1; it was, however, decided to renew the work on an enlarged scale.

The corresponding secretary reported for 15 months' labor, 65 weeks of service; delivered 83 sermons and 71 addresses; visited 95 churches and 45 Sunday-schools; wrote 2,462 letters and cards; traveled 10,620 miles; handled $1,062.22 missionary money; disbursed for expenses, $325.98; attended 83 meetings, and held 1,135 official consultations. Attention was called to the fact that the churches in this Convention are organized among 7 different races of men; that there are 800 school districts without religious teaching of any character whatever; and that all the churches are small, and less than 20 paying as much as $800 for pastoral support. An Armenian church had been organized, the first of that people in America.

An interesting feature of this meeting was an address by Rev. C. A. Woody, on "Fifty years of Home Mission Work on the Pacific Coast." The reports on home and foreign missions became the occasion of interesting discussions, volunteer in their character, and an impression was made in the address by Rev. Geo. Warner of the mission in China, on "Experiences and Prospects in Western China." A missionary sermon by Rev. C. S. Medhurst followed the discussion on foreign missions. A State Commission on Systematic Beneficence was appointed, in accordance with the suggestions of the General Societies. Addresses were made by Rev. F. L. Sullivan and Rev. C. A. Woody, on the topic, "Pacific Baptists"; D. P. Ward, on "California Baptist Sunday-school Work"; B. B. Jacques spoke of the chapel car work as carried on by the Publication Society on the Pacific Coast. Resolutions were adopted on temperance, and the proper observance of the Sabbath. The committee on obituaries appropriately noted the death of 80 friends of the Convention.

The next Convention is to be held at Twin Lakes, beginning Aug. 10, 1897, and A. B. Banks, D. D., was appointed to preach the convention sermon.

The fifteenth annual meeting was held at Twin Lakes, Aug. 26, 1896. There had been aided during the year 3 missionary pastors, 1 colporter, and 1 missionary among the Danes and Norwegians. A fund had been raised for Chinese kindergarten work in San Francisco. The treasurer reported receipts for the missionary fund, $863.81; for the edifice fund, $98.90; for expense account, $90.09; which had all been expended for the specified purposes except a balance of $167.48. Much religious literature had been distributed, also boxes and supplies amounting in value to $830.05; about $15 had been received from Junior Bands. It was decided hereafter to concentrate all effort on the maintenance of missionaries, as that was considered of the most importance. Addresses were made by Mrs. Featherstone and Mrs. Gray.

The fourteenth annual meeting was held at Boulder, Nov. 16-18, 1896. There were 107 delegates enrolled. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. D. Y. Bagby.

There had been employed 38 missionaries who had occupied 60 fields and out-stations; rendered 1,268 weeks of service; preached 3,387 sermons; baptized 239 persons, and received otherwise 382; the additions to the mission churches being 621, and their present membership 2,675. The general missionary had preached 165 sermons, delivered 46 addresses, and performed a large number of clerical duties. The record is more encouraging than of any preceding year, a number being upon the point of self-support. There are 90 churches in the State, 62 of which have pastors; 3 new churches had been organized; 2 houses of worship had been dedicated free from debt; 13 new pastors had come into the State during the year. The year began with a debt of $2,650 which had been canceled, and a cash balance to new account of $464, not including pledges supposed to be good. The total expenditures for mission work was $10,272, of which $4,700 had been furnished by the Home Mission Society, with which the Convention co-operates.

The consideration of the report was attended by addresses by Rev. W. D. Fuller, on "Our Opportunities; How to Improve Them"; and Rev. Thos. Stephenson, on "Our Hindrances; How to Overcome Them." The interests of home and foreign missions were presented by representatives of the general societies. The plan of systematic beneficence presented at the national anniversaries, was adopted and a State commission appointed. The report on

The seventy-third annual meeting was held with the First Church, New Haven, October 20, 21, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. John H. Mason, from Romans 13 : 8, on "The Unpaid Debt."

The missionaries had performed a creditable amount of pastoral labor; two new churches had been organized during the year. One aided church had become self-supporting, and another gives promise of the same within a short time. The endeavor to raise $10,000, so that all appropriations might be met, had been defeated by the general financial depression, so that the receipts fell short of the expenditures as much as $826.54. The report of the treasurer showed total receipts, including borrowed money, $8,038.23, and the expenditures, $8,864.77. There is an existing debt upon the work of the Board of nearly $5,000. In considering the report Rev. W. P. Elsdon spoke on "Fields not yet Occupied"; and E. M. Poteat, D. D., on "Work Among the Foreign-born." An open conference was held, participated in by a number of the brethren, during which the interests of 30,000 Italians were represented, and contributions made for evangelization among that people, as well as the French population. At a subsequent time Rev. J. B. Marsh made an address on "Colporter Work"; and K. B. Tupper, D. D., on "Emigration, and Christianity's Relation Thereto."

The committee on the state of religion reported 1,257 baptisms in the 6 Associations in the State; a decrease in general benevolent contributions of $3,068.83, the reports showing for this purpose $51,708.24. The report, which emphasized the necessity of reliance upon the Holy Spirit, was discussed with great animation, denoting a lively interest in the work. Home and foreign missions were represented in addresses by Rev. Henry Clarke and T. S. Barbour, D. D., on the proposed Commission on Systematic Beneficence, which resulted in a commission being appointed for that purpose. The obituary committee made mention of the departure of four esteemed brethren. The religious press and temperance were subjects of interesting papers.

The next session is to be held at a point to be announced, in October, 1897, and Rev. W. D. McKinne was appointed as the preacher of the annual sermon.

The seventy-seventh annual meeting was held at New London, October 21, 1896. The report showed that there had been 13 young men aided in preparing for the ministry; 3 in the seminary, 2 in college, 7 in preparatory schools, and 1 preparing for medical work. The report was attended with addresses by Rev. H. M. Thompson; E. C. Sage, Ph. D., on "The Well Qualified Ministry"; Rev. G. W. Nicholson on "The Short Cut"; J. D. Herr, D. D.; Rev. Archibald Wheaton; and Rev. W. G. Fennell; at the close of whose address $1,125 was pledged for the work of the Society. The principal of Suffield Institution, Prof. H. L. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The Columbia Association comprises all of the white churches in the District, and held its nineteenth annual meeting with the East Street Church, Washington, Nov. 16–19, 1896. The moderator is S. H. Greene, D. D., and the clerk S. M. Yeatman, both of Washington.

The work in the District is conducted in co-operation with the Home Mission Socieyt and the Home Board of the Southern Convention; the former contributing $400, and the latter $500 during the year. Including these appropriations the treasurer had received $2,432.62, together with $115 for printing, and $523.54 balance from preceding year, making a total of $3,071.16. The disbursements were $2,962.99, all of which was for the support of missionary pastors, with the exception of a few items for printing and office expenses.

The Baptist Home is fostered by this Association; including a balance from preceding year of $609.99, the receipts were: From churches, $1,381.79; individuals, $132.58; beneficiary funds, $435; miscellaneous sources, $347.18; a total of $2,296.55. This had been expended in the care of the institution, except a balance of $36.50 to the coming year. The assets of the Home, in buildings, grounds, and furniture, were reported to be $26,000; against which there are liabilities of $1,938.88, $1,500 of this amount being mortgage indebtedness. The number of inmates is ten.

An Educational Board had been appointed, and its first report gives details of its organization, and the beginning of its work; two students for the ministry had been approved, but the funds in hand did not warrant the extension of financial aid for the year, there having been received but $26 for this purpose.

The statistics are to be found in the appropriate tables. There are colored associations in the District which include some churches situated in Virginia, and these statistics are rather hard to obtain.

There is no organized young people's union for the District, but the interests are represented by a standing committee on that work. In these 13 churches there are 30 organizations of young people, with a membership of 1,626. The money raised by them during the year amounted to $3,334.87. In one church where there is no young people's union prayer meetings are maintained for young people.

The next meeting is to be held with the Fifth Church, Washington, beginning Monday, Nov. 22, 1897, and the Rev. A. F. Anderson was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The forty-first annual session was held at Pensacola, January 8–11, 1896. There were present 23 representatives of 12 associations, 26 representatives of 12 churches, and 8 representatives of 6 Women's Missionary Societies, a total of 57. The convention sermon was preached by Rev. L. D. Geiger, from Matthew 6 : 9.

Under appointment of the Board 48 persons had labored in 16 associations; they rendered 1,320 weeks of service; supplied 76 churches and 51 mission stations; preached 3,417 sermons; delivered 556 addresses and lectures; baptized 286 persons; received otherwise 370; organized 42 Sunday-schools; traveled 44,916 miles; made 3,683 religious visits; commenced the erection of 12 meeting houses; distributed 13,176 pages tracts, 187 Bibles, and 73 other religious books; organized 6 churches and 16 missionary societies, besides a great amount of untabulated work. The new house at St. Augustine, which had been partially provided for through the State Board, had been completed and dedicated without debt.

In ministerial education 11 young men had been aided at Stetson University, and 3 at the Seminary at Louisville, for whose support $1,079.04 had been paid out. A number of applications for aid had been made, but the Board hesitated to assume more financial responsibility. Attention is given also to the relief of aged ministers, for whom $160, raised almost exclusively by small sums, and without much appeal, had been distributed among 8 beneficiaries. The Board also has oversight of the work for home and foreign missions. The Southern Convention co-operates with it in maintaining the work in the State, and the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Convention had granted aid in that especial department. The Publication Society also distributed a number of Bibles, Testaments, and tracts.

The women's work is in direct communication with the Board; the Convention electing the corresponding secretary, and claiming it as a part of its organized work. There were reported 94 societies of women, 31 mission bands, and a young people's missionary society. For all purposes the amount collected from them aggregated $2,968.67, of which $2,406.61 were for missions, not including $232.25 for the Cuban fund; the remainder being for various phases of missionary effort.

The treasurer's report showed contributions by churches and individuals for all purposes $7,199.28; gifts from Southern Convention and other sources $5,805.15; supplemental collections for St. Augustine Church, and other items, $7,379.76, making a total of $20,384.19. Among the disbursements were $6,328.86 to salaries of missionaries of the year, and accrued from the year previous; $1,075.11 for foreign missions; $1,928.15 to home missions; $2,184.82 for church building; $1,089.04 for ministerial education; and the remainder for expenses and designated purposes.

There is an Assurance Society for the ministers of the State, which reports to the Convention. There are 108 beneficiaries, and honorary members 125, the latter contributing in case of the death of any member, without expectance of benefit; making in all 233, each of whom is expected to make a contribution of $1 on notification of the death of any of the beneficiaries. The receipts had been $434.15, and $289 had been expended upon death assessments.

The educational interest is Stetson University, which reported to the Convention 252 students enrolled, of whom 101 were boarding in the institution. Later statistics should be searched for in our table of educational institutions, as this report is now necessarily out of date. The most encouraging reports respecting the condition of the institution were made especially in the facilities afforded for completeness of a high grade of education. Many expensive improvements had been made in the plant, besides gifts of considerable amount from devoted friends of the university.

The business of the Convention was entirely routine in its character, and the fact of its meeting so early in the year somewhat detracts from our report, which seeks to give the main features of current history.

The meeting for 1897 was held at St. Augustine, beginning January 8, and the annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. T. Hundey.

The seventy-fourth anniversary was held at Cedartown, April 7-9, 1896. There were represented 36 associations by 124 persons, and 62 churches and societies by 81 persons, a total of 205. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. J. L. White, from John 15 : 5.

The Mission Board reported 44 missionaries, evangelists, and theological instructors, who had labored 719 weeks, occupied 105 stations, preached 3,149 sermons, delivered 930 addresses, held 1,124 religious meetings, baptized 386 persons, received 445 otherwise, made 4,062 religious visits, traveled 40,729 miles, organized 8 churches, built 13 houses of worship, organized 20 Sunday-schools, distributed 37,899 pages of tracts and 699 copies of Scripture. This does not include the holding of 21 Bible institutes, upon which 194 ministers and deacons were in attendance, led by Dr. Ragsdale. Two other instructors led 10 institutes in which 68 religious addresses were delivered; there was also an instructor of Negro preachers and deacons, who held 30 institutes, delivered 109 sermons, and 210 addresses, and instructed 563 ministers and deacons. In Sunday-school evangelistic work additional to the above 49 speeches and sermons, 11,207 traveled miles, and 513 pages of literature distributed, were reported. Prison work in Fulton County had been maintained in which 323 sermons 22 addresses, 71 religious visits, and the distribution of 9,343 tracts, 265 Bibles, 239 religious books, and 2,098 copies of Sunday-school literature, are to be added, with 32 conversions and 3 baptisms reported. Co-operating with the Board, but at his own charges, an evangelist held 4 institutes, preached 479 sermons, and reported 587 conversions. In addition to the above the corresponding secretary had preached 56 sermons, made 124 addresses, and traveled 16,042 miles. The Board reported gratifying condition of all of these varied departments of Christian work. It has oversight as well of the work for home and foreign missions, indigent ministers, and the Orphans' Home.

The funds received were: For foreign missions, $16,056.18; home missions, $12,951.70; State missions, $27,027.25; indigent ministers, $2,251.19; Orphans' Home, $5,770; for church erection, $9,484.11; for use of the women's work, $575.88; DeVotie Fund for aged ministers, $298.97; miscellaneous, $7.75; the grand total for missions being $74,856.61. For education there had been received: For Mercer University, $5,704.27; ministerial education, $2,395.82; other schools, $4,791.98; for theological seminary, $765; miscellaneous, $65.63; total, $13,722.70; grand total, $88,579.31. The treasurer of the Convention having in charge certain invested funds, reported his receipts to be $4,886.60; the Permanent Educational Fund now amounts to $24,985.40; Hearn School Fund, $7,383.97; and the Permanent Mission Fund, $264; a total of $82,543.37.

The trustees of Mercer University are elected by this body; they reported present condition of the institution to be: Posey Fund, $11,000; General Theological Fund, $2,400; Central Professorship Fund, $13,752.50; Mercer Fund, $44,549; Gray Fund, $22,078; a total of $114,546.50. During the past three years, owing to the crippling of enterprises, and the wreckage of one of the principal railways of the State, much embarrassment had been experienced in the failure to obtain interest on many securities. At one time $78,330 of this endowment yielded no interest, but the present report shows that this sum has been reduced to $21,252. Plans were in process of increasing the endowment at least $100,000. In the literary department 189 students had been enrolled, and 9 in the law classes. There was no report from the Hearn School. Twenty-two students for the ministry had been aided by the Executive Board, the amount paid out for them aggregating $1,321.40; from the Convention Fund was received for this purpose $725, and other sources yielded $596.40.

The reports on home and foreign missions were attended by general discussions, the principal address being by R. J. Willingham, D. D., M. MacGregor, D. D., J. B. Hawthorne, D. D., W. H. Young, D. D., and H. L. Morehouse, D. D., the latter representing the co-operation work with the Colored Convention and the Home Mission Society. Attention was given also to the Bible Institute work, and other special features of the work of the State Board. The usual reports on Sunday-schools, literature, and temperance, were made and elicited interesting discussions. The remaining business of the Convention was of a routine character.

The next anniversary is to be held at Gainesville, beginning Friday, April 3, 1897, and W. H. Young, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

There were fifty-seven organizations reported, which it was presumed did not include all of such societies in the State. Methods are to be adopted whereby statistical information shall be gathered. A lecture course upon subjects pertinent to the studies outlined for the young people is also in contemplation.

preached by Rev. R. Monson, from Heb. 4 : 10.

We note again no report of the Executive Board as furnished in the minutes, but a report of the corresponding secretary is published, giving wearisome details of his work. There is much of exhortation concerning the necessity of organization and contributing for missions, but it is very difficult to understand from his report whether anything especial had been accomplished, since we have itemized statements of his expenses and collections, but not a single reference to the purposes for which the collected funds were expended. He reported collections amounting to $377.65, and in addition the finance committee reported, probably as collected at the meeting, $490, making a total of $867.65. But it appeared that the finance committee had made disbursements amounting to $385, a great deal of it being to Board for borrowed money, whatever that might mean, although there are items referring to the Orphans' Home, and a few educational institutions. The system of bookkeeping is very strange, and it is next to impossible to ascertain just precisely what was done; nor does there seem to be any indication of change in this respect by which an intelligent statement of receipts and expenditures can be furnished. A collection of $11.52 was made for foreign missions, and a very creditable list of pledges is published, but this cannot certainly give the full amount contributed for this important object. In the meantime the report of the proceedings contains an immense amount of unnecessary detail, in which the particular hymns sung are carefully noted and other unimportant matters, noticeably the names of certain sisters who were introduced to the body. From the minutes it appears that an Orphans' Home had been organized at Augusta, and a small collection was made for that purpose. The Walker Institute was commended in resolutions; this is only one of several education institutions which could have been credited with accomplishing excellent results. The report on education mentions some of these, but without any special information. The usual reports on missions and kindred topics engaged no further than in commendation of the work, and exhortation to increased effort. The published proceedings contain a valuable table of statistics so far as it goes, prepared by W. J. White, D. D.

The fifteenth annual meeting was held at Albany, July 28-31, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. John Williams, from John 3 : 15.

This body seems to have imitated the strange methods of the convention, as noted above. The corresponding secretary reports, however, directly to the body; from this paper it would appear that he had collected $13 and paid out $2.70. That this small work is all that has been accomplished would appear from the fact that the treasurer had received $5 from one Sunday-school Convention, which with items from previous meetings made his total receipts $52.54, of which $36 was spent in printing minutes and fifty-three cents for a sexton's fee and postage. One Sunday-school missionary had been appointed who gave up the work because the Board had no means, and he was expected to collect his salary on the field. What the special need for this body is does not appear, unless it furnishes a good occasion for the assembling of Sunday-school workers annually to talk about practical matters bearing on their work. Some papers on these practical topics were read and furnished occasion for profitable discussion. There seemed also to have been a practical illustration of Sunday-school teaching as a part of the proceedings. There were reports on various phases of denominational endeavor. The amount sent up to the meeting was $181.21. A statistical table appended contains reports from a very few Sunday-schools showing 7,900 engaged as teachers and pupils, which is far from the real state of the case.

The thirty-seventh anniversary was held at Urbana, Oct. 20, 21, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Lycurgus Kirtley, D. D., from John 8 : 12-14. The committee on enrollment reported 219 delegates and 62 visitors present.

The year had been a trying one financially, having begun with a debt of $1,300. But although 10 new missionaries had been added to the force, the increase of the debt was only $703.36. There had been 50 missionaries under appointment, who had baptized 464 persons, preached 4,944 sermons, held 8,276 prayer meetings, made 8,276 religious visits, and added 734 to the mission churches; new buildings had been erected at three important points. The treasurer had received $12,970.08, of which $2,300 had been borrowed; the total expenditures had been $12,559.64, including $2,196.36 loans repaid; the invested funds amounted to $10,770.15. Beyond cash on hand, the indebtedness of the body to its missionaries was $2,003.36. Three district missionaries and one missionary to the colored churches, who had been actively employed through the year, followed the report with statements regarding their peculiar work. Four missionary pastors also recounted interesting points upon their fields. An address on "The Religious Needs of Our State, and How to Meet Them," was made by W. P. Throgmorton, D. D., in which it appeared that 120 towns, with populations ranging between one and ten thousand, have no Baptist organization, and 3 whole counties and 15 county seats were likewise destitute. In further consideration of the annual report a committee recommended that future reports should include statements of receipts and expenditures, and also the labors in detail of the missionaries, and that this report should be ready for distribution in a printed form. Much attention was given to the methods by which the State work might be improved, and this seemed to be the principal theme of the body. Rev. W. H. Geistweit made a forceful address on "Things we Need"; at another session addresses on the work of State missions and general evangelization were made by E. B. Rogers, D. D., and Rev. C. Perrin, Ph. D. It was decided to organize a State Commission on Systematic Beneficence, as recommended by the general societies.

The Educational Commission commended the work of the Divinity School at Chicago, and noted the progress made by the University of Chicago; Ewing College had acquired a new building; Creal Springs College was mentioned as maintaining a high grade of instruction, with enrolled pupils numbering 172; Shurtleff College had received additions to its endowment, and reported the largest attendance of students in its history; other institutions of secondary grade were noted as in flourishing condition. Representatives of the institutions named were heard in commendation of them. Following this discussion the Association visited the university of the State, which is located in the city in which the meetings were held.

The Sunday-school Commission showed expenses for the year $3,354.35, and receipts from collections $1,158.77, and from the Publication Society $1,500, a total of $2,658.77; leaving a deficit of $695.58. There have been 2 Sunday-school missionaries under commission from the Publication Society, but co-operating with the General Association. The summary of their labors is included in that of the Publication Society. Many churches were reported without Sunday-schools, although there had been an advance during the year, and weak churches had been diligently visited, and inspired to more vigilant endeavor.

Considering foreign missions, it appeared that only one-fourth of the churches had contributed during the year. The claims of the missionary societies were made by Rev. J. B. Thomas and C. F. Tolman, D. D. Rev. S. C. Fulmer spoke on "The Awakening of Prayer, in Reference to Christian Stewardship," and Dr. Tolman on "Right Habits of Giving." The Ministers' Aid Society had received from Illinois for the year $1,316.87. An Educational Commission was appointed, and also a committee to suggest methods of improvement in the general missionary work and the conduct of the annual meeting.

The next meeting is to be held at a point to be selected by the executive committee, in October, 1897, and Johnston Myers, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The fifth annual meeting was held Oct. 23, 1896. The attendance of 132, of whom 112 were delegates, was reported. All the associations in the State have organizations of B. Y. P. U. There are 408 senior and 205 junior unions, with a total membership of 23,702. Incomplete statistics revealed 4,758 who are taking the Christian Culture Courses. Owing to failure of many secretaries to report financially, the figures were sadly incomplete. Two State rallies had been held at central points.

The program was varied and practical; the principal addresses being by Rev. W. H. Geistweit, on "The Value of Christian Culture Work"; Rev. T. G. Soares, Ph. D., on "Culture for Service"; Rev. W. M. Walker, on "The Preparation of the Young Christian"; Pres. A. K. de Blois, on "The Power of Purpose in the Life of the Young Christian"; and Z. Grenell, on "Ideals." Appropriate banners were bestowed for excellency in the various departments of work accomplished by competing societies.

The next meeting is to be held in connection with that of the General Association.

The sixty-fourth annual meeting was held at Bluffton, Oct. 14–19, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by B. F. Cavins, D. D., from Rom. 13 : 11.

The financial depression and political excitement made the year difficult, yet work in all the former missions had been continued, and one new field entered. The churches aided in support of pastors numbered 12, and 8 were aided in the building of their houses of worship. None of the mission churches had reached a condition of self-support. In several points not included, some work had been accomplished in encouraging the churches to engage in permanent establishment of their cause. A district missionary also had been actively employed, with his headquarters at an important point, where a church was organized and a house in process of erection. The contributions from churches and individuals amounted to $3,545; legacies, $500; interest on permanent fund, $400; and collections for emergency fund, $1,310; a total of $5,755. The appropriations amounted to $3,695, and there had been paid to objects embraced in the emergency fund $1,470. There was left on hand for the emergency fund $1,315; and the permanent fund now amounts to $11,095. The report was followed by an interesting volunteer discussion, and at a subsequent session devoted to the discussion of the report, Rev. C. J. Case, and Rev. C. E. Conley, of Michigan, made addresses touching the work.

The Sunday-school Board reported institutes, or associational conventions, held. In 510 churches there were 468 Sunday-schools, 49 of which had been organized during the year. There were 68 mission schools; 407 were open the entire year; the officers and teachers numbered 5,559, and the enrolled pupils were 41,587. These schools had contributed for their own expenses $13,445.55, and for benevolent objects, $1,161.69 In connection with this report, Rev. J. H. Wimans spoke on "The Bible School in Ideal and Facts"; Rev. J. M. Kendall, on "Effectiveness in Bible Teaching"; Rev. T. S. Aspy, on "The Relationship of the School to the Church"; Rev. G. H. Jayne, on "Comparative Statistics"; Rev. H. F. McDonald, on "The Feature of Our Sunday-school Work"; and there were a number of addresses by others. In considering the work of the Publication Society, it appeared that the receipts aggregated $1,659.61 from 151 churches and 119 Sunday-schools; and R. G. Seymour, D. D., made an address on "The Society in its Missionary Relations."

The report from Franklin College recounted the history of that institution, going back to the humble beginnings in 1836, and tracing its progress to the present, when assets amounting to $319,000 were reported. A little over $8,000 had been received by the institution during the year, not including the beneficiary donations from all sources amounting to $466.76. Pres. W. T. Stott, D. D., followed the report in an address on "The Relation of the College to Denominational Progress"; and Rev. R. D. Trick spoke on "The Needs of College Education Among Our Young People"; a general discussion followed.

The managing committee on home missions reported 974 miles traveled, 372 letters written, and 16 addresses made. A marked increase in some places in the matter of contribution offset a slight falling off elsewhere. Rev. L. L. Hensen delivered an address on "Home Missions, as Related to the Preservation of American Institutions." Miss Anna M. Barkley represented the women's work in home missions. For foreign missions 312 churches, 81 Sunday-schools, and 79 young people's societies had contributed $3,631. The women are well organized in this department. A number of new societies had been organized, notably among the children; there are 213 of such. A number of young women are preparing for the foreign field.

The report of the Board for the Young People's Societies showed 108 societies, B. Y. P. U., and 15 Christian Endeavor, with an active membership of 9,035, and 1,310 associate members, a total of 10,345. There had been received in this department $171.46, and $147.75 had been expended. A partial report revealed 1,553 in junior societies, a large proportion taking the C. C. C.; but there was no report from one-half the State. J. V. Biggert led an open parliament on "The Bible Reader's Course," and Mrs. Lorena Fullenwider read a paper on the three "Ms." At a subsequent session, an address was made by Rev. E. G. Shouse, on "Young People, and Moral Reforms," and Miss Isaline Stalker, on "Junior Work: its Power, Purposes, and Impossibilities."

Other items of interest were the formal welcome of 12 pastors recently settled in the State; a sermon by W. H. Whitsitt, D. D., on Lamentations 3 : 26; the report on the Ministers' Aid Society, in which it appeared that 98 churches had contributed $666.80; an address by R. G. Seymour, D. D., concerning the national Commission on Systematic Beneficence, which was followed by an appointment of a State commission on that subject; a sermon by Galusha Anderson, on Proverbs 14 : 33; and an appropriate recognition of the death of 5 ministers during the year.

The next meeting is to be held at Greensburg, beginning Oct. 11, 1897.

The Pastors' Conference.

The annual meeting for 1896 was held at Bluffton, Oct. 14. Papers were read and discussed on "Business Principles in the Pastorate," by Rev. J. L. Beyl; "The Scriptural Relations of Church and Pastor," by Rev. O. A. Cook; "Ministerial Fraternity," by C. E. W. Dobbs, D. D.; and "The Pastor and Missions," by Rev. P. O. Duncan. The fourteenth annual session was held at Oklahoma City, Okl., June 19–21, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. P. Blake, from 1 John 3 : 14.

There are in this Convention, which includes Oklahoma, 17 Associations, 301 churches, 240 ministers, and 13,115 members. This does not embrace all of the Baptists of the two territories, but a large majority of them. The work here is in co-operation with the Home Mission Society, which expended on the field $34,695, and the Southern Baptist Convention, which had appropriated $2,500. Of the amount contributed by the Home Mission Society, $17,080 were for missions, $3,800 for church building, and $14,000 for educational purposes. In this co-operative work there are 110 missionaries and teachers employed under direct control of the Convention itself. There had been 7 missionaries who received aid amounting to $708.32, and who reported 277 baptisms. The report of receipts was rather discouraging, since many of the churches failed to contribute anything. The treasurer accounts for $621.12, all of which had been expended in missionary labor save $105 for printing and accrued debt. The balance to new account was $10.00

In connection with the Convention, there was held a meeting of young people's societies, at which 12 such organizations were represented, who determined to create a territorial union; Rev. L. H. Holt was made president, and Arthur W. Wharton, secretary. It is expected that arrangements will be perfected by which their anniversaries shall be a part of the work of the territorial Convention.

The next convention is to be held at South McAlester, beginning June 24, 1897, and Rev. L. H. Holt was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The fifty-fifth annual meeting was held at Waterloo, October 21–23, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. V. C. Rocho, from Acts 2 : 47, on "True Evangelism." The Enrollment Committee reported an attendance of 365 persons.

There had been 34 missionaries and one general missionary employed, who had supplied 39 churches and out-stations, rendered 1,276 weeks of service, baptized 394 persons, and received 299 otherwise. The mission churches had paid for buildings and improvements, $7,694.07. The secretary had visited 153 churches; traveled 19,654 miles; and delivered 203 sermons and addresses. Ten churches had been organized, and 16 new fields opened as results of the work of the district missionaries. Twenty churches had been dedicated, 15 of them being new churches and the remainder having been rebuilt, and 10 others are in process of erection, nearly ready to be dedicated. The Convention had assisted in the erection of 5 of these. Three churches had built parsonages. The work is done in connection with the Home Mission Society, which contributed $1,500, and the churches in the State had contributed $7,435.10, making a total of $8,935.10 for missions. There had been expended $9,998.86, and the deficit this year was $1,065.76, which, added to the already existing debt, makes a total deficit of $3,569.01. Rev. J. B. Coffman followed the report with an address on "Our Crisis: How Shall it be Met?"

The question of State evangelization occupied a large part of the proceedings of the body. W. M. Haigh, D. D., spoke on "Co-operation, and What It Means." Rev. D. W. Griffith read a paper on "The Relation of Benevolence to Spiritual Prosperity"; and an address was made by Rev. S. E. Wilcox on "The Duty of Iowa Baptists to Evangelize the State"; he being followed by a number of others who made brief addresses upon the same general topic, which resulted in the securing of $2,405 toward the work of the coming year.

In the Sunday-school work one missionary had been employed under the control of the Publication Society, who held 27 institutes of marked profit, and conducted a very successful State assembly; he had traveled 16,365 miles and organized 17 new schools. The addresses on this topic were by Rev. Hugh A. Heath on "The Sunday-school and Good Citizenship"; Rev. F. G. Lewis on "The Importance of the Work to State and Nation"; and Rev. Geo. Breaker on "The Field and Methods of the Publication Society." Unusual interest attended the consideration of home and foreign missions. Rev. J. W. Crooks and Rev. N. B. Rairden speaking for home missions; and Rev. Frank Peterson, Miss Yates, of the Assam field, and H. C. Mabie, D. D., on foreign missions, the latter indicating the new scheme proposed by the Commission on Systematic Beneficence, which resulted in the construction of such a commission for the State. The women also held meetings in the interest of missions, in which a number of practical addresses and interesting papers were read. Rev. Arthur Fowler spoke on "The Value of the Christian Press"; and the resolutions adopted included an endorsement of what is known as the "Iowa Plan," which favors the federation of missionary and educational interests.

The next meeting is to be held at Villisca, beginning October 20, 1897, and Rev. J. A. Earl was appointed to breach the annual sermon.

The Board reported 14 young men at 5 institutions receiving assistance; and the treasurer reported receipts to have been $812.40, and the expenditures $659.03. An attempt is to be made to secure $2,000 for the purposes of the societies during the coming year. The addresses were by A. B. Chaffee, D. D., on "Our Educational Crisis"; H. L. Stetson, D. D., on "The Necessity for, and Cost of, Maintaining a Good Modern College"; and A. W. Small, D. D., of the University of Chicago, on "Religion and Education." The managers reported the banner year in the history of the body, with better organization among local societies than ever; district conventions had been held at 4 points besides the associational rallies; only 2 Associations unorganized. There are 18 Christian Endeavor Societies and 183 Baptist Unions, with an active membership of 6,043, and 63 Junior Unions with a membership of 1,700. The program included much discussion of the methods, and prize banners were distributed to all societies which had showed excellence in the various departments of young people's work. The principal address was by H. C. Mabie, D. D., on "Preliminary Conditions of the Enduement of Power."

The thirty-seventh anniversary was held at North Topeka, Oct. 14-16, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. B. Bradshaw, from John 4 : 35. There were enrolled 188 delegates and 38 visitors.

The Board had under appointment a missionary secretary, 5 district missionaries, 1 missionary each among the Swedes and colored people, and 22 missionary pastors for three-quarters of the year, and 24 the remaining quarter. The summary of the labors of all these includes 572 baptisms, 339 other additions, and the organization of 3 Sunday-schools. The membership of the mission fields was 2,603; these fields contributed for all purposes $12,082.06, of which $1,061.93 was for benevolence; the church property is valued at $62,008. There is cooperation in this State with the Home Mission Society, which had carried the Convention debt, to which there was added a deficit for the present year of $399.79. Despite these embarrassments of debt it appeared that $800 more than ever had been raised. In addition to the State work the Sunday-school secretary reported a gratifying state of activity; there had been 18 baptisms, and 65 institutes held by the workers in this department. Addresses on the Sunday-school work were made by Rev. A. D. Phelps and Rev. J. W. Tanner.

Extended time was devoted to the consideration of the interests of education, and of home and foreign missions. With reference to the former, Pres. J. D. S. Riggs made an address. Rev. J. A. Kjellim spoke on "The Vitality of Missions," and Rev. N. B. Rairden outlined the plans and methods of home mission work. A clear report on systematic beneficence was presented, providing for the creation of a State Commission to keep in touch with the General Commission, and with the organized work in the several churches. This matter was thoroughly discussed, and harmonious agreement reached amid much enthusiasm.

The resolutions adopted related to the Sabbath question, the railways, and public games, favoring constitutional enactment prohibiting sectarian legislation, and the usual commendations of general denominational interests. A vigorous discussion on temperance was had. Enthusiastic meetings of the women were held. The meetings were brought to a close by a discussion on "The Spirit of State Missions," by Rev. F. M. Thomas, and "The Needs of Kansas," by Rev. C. H. Wareham, both followed by a consecration service of great power.

C. J. Coulter on "The Pastor's Relation to the Prohibitory Law"; Rev. H. G. Fraser spoke on "Our Advantageous Position as Baptists"; a paper was read by Rev. E. S. Riley on "Preparation for a Revival"; Rev. F. L. Streeter read a paper on "The Spirit's Indwelling in the Church"; each being followed by a discussion of the subjects involved. Resolutions adopted advised ordination councils to ordain none who did not propose to spend their whole time in the ministry, and also pledged pastors to the enforcement of the prohibitory laws, and to assistance of the proper officers in this respect. The committee on obituaries noted the death of three ministers.

The fifty-ninth anniversary was held at Bowling Green, June 20-22, 1896. There were 34 associations and 114 churches represented by 171 persons. There was no annual sermon.

In State mission work there had been 45 laborers, serving 6,932 days, who had preached 3,323 sermons; supplied 46 churches and 24 out-stations; held 1,646 prayer meetings; made 9,129 religious visits; reported 828 conversions, 619 baptisms, and 376 added otherwise. There were also 22 Sunday-school colporters serving 2,772 days, who preached 1,399 sermons, supplied 24 churches and 20 out-stations, held 385 prayer meetings, made 5,229 religious visits, reported 430 conversions, 243 baptisms, and 195 added otherwise. In addition to these there were 6 colored missionaries who served 605 days, preached 457 sermons, supplied 17 churches and 6 out-stations, held 147 prayer meetings, made 216 religious visits, reported 265 conversions, 97 baptisms, and 53 added otherwise. The missionaries reported 73 Sunday-schools on their fields, with 5,455 pupils. There were distributed 61,761 pages of tracts, and a large quantity of Scriptures and religious books were sold or donated. The mission contributions for the year were: For State missions, $4,806.12; Sunday-schools and colportage, $1,980.16; foreign missions, $10,585.52; home missions, $8,198.02; district missions, $7,885.92; district Sunday-school work, $1,924.17; a total of $35,379.91. Of this amount the treasurer had handled $25,-901.32, of which there had been paid to missionaries of the Board $2,508.77; Sunday-school missionaries, $1,601.15; colored missionaries, $45; and the remainder to designated purposes, including home and foreign missions, and some small sums for church buildings on mission fields. The colporter work had in cash and books at beginning of year, $805.45; cash received, $576.31; books returned, $6.18; a total of $1,387.94; the balance to new account is $499.64.

The Baptist Ministers' Aid Society reports to this body. There had been 26 beneficiaries at the beginning of the year, 4 had been received, and 2 had died. The permanent fund had received to date $21,278.36, of which $19,916.40 was invested in interest bearing securities for immediate use. In the 8 years there had been received $17,-781.36, and expended to date $17,376.13. The report contains no statement of how much of this was received during the year. The effort is to complete the endowment fund so that the interest thereof shall accomplish the desired work, but up to this time only 49 churches had responded. The Orphans Home is another institution fostered by the General Association; it reported 108 children under its care. There were no statistical reports presented, a desirable item which seems to be constantly omitted.

In Kentucky there is located not alone the General Theological Seminary for the Southern States, but 2 colleges of high grade, and 4 institutions for academical, or exclusively female education, besides a number of smaller institutions from which no detailed reports had been secured. The work of ministerial education is managed by the institutions themselves. At Georgetown College 399 students had been enrolled, of whom 38 were studying for the ministry. At Bethel College the ministerial students numbered 35, most of whom had received help from the beneficiary fund to the amount of $800. Pending the consideration of the report, subscriptions amounting to $1,116.60 were made to the Aid Fund of the Theological Seminary.

Occupying the place of a historical society is a Standing Committee on Baptist History. But little had been accomplished during the year beyond the gathering of a few monographs recounting the histories of individual churches. The young people's work was presented in the shape of a report which contains no statistics as to the number of societies, or the work accomplished by them during the year.

The business of the body was mostly of a routine character; the most noticeable matter was the report of a committee appointed at a previous session regarding the relations existing between the educational institutions and the General Association; one institution had decided to come into organic relationship, another college was considering the matter further, and three other institutions had decided that their present relations were best to continue; the matter was referred to the same committee for further investigation; the reports on foreign and home missions, Sunday-schools, orphanage, education, and temperance, elicited interesting discussions.

The women's missionary societies held their anniversary at the same time, but in a different building. Their report is published in the printed proceedings from which it appears that there are 101 societies, 17 being new, and 25 children's bands, 6 being new. The societies had contributed to foreign missions, $1,377.81; to home missions, $2,730.37; State missions, $136; there had been also in value of goods sent to missionaries on the field, $1,421.25.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Georgetown, beginning Saturday, June 19, 1897, and the annual sermon was appointed to be preached by Rev. E. V. Baldy.

The annual meeting for 1896 was held at Bowling Green, June 18-20. The annual sermon for criticism was preached by Rev. J. T. Barrow, from Col. 1: 28, on "Paul's Pattern of Preaching."

The following topics were discussed: "The Scriptural Use of the Phrases, Kingdom of God, and Kingdom of Christ," led by Rev. J. N. Prestridge; "The Results of the Gospel Dispensation as it Relates to the Conversion of the World," led by J. M. Weaver, D. D.; "What Can be Done to Induce All of Our Churches to Have Religious Services every Sunday?" a volunteer discussion; "The Best Means of Increasing the Attendance and Interest of Our State Ministers' Meeting," a paper by W. S. Ryland, D. D.; "Public Prayer," led by G. G. Jones, D. D.; "The Attitude of Roman Catholicism Toward Civil Liberty," led by Rev. C. H. Nash; and the interesting exercise by which the youngest and eldest minister in the body narrated his Christian experience and call to the ministry, participated in by Rev. J. D. Rogers and Rev. Wm. Sheldon. The committee on obituaries appropriately noted the departure during the year of 9 ministers in the State.

The next meeting is to be held at Georgetown, immediately preceding the session of the General Association, and Rev. L. H. Voyles was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The forty-eighth annual session was held at Crowley, August 13-17, 1896. There were 37 churches and 7 associations represented by 73 delegates. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. John F. Purser, from 2 Cor. 7: 10.

There had been employed for a whole, or a portion of the year, including the corresponding secretary, 23 missionaries and colporters, who had traveled 33,861 miles; served 4,027 days; preached 1,733 sermons; delivered 552 addresses; held 596 prayer meetings; made 5,584 religious visits, baptized 269 persons, and received 196 others; and distributed 51,500 pages of tracts; they had also organized 2 churches, and 61 Sunday-schools; 3 houses of worship were built and 3 others commenced. There had been raised on the fields for missions, $1,510.95; for church buildings, $3,090.12; for current expense $1,809.16; and collected on salaries from the fields, $3,325.50. New work had been begun at two very important points and the work extended in the great city of New Orleans. The entire cost of the State mission work had been $12,099.62, including the contributions of the Home Board of the Southern Convention. The treasurer had received for State missions, $4,448.45; foreign missions, $1,376.45; home missions $693.45; ministerial education, $829.85; colportage and Sunday-school, $383.61; conventional funds, $123.11; balance from preceding year, $311.21; a total of $8,163.63. While it is not so stated in the report of the treasurer, it appears that there is an indebtedness upon the State Board, since a contribution was made to relieve it amounting to about $1,100.

In ministerial education 10 students at Keatchie College, and 4 at Mt. Lebanon College were partly sustained. In this item $375 had been expended. In the former institution 150 students had been enrolled and in the latter 146. In the colportage work the effort to establish a permanent fund, to be invested in biblical and religious literature, has been successful to the amount of $312.16; very little having been added to it during the year.

The women's work, in presenting their report to the Convention, note the removal of the central committee to New Orleans, and recount the difficulties experienced in keeping in touch with the societies in the churches. It is supposed that there are 85 societies in the State, from 49 of which reports have been received, but only 24 gave statistics of work done. From these latter $2,526.66 had been contributed, besides missionary boxes valued at $483.30. Of this amount $1,073.74 had been for missions, $73 for education, and $1,100.08 for church buildings and improvements.

Nothing of special interest beyond the routine work of the Convention appears in the printed reports. There were the usual discussions upon the various phases of denominational endeavor presented in reports from committees, and the work of the session seemed to be confined to practical matters, and the discussion of methods for attaining better results in developing their field, and the beneficence of the churches. A committee exists looking into the relations which the educational institutions in the State bear to the Convention, whose report is looked for at the next anniversary.

The next session is to be held at Keatchie, beginning Thursday, August 12, 1897, and the annual sermon is to be preached by Rev. C. T. Kincannon.

The following topics were discussed: "The Relation of Doctrinal Preaching to Denominational Growth," led by Rev. G. D. Whittinghill; and "The Importance and Duty of Fostering Denominational Schools," led by J. M. Frost, D. D. The secretary reports a resolution appointing time for the discussion of the young people's movement, but fails to make any record as to whether that subject was discussed or no. Though not stated in the minutes, it is presumed that the next session is to be held at Keatchie, in August, 1897.

The seventy-second anniversary was held at Damariscotta, October 6-8, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. S. Ayers, from 2 Cor. 4:10. There were reported in attendance 72 pastors, 140 delegates, and 135 visitors, a total of 347.

There had been engaged during the year 3 State missionaries, a State evangelist and his wife, an associational missionary, and a missionary to the French Romanists, partly sustained by the Home Mission Society. No attempt was made to tabulate the reported services rendered by these laborers, but it was estimated that they had delivered 1,000 sermons and addresses, held 700 prayer meetings, made 5,000 pastoral visits, administered 100 baptisms, and traveled 30,000 miles. The work of these laborers included more than the ordinary preaching on the Sabbath in sustaining mission points, embracing evangelistic campaigns, the settlement of difficulties, and the ministering to private necessities as occasion demanded. In addition, there were employed 14 students, who rendered efficient service at weak points during their vacations. Three new churches had been constituted during the year, the condition of each being full of hope for the immediate future. The Board is engaged in an enterprise for securing a lot and house for the French mission in Lewiston, for which $996.60 had been obtained. In various sums 59 churches had been aided in maintaining their settled pastoral work.

Including a balance from preceding year, the total receipts amounted to $13,624.09, but of which $2.000 is listed as a loan from bank; and $1,940.87 for special purposes. The ordinary contributions of the churches was $3,717.64, and from interest, dividends, and rents, $4,506.53. The disbursements included ordinary appropriations to churches, $4,921.50; special payments from trust funds, $639.79; salaries and expenses of secretaries and missionaries, $5,868.31; expenses of Executive Committee, $281.72; special contributions to certain churches, $1,940.87; a total for all objects, $16,238.46; balance to next year, $2,167.65. But from this there is owing the permanent fund, $1,150. The invested funds of the body are: Special trust fund, with income designated, $15,028.98; special funds, $34,418.53; real estate in Portland, $18,000; a total permanent fund of $67,447.51, against which there are liabilities amounting to $2,025.75.

An open conference followed the presentation of the report, at which statements of the special needs of the fields were made by missionary pastors and others, and interesting facts elicited with reference to the increased spirit of consecration, as evidenced in the spirit of self-sacrifice and contribution to the general cause. An address was made by H. L. Morehouse, D. D., on the proposed Commission on Systematic Beneficence, which resulted in the appointment of a committee of co-operation with the general commission appointed by the general societies. In considering foreign missions, Rev. J. E. Cummings, of Burma, made a farewell address, as he was about to return to his work. A very encouraging report on the state of religion was presented, in which it appeared that 857 baptisms were reported in the associational tables, and a large ingathering, which makes the present constituency in the State over 20,000. There was also a large gain reported in Sunday-school attendance, and the benevolent contributions for the year for all purposes showed a net gain of $2,563.85. Strong resolutions were adopted with reference to the oppression of the Armenians and Cubans, the observance of the Sabbath, and the enforcement of the laws respecting the liquor traffic.

The receipts from associations, churches, and societies were $613.34; individuals, $81; income from invested funds, $213.50; total, $985.53. There had been appropriated to beneficiaries, $936.16; miscellaneous, $48.89; total, $985.05. The invested funds amounted to $4,885. Twelve students had been aided during the year; 103 churches contributed, 17 of them being new upon the list; 3 new applications had been received.

Full detailed reports were received from the academies in the State, of which there are 4. The report of the committee on Colby University detailing the progress during the year was attended by an address by its new president, Nathaniel Butler, D. The sixty-first annual meeting was held with the First Church, Baltimore, October 27–29, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. E. E. Ayres, from John 5 : 20.

There had been 26 missionaries employed who had served 981 weeks; preached 2,466 sermons; delivered 1,014 addresses; held 2,520 prayer meetings; traveled 21,094 miles; baptized 276 persons; made 9,666 religious visits; distributed 24,915 pages of tracts, and 121 copies of Scripture. The Home Board of the Southern Convention co-operates in the support of some of the missionaries; and the Sunday-school Board of the same Convention and the Publication Society co-operate in the bestowment of supplies of religious literature. The work of the Board had been at 10 stations on the Eastern shore, 8 points in Baltimore city and county, 17 points in the State at large, beside maintaining work among the Chinese, German, and colored people. Through its appropriate committee 15 young men had been aided in prosecuting their studies for the ministry, two of whom completed their course and entered upon the work, and one other received ordination; on the active list there were 10 students reported, with four others waiting for funds to come in before receiving aid.

The treasurer received from all sources $7.492.72 and the disbursements were $7,420.67. The white churches and Sunday-schools contributed $5,662.54, colored churches and Sunday-schools $236.25. Young people's societies $33, women's societies $65.29, and the income arising from dividends and interest from invested funds was $1,020.61; nearly one-half, viz., $3,146, was contributed by two churches in Baltimore; the number of contributing Sunday-schools was 35. In the Educational Fund the receipts had been from churches $1,328.88, and from Sunday-schools, $16.75, all of which had been expended and a deficiency reported of $158.83. For the Building Loan and Gift Fund there had been received, including dividends and interest, $994.21, and there had been disbursed $732.50; the securities belonging to this fund amount to $3,500. The Rider Fund now amounts to $19,312; the Williams Fund to $3,000, and other securities belonging to the Association, $18.603.76, a total of invested funds, $40,915.76. In addition there are deeds in the name of the Association of certain properties which are held for the benefit of particular churches. The receipts of Widows and Superannuated Ministers' Fund were $393.28; the fund now amounting to $2,829.75.

The women are not only organized in associations for foreign and home mission work, but they maintain mission rooms in the city of Baltimore for the supply of missionary literature wherever demands for such obtains. For the year 216 copies of leaflets had been printed, and 27,000 mission prayer cards. The number of leaflets published through this agency is 38. There had been received from sales, $1,644.51; from other sources, $25.75; balance from previous year $504.41; a total of $2,174.67. The balance to new account is $2,174.67. The contributions of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society were $2,122.47; the contributions of the Woman's Home Mission Society were $4,908.37. There are 33 auxiliaries and 40 bands for the home work. It is presumed that 25 boxes sent to frontier missionaries of a value of $3,706.13 is not included in the above receipts, since these are reported as having passed through the hands of the treasurer.

The Baptist Orphanage now occupies a property which cost $8,000, upon which a mortgage of $5,000 rests; there had been 26 children cared for during the year at a cost of $150 a month.

The next meeting is to be held with the Hampden Church, October 26, 1897, and Rev. J. C. Davidson was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The sixth annual meeting was held in the First Church, Baltimore, October 26, 1896. No statistical report is at hand. The business of the annual meeting was generally of a routine character; the needs of the field and the discouragements and encouragements of the work receiving close attention. The Young People's Union as a training school of the church was presented in three addresses. Banners were presented to societies which had been successful in competition for excellency in the Christian Culture Courses. The principal address was by B. L. Whitman, D. The ninety-fourth annual meeting was held in the Highland Church, Springfield, October 28, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. D. W. Hoyt, from John 14 : 14.

The receipts for the work of this body had been $37,526, which with the balance of $14,408 from previous year made available a total of $51,934; for church and chapel building $24,716 was paid, and $19,700 was invested; the amount of permanent funds on hand was reported to be $165,200, but there are other investments owned or controlled by the Convention which brings the fund up to $182,094. Two thousand one hundred and fifty dollars had been expended for repairs of churches during the year. With this large permanent fund yielding interest this body presents a plan of work which is quite unique among our conventions; young and weak churches are rendered assistance, and special work is accomplished among the Finns, Portuguese, Swedes, and French; the work of church extension and sustentation seems to remain as important as ever, new fields continually presenting themselves, and sometimes old churches need to be assisted, or special aid rendered them by missionaries and evangelists, so that an annual expenditure of $15,000 is none too much to meet these demands, while as much as $5,000 per annum is needed for effective work among the large foreign population, which of recent years has entered into the State.

Besides the introductory address by the president on taking the chair, there were addresses presenting the salient features of the work of the Convention in various parts of its territory and among special populations; a general address by Rev. James Grant on "The Call for New Churches in the State"; C. H. Watson, D. D., on "Apostolicity and the Modern Church"; and O. P. Gifford, D. D., of New York. A laymen's conference was participated in by a number of the leading men of the Convention, and which resulted in the appointment of a State commission co-operating with the national Commission on Systematic Beneficence.

There are organizations of women in the State which held their anniversaries at the same time and place as the Convention, but whose statistics are incorporated in the review of the general women's societies, whose headquarters are in Boston. The time was occupied in reports and consideration of methods looking for greater efficiency of work in the future. Several missionaries who were at home made addresses upon the peculiarities of their fields abroad.

The seventy-fifth anniversary was held at Springfield, October 27, 1896. The society celebrated its seventy-fifth year with grateful acknowledgment that its resources were larger than ever before; the permanent fund amounts to $54,000. For the first twenty-five years of its history the appropriations amounted to $1,822, and during the past eight years these appropriations have amounted to $26,100; and for the period of its history $100,000 had been distributed. The number of ministers aided the past year was 30; the average age of 21 beneficiaries of the society is 75 years; one who had died during the year had reached the age of 98. There are widows with dependent children also who are provided for. The churches had given $1,100 and the invested funds had yielded $2,603, and the treasurer had disbursed $3,777. Besides an address by the president, in recapitulation of the history of the society, the exercises were of a routine character.

The one hundred and fourth annual meeting was held at Springfield, October 27, 1896. The Board had given aid to 66 students for the ministry, 58 being in the Theological Institution at Newton Center, 6 at Brown University, 1 at Colby University, and 1 at Williams College. There had been expended for these $5,236. The receipts had not been equal to the contributions of the previous year, and the indebtedness of the Board, which now amounts to $5,500, presents obstacles in the way of enlarging the work and in presenting the claims of the cause before the churches.

The addresses were by J. F. Elder, D. D., of New York, on "The Responsibility of Pastors for the Supply of the Ministry"; and G. D. B. Pepper, D. D., on "Our Colleges and the Christian Ministry." The constituency of this society is in all the New England States, but the annual meetings are always a part of the anniversaries of the Massachusetts State Convention.

The twelfth annual meeting was held October 29, 1896, in the Highland Church, Springfield.

The State secretary, W. W. Main, reported the holding of 150 conferences, and more than 200 cities and towns visited; new schools organized numbered 17, one of which had so increased as to be encouraged to call a pastor; within the past four years 8 chapels had been erected, and 1 is now building; there were calls for 5 new chapels that should be erected; there had been 15 ministerial students employed as assistants to pastors in this department; reports had been received from 242 schools, showing an attendance of 36,613 pupils. The financial report showed cash receipts of $5,722 from 281 schools, $355 from conventions, and $208 from other sources; a total of $6,295. This had been expended: for the general fund, $5,363; permanent fund, $100; building of a chapel, $832. The corresponding secretary reported 434 schools, as against 423 the preceding year, with a membership of 72,690; the contributions of the schools had been $62,150; and 2,608 baptisms were reported.

The addresses were by Stephen Moore at the opening of the convention; Roger F. Upham on "Are Large Classes Desirable?" and K. B. Tupper, D. D., on "The Bible School Teacher's Noblest Text-book."

ries, but depended upon voluntary offerings, and 47 missionary pastors who had served 63 churches and 34 out-stations, and reported 183 baptisms. The general workers had aided 204 churches, laboring in 121 places, and baptizing 484 persons. The total number of 63 laborers thus reported 667 baptisms, with a large amount of other work. The superintendent had, in addition, visited 95 churches, preached 191 sermons, traveled 13,787 miles, and dedicated 4 houses of worship. For this work there had been raised by the Board, $8,808.86; contributed by the Women's Societies, $1,283.28; by the Home Mission Society, $1,133.33; by the Publication Society for Swedish work, $300; and by the Swedish Conference, $300; a total of $11,824.84. There was a deficit of $1,234.46. Included in the above are $210.06 from 52 societies of young people, and $324.67 from 99 Sunday-schools. In connection with their work the Bureau of Ministerial Supply had continued its work in the settlement of pastors without expense to the churches.

The treasurer reported receipts for the book fund $1,465.56, and disbursed $1,234.49; and a number of smaller items from other funds in his hands, making the total of the permanent funds at the time of the meeting $31,831.60.

The secretary's report showed 45 ministers as having changed their fields of labor within the State; 16 coming from other States and 14 leaving the State to labor elsewhere; 2 had exchanged pastorates for evangelistic work; 2 others to complete courses of study; and 12 had resigned without reported settlement; 5 ministers had died; 13 had been ordained and 2 received from other denominations; 9 churches had been constituted and recognized and 3 others are awaiting recognition; 9 houses of worship had been dedicated, 3 others are in process of erection, and 5 parsonages secured.

In considering the report addresses were made by Alanson J. Fox on "Our Financial Support as Compared with that of Other Denominations"; E. H. E. Jameson, D. D., "For Christ's Sake"; Rev. John C. Carman, Rev. J. H. Green, Rev. E. B. Smalldige, Rev. A. B. McDonald, and Rev. S. Van Dorne, on the various districts in the State which are the fields of special evangelistic work. At a subsequent time a number of brief addresses in the same line were delivered, principally by Samuel Haskell, D. D., on "Bequests for State Missions"; Rev. R. W. Van Kirk on "Is the City In Debt to the Country?" and Rev. C. H. Holden on "Church Debts, and How They Affect State Missions."

The trustees of Kalamazoo College reported that by the contribution of $5,000 by a friend an embarrassing indebtedness, which had been accumulating, was avoided, and the institution began the current year with hope and encouragement for advanced prosperity. A fund of $2,000 was pledged to meet the exigencies that might arise. The latest statistics should be searched for in our educational tables; although for some years past the letters of inquiry concerning the statistics have elicited no response, and that line in the tables ordinarily has been left blank. Addresses were made by Franklin Johnson, D. D., of the Chicago University; Rev. C. S. Lester on "The Secular, and the Christian College"; and Alanson J. Fox on the financial condition of the institution at Kalamazoo.

In the department of Sunday-schools efficient work has been accomplished among the large populations of Scandinavians, Danes, and Norwegians, by missionaries under appointment of the Publication Society. Following the report upon this topic were details of personal work wrought by these missionaries, in which, among other interesting facts, it appeared that out of 723,000 children of school age in the State, 570,000 are not embraced in Sunday-schools. It is not impossible that this is owing to the fact that these large foreign populations exist within the State. R. G. Seymour, D. D., made an address on "Systematic Beneficence." Subsequently a commission on this subject was appointed in the line proposed by the general societies. The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business.

There were annual meetings of the Women's Foreign and Home Mission Societies in connection with the Convention. The report of the former contained no financial statistics and the time was occupied in the discussion of practical methods of organization and work, and plans for the future. In home missions $1,245 had been disbursed to missionaries within the State; $1,025 to missionaries of the Home Mission Society; $223 to workers under the Women's Home Mission Society; with aid to other causes aggregating about $3,000. Their meeting was distinguished by the practicality of the themes discussed and the methods that required attention for more efficient work in the future. There were 97 women in attendance upon the home mission meetings, and 119 present upon the foreign mission meeting. Subsequently there was a general meeting of all the women engaged in both enterprises, which was distinguished by a holy enthusiasm.

The next Convention is to be held at a point to be selected and announced in due time, beginning October 20, 1897, and Rev. C. A. Fulton was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The thirty-seventh annual meeting was held in the First Church, St. Paul, October 13–16, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. P. McKee, from Matt. 25 : 21, on "The Joy of the Lord." There were reported 84 churches represented by 230 delegates.

There had been 42 missionary pastors serving a portion of the year and 23 during the entire year; these had served 37 churches, 26 of which had been helped throughout the term; 28 of these had outstations. Ten students had served churches during their vacation. In addition there had been 8 district missionaries and the superintendent of missions constantly at work. The membership of the mission churches is 3,108, which is 17 per cent. of the entire membership. There had been 272 persons baptized, over one-fourth of the total number of baptisms. The mission churches had raised for all purposes $30,716.93, of which $2,636.07 was devoted to denominational benevolence. Two churches had been constituted, 2 had arrived at self-support, 3 had built houses of worship, and 1 had cleared an indebtedness from its building. No very marked indications of revival had been noticed, but cause for thankfulness in many instances appeared. The year began with a debt to the Home Mission Society, which co-operates with the mission work in this State. A special appeal secured $1,230.98, and a special gift of $1,000 was made toward supporting the district missionary in the mining section. The whole amount disbursed for mission work was $12,547.09, and an indebtedness of about $4,000 still exists as due to the Home Mission Society. Of the 235 churches represented, 126 are English, 80 are Swedish, 19 are Dano-Norwegian, and 10 are German.

Rev. M. Berglund followed the report with an address on "The Needs in the Iron Regions," and Rev. G. F. Holt spoke on "The Value of State Missions." Attention was given to the work of the Home Mission Society, and addresses were also made on foreign missions, principally by George Warner, of the Chinese mission. Rev. A. O. Stevens spoke on the denominational paper from a pastor's point of view.

Pillsbury Academy was presented to the attention of the body by the report of its Board of Visitors. During the last year Mr. Geo. A. Pillsbury had contributed $8,338.27, while the contributions of the churches were $313.28. Stress was laid upon the excellent religious influences, as well as the admirable facilities for instruction and home life. The enrollment of students reached over 300, only 52 per cent. being from Baptist families, and 8 States being represented on the list. There was a call made for a new dormitory for boys, and increased endowment. A discussion on "What Minnesota Baptists Owe to Their Academy," was opened by T. W. Powell, D. D. President W. R. Harper made an address in the interest of the University of Chicago, laying special stress upon America as the mission field.

The Commission on Systematic Beneficence recommended at the general anniversaries was explained in an address by H. C. Mabie, D. D., and subsequently a State Commission was appointed. Work among the foreign population was strongly presented by representatives of the Swedes and Norwegians. A very interesting feature was a number of practical addresses from active workers on the mission fields detailing their particular experiences. An address was made by O. A. Williams, D. D., on "Short and Long Pastorates."

A session was devoted to the consideration of Sunday-school interests. The State missionary, E. M. Hulett, spoke at length on the practical features of the work; an essay on "The Place of Music in the Sunday-school," was read by Miss Nellie Hope, and the various features of Sunday-school instruction and management were presented in voluntary addresses by superintendents and teachers. In this connection an address on "The Chapel Car Work" was made by Boston W. Smith, which was practically illustrated by the presence of one of the cars at St. Paul during the anniversary.

Very large meetings of the women interested in home and foreign work preceded the session of the Convention. They abounded in practical talks and papers, as well as reports of the work which had been accomplished, and the methods employed in enlarging the beneficence of the churches. There had been $4,345.52 contributed for foreign missions, and systematic giving was reported upon the increase. Two field workers had been busily engaged in organizing circles and inspiring effort. A number of missionaries were present who gave interesting talks concerning their work both at home and on the foreign field.

The next meeting of the Convention is to be held at a place to be determined by the Board, in October, 1897, and T. W. Powell, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The seventh annual session was held October 14, 1896, as a part of the proceedings of the Convention. The year had been the best in the history of the society, more money having been raised in despite of the hard times. There had been received $569.08, which had met all of the obligations, in assisting young students for the ministry at Pillsbury Academy. An address was made by Rev. J. H. The sixth annual meeting was held at St. Paul, October 15, 1896. Questions of local organization, beneficence, junior work, and the Christian Culture Courses occupied the attention of the body. The principal addresses were by J. W. Conley, D. D., on "Young People and Evangelistic Work," President Cyrus Northrop on "How Young Men and Women Can Make the Most of Themselves," and P. S. Henson, D. D., on "The Way to Win."

The treasurer's report showed receipts, $244.25, disbursements, $193.50. There are in these societies in the State 5,751 young people, more than one-fourth of the whole membership. There are 129 societies of all classes, 53 per cent. are Christian Endeavor, and 37 per cent. are Baptist Young People's Union; some are independent organizations, particularly among the Swedes and Norwegians. The Christian Culture examinations were taken by 316 persons. An interesting exercise was the bestowment of banners for the largest number of successful examinations in the senior and junior courses.

The anniversaries of this organization are held in connection with those of the State Convention.

The fifty-eighth annual meeting was held at Starkville, July 16-20, 1896. The convention sermon was preached by Rev. O. D. Bowen, from Acts 11 : 24.

There had been commissioned during the year 73 missionaries, who had rendered 5,496 days of service, traveled 41,141 miles, occupied 163 stations, baptized 3,324 persons, held 1,428 prayer meetings, made 4,570 religious visits, baptized in connection with their labors 877 persons and received 504 otherwise, organized 6 churches and 36 Sunday-schools, and distributed 40,000 pages of tracts. There were also 3 colporters who rendered 241 days of service, traveled 2,600 miles, distributed 164 Bibles, 415 Testaments, 203 religious books, and 300 pages of tracts; they preached 90 sermons, made 15 addresses, and organized 7 Sunday-schools. There were 9 brethren engaged in pastoral work who devoted 150 days to the holding of institutes for colored ministers, in which 347 were interested by them. Six of the churches aided had become self-sustaining, and there are indications of gratifying progress in the other points occupied by the Board.

The Board also has in charge the interests of home and foreign missions as well as the Sunday-school work. Over $6,000 had been secured for foreign missions, and $2,611.04 for home missions. The Sunday-school and colportage work was not begun until late in the conventional year, and full reports therefore were not in hand.

Funds received by the treasurer were, for State missions, $7,173.54; foreign missions, $3,657.54; home missions, $1,688.66; Sunday-school and colportage, $1,190.01; sustentation, $726.89; ministerial education, $245.41; Mississippi College fund, $146.85; Waine House fund, $291.50; a total of $17,292.39. The disbursements on account of expense were $2,488.66.

The educational interest of this Convention is Mississippi College, located at Clinton. The trustees reported much needed improvements to the buildings, by which an expenditure of $3,358.65 had placed all of the various houses used in complete order. Students registered during the year numbered 242, of whom 39 are preparing for the ministry. The deportment of the students, discipline, and class-room work were highly complimented. For the first time in twenty years the actual expenses had been met, and a surplus was reported of $275.53. An agent had been actively employed soliciting patronage and funds. The endowment fund now amounts to $42,166. The income from fees was $6,681.30; endowment fund and rents, $4,688.86, a total of $11,370.16. The college indebtedness is now only $1,694.15.

The statement of the work done by the women's societies is as follows: For foreign missions, $697.19; home missions, $639.91; State missions, $1,049.86; ministerial education, $259.56; sustentation, $75.53; Orphans' Home, $44.20; Mississippi College, $245.76; other purposes, $2,368.63, a total of $5,377.44. There had been 26,000 leaflets and pamphlets and a large quantity of other literature distributed among the churches.

The various phases of denominational benevolence were presented in reports and attended by voluntary discussions. The theological seminary was reported by E. C. Dargan, D. D., and $284.50 contributed to the students' fund. Apart from the routine work of the body nothing noticeable presented itself, except the appointing of a commission to consider the newspaper needs of the denomination in the State, which is a problem, owing to the existence of competing journals, and, it was authorized to make the best possible arrangements, with the approval of the Board, to meet the demands of the church in the State. Steps also were taken to secure a charter of incorporation for the body. The proceedings of the Convention are valuable for the information concerning the status of the denomination in the State not usually contained in such documents. It appears that 26 churches in the State maintain stated Sabbath worship throughout the year, the great majority of churches maintaining such services but one Sunday in each month. In 18 associations no church has preaching more frequently than once a month. There are 8 denominational institutions of learning, which employ 66 instructors and have enrolled 1,085 students. Only a partial Sunday-school table was possible in which the statistics of 302 schools are given; these had 1,294 teachers and 15,804 pupils. There are 28 pastors' homes aggregating $47,000 in value. The number of students in the theological seminary was 15, and ministerial students in Mississippi College 39.

The next anniversary is to take place at Grenada, beginning Thursday, July 15, 1897, and the annual sermon is to be preached by J. K. Pace, D. D.

The sixty-second annual meeting was held at Cape Girardeau, October 20–22, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. S. M. Brown, from Acts 1 : 7. There were present 30 life members and 105 representatives of churches and associations, the attendance being affected by the meeting being held in a remote part of the State, which was occasioned by the centennial of the first settlement of Christians in Missouri, which occurred in the immediate vicinity of the place of meeting.

The summary of work done by 64 missionaries and missionary pastors was: 14,058 days of labor; 8,860 sermons preached; 2,010 conversions reported; 1,576 persons baptized; and 841 received otherwise; 12,846 religious visits; 2,791 prayer meetings held; 22 churches organized; 46 churches and 17 associations had been aided, the latter by district missionaries supported in co-operation by the Board and the Association itself. Similar plans had worked well in connection with city Boards in St. Louis and Kansas City. The superintendent of missions had visited besides, 100 churches, attended 8 conventions and 16 associations, and performed a large amount of clerical work. A general Sunday-school missionary was employed most of the year, who delivered 158 sermons and addresses, held 12 conventions, organized 8 Sunday-schools, and traveled 5,900 miles. The report also shows the number of associations in the State to be 76, with 1,727 churches. These had spent for district missions, $25,000; State missions, $12,480.55; home missions, $7,355.62; foreign missions, $9,114.76; a total of $53,950.93. There are about 1,100 Sunday-schools, with an average attendance of 60,000; but these statistics are not reliable, many churches not engaging in this work; but all the churches aided by the Board have flourishing schools. The Board reported an indebtedness of $2,400, which at various times during the meetings, was reduced by pledges to about $1,000.

The Board has in charge also the interests of the home and foreign work. The amounts collected for this object appear above, which is a falling off from preceding years. In considering this interest an address was made by R. J. Willingham, D. D., of the Foreign Board of the Southern Convention.

In the department of Christian education 127 young men preparing for the ministry had matriculated in the collegiate and academic department of William Jewell College; 47 of these had never attended college before. The contributions from churches and individuals in aid of these students amounted to $2,088.96, which with receipts from other sources, $875.15, and balance from preceding year, $135.03, made available $3,099.54. For incidental expenses and cash paid students, there were expended $3,050.25, leaving a balance on hand of $49.29. After an address by President Greene pledges amounting to about $1,000 were made for this beneficence.

The affairs of the Orphans' Home at St. Louis occupied attention. A recent tornado entailed expenses in repairs of $3,400. Up to the time of this storm 70 children had occupied the Home, which number had been reduced to 54; but 108 were cared for during the year. A memorial gift of $5,000 had been received for the endowment. The report on the Baptist Sanitarium revealed a debt on the institution of $34,000, and steps were taken to so amend the act of incorporation as to give the General Association legal control.

The educational interests of the body are William Jewell College for men, and Stephens College for girls, both of which institutions are owned by the body. There were reported at the former 292 students, with 105 preparing for the ministry, and a senior class of 35; extensive repairs had been made to the college buildings, and other repairs required to be done involves the necessity of a contribution of $10,000. In the school for girls the enrollment was larger than ever before, and increased facilities are a necessity; a new building is in progress of erection, to be finished as funds for the purpose are in hand. In considering this topic Professor Robertson, of the seminary at Louisville, spoke on "The Young Baptist Preacher"; and a contribution of $700 was made for the students' fund of that institution. At another time the educational work for the Negro Baptists was presented, and practical sympathy expressed. Rev. S. B. Merrill also urged the German work in the seminary at Rochester.

Among the items of routine business note was taken of the death of five ministers, among whom were some of the pioneer preachers of the State. It was decided to mark in some appropriate manner the historic spot near by on which stood the first Protestant meeting-house west of the Mississippi. A Board of women to aid in raising money in educational enterprises was established. The interests of home and foreign missions, which have hitherto been in charge of two persons, were consolidated, to be put in the hands of one. There is no prepared program for the exercises of this body, but volunteer discussions occur upon the reports on the various enterprises as these come from committees.

The next meeting is to be held at Mexico, beginning October 18, 1897, and the annual sermon is to be preached by W. R. L. Smith, D. D.

add to the endowment fund, $79.22; balance on hand, $59.27. The amount of the endowment fund is $2,739.66, one-third of the receipts going to this fund, to be available for aid when necessary. After an address by S. H. Ford, LL. D., a number of life memberships and annual memberships were obtained, amounting to about $450. The meetings are always held in connection with those of the General Association.

The annual meeting of this body, of which J. P. Greene, D. D., Liberty, is president, was part of the exercises held at Cape Girardeau. The first address was by Rev. D. A. Bowman with references to the beginnings of Protestant church-life west of the Mississippi in the immediate vicinity of which the meeting was being held, it being the centennial of that event. Rev. R. S. Duncan presented a paper on the first Baptist settlement in the then Louisiana possessions of Spain. Prof. J. W. Million read a paper on Baptist laymen in Missouri, and J. C. Armstrong, D. D., made an address on the history of Missouri Baptists for the past one hundred years. The centennial exercises were not only instructive, but inspired to a new enthusiasm. The fifth annual convention was held at Harrisonville, July, 1896. The topics of special interest discussed were: "Secret Preparation for Service," by W. R. L. Smith, D. D.; "The Prophet and His Work," by J. B. Fuller, D. D.; and "Culture for Service," by J. C. Armstrong, D. D. There were a number of practical topics also discussed. The annual report stated that there were 275 societies in the State, with an approximate membership of 13,500. The societies pursuing the C. C. C. were 57. Money raised through the societies aggregated $2,600. There had been 33 new organizations effected during the year. The year had been pronounced the best of all in the history of the Union; co-operation and sympathy had been enlisted and many obstacles which had hindered progress had been removed.

The next convention is to be held at St. Joseph.

MONTANA.

There is one association in this State which is composed of 20 churches, with a membership of 1,014. There are 15 Sunday-schools with an enrollment of 1,407. The fourteenth annual session was held at Helena Oct. 1–4, 1896. S. A. Swygett, Helena, was moderator, and Rev. H. Van Engelen, Great Falls, was clerk. The progress of the work through the year was reported to be encouraging, the additions to the churches being in excess of any previous year. The twenty-ninth annual meeting was held at Grand Island, October 28 and November 1, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by H. O. Rowlands, D. D., from Judg. 18 : 24 and Mark 12 : 32.

There had been 37 missionary pastors aided, besides 4 State evangelists and 3 district missionaries employed. Through the summer 6 student missionaries had performed efficient work. Forty-eight churches and 25 out-stations had been supplied. The baptisms numbered 429, and 246 were received otherwise. Ten thousand three hundred and seventy-two religious visits had been made. An admirable state of co-operation exists with the Home Mission Society, as well as with the associations of the State. The organizations of women, Sunday-schools, young people, and the foreign-speaking churches all have been working together for the accomplishment of the one purpose of evangelization. The receipts were, $1,977.42 from mission collections and $4,744.49 from the Home Mission Society; other receipts brought up the whole amount available by the Board in its work $8,368.09, and $713.04 for chapel building funds. The appropriations to missionary work had been $6,313.51, the balance to new account was $217.80. A rather astonishing fact appears in the report, that the membership shows a net loss of about 2,000, inasmuch as 3,000 members of the churches had left the State during the year. The report was attended by the relation of personal experiences on the part of a number of missionary pastors, which was pronounced to be inspiring to missionary zeal. A number of laymen, representing the principal centers in the State, made addresses upon the enlargement of State evangelization, which proved to be an exceedingly interesting feature of the program.

The question of systematic beneficence, upon the plan formulated by the general societies, was discussed by W. N. Haigh, D. D., and a State commission to act in co-operation was determined upon and subsequently appointed.

A paper prepared by Rev. F. W. Foster on "The Standard, a Denominational Helper," was read. In considering foreign missions, an address was made by Miss Nora Yates, of the mission to Assam. Rev. N. B. Rairden, in representing home missions, made an address, illustrated by the stereopticon, on "A Trip to the Blanket Indians."

President Sutherland, in an address, presented the interests of Grand Island College. Eight thousand three hundred and ninety-two dollars had been received from all sources toward the expenses of the institution; there is needed $5,000 immediately for library purposes, and an ultimate endowment fund of $100,000. For statistics, reference should be made to our educational tables. Rev. C. C. Smith spoke on "The Value to Nebraska Baptists of a Denominational College"; Rev. W. L. Blanchard on "What the Denomination Should Do for the College in the Next Five Years"; and Hon. C. H. Thummel on 'What Grand Island Should Do for Its College."

The seventieth anniversary was held at Milford, October 20, 21, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. S. Gilbert, from 2 Cor. 5 : 20, on "Ambassadors for Christ."

The Board had made appropriations to 30 churches, aggregating $2,794.05. A French missionary had been sustained, conjointly with the Home Mission Society, at an expense of $440 to each; in his work a chapel had been erected, at a cost of $4,374. The receipts of the treasurer had been $12,304.71; of this the churches had contributed $2,597.47; two legacies had yielded $4,765.64; and the income from invested funds was $1,605.52. The permanent funds had been increased by $4,806.96, and they now amount to $27,340.64 par value, or $24,500.64 market value.

A strong committee was appointed representing each association in the line of the Commission on Systematic Beneficence, as suggested by the general societies. An address on "The Value of the Religious Press to the Denomination," was made by Geo. E. Horr, Jr., D. D. The interests of foreign missions were represented in an address by W. E. Witter, D. D., and the seminary at Newton, by Geo. Bullen, D. D.; a paper on the State work was read by Rev. A. W. Hand.

The Sixty-seventh anniversary was held with the First Church, Paterson, Oct. 27, 28, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by A. G. Lawson, D. D., from John 17 : 18, and 20 : 21, 22, on "The Gospel of God."

The annual report showed missionary work carried on in connection with 46 churches at 75 stations, and by 2 evangelists and the secretary. The receipts, including loans, had been $10,855.56, all of which had been expended. Of the attempt to raise a fund of $30,000 for church edifice erection, $6,368.93 had been paid; there was a deficit of $397.42 which, with the existing quarter's salaries, would bring this amount up to $1,734.52; the contributions from the churches had been $442.09 less than the year preceding; one church had become self-supporting. In considering the report addresses were made by J. C. Buchanan, D. D., in urging the completion of the church edifice fund, and Rev. H. A. Griesemer on "Our Responsibility to Evangelize New Jersey," subsequently the interests of the women's work were represented by Mrs. H. F. Smith, and the denominational interests in the State were spoken to by Rev. Joseph Sagebeer and Rev. W. W. Pratt; Rev. Judson Conklin spoke on "The Obligation of the Stronger Churches to the Weaker"; Rev. J. M. Hare on "Our Obligation to Give the Gospel"; Mr. D. G. Garrabrant on "The Undeveloped Financial Resources in the Churches"; and Rev. S. Z. Batten on "The Indifference of the Churches to the Lawlessness of the Times." In concluding the anniversaries, after brief addresses by missionary pastors, a sermon was preached by G. C. Lorimer, D. D., from Eph. 2 : 19, 20, on "Renewed Humanity the Habitation of God."

The fifty-sixth annual meeting was held at Paterson, Oct. 27, 1897. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. H. M. Lowry from Exod. 25 : 40.

The report of the secretary showed 24 young men now being aided in their studies and 29 had been aided to some extent for the year. Seven had graduated and entered upon pastorates. The treasurer reported balance from preceding year $441.40; received from churches, $2,899.91; from loan and interest, $2,037.50; total, $5,378.81. The disbursements were: Loans repaid, $1,250; interest and expense, $269.65; for aid to students, $2,883.93; balance to new account, $975.23.

The addresses were by Rev. C. H. Pendleton, on "Organizations Within the Church"; Prof. Henry C. Vedder, on "The Theological Seminary"; and Hon. E. A. Armstrong. Measures for removing the indebtedness upon the Society were taken by the appointment of a committee to devise ways and means.

The next meeting is to be held in connection with that of the State Convention, in Oct., 1897, and the annual sermon was appointed to be preached by Rev. C. H. Dodd.

At the annual meeting, which was held at Burlington, May 14, 15, 1896, there were reported 203 societies in the State, composed of 10,848 seniors and 2,459 juniors, a total membership of 13,308; this was a gain of 851 seniors and 627 juniors, total 1,478. There were no financial statistics as no money is asked for to come through this channel; all benevolence is encouraged through the existing enterprises by way of the local churches. The next anniversary is to be arranged for by the Executive Committee.

The whole territory is missionary ground. There have been two associations, but one of them seems to have dissolved. There are long distances between the churches, 13 in number, which prevent practical co-operation. The churches reported 36 baptisms in 1896. There are certain interests in the territory which are fostered by the Home Mission Society, and which are included in the statistics of that body. Of the Lincoln Association, Rev. G. W. The eighty-ninth annual meeting was held at Syracuse, Oct. 20-28, 1896. There were 363 persons enrolled, of whom 107 were annual members, 114 delegates of churches, 11 life members, and 50 of the missionary committee. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. C. Dixon, from John 12 : 32 and Rev. 5 : 12.

There had been employed 130 missionaries, who had served 567 churches and out-stations, rendered 5,177 weeks of service, preached 14,142 sermons, held 10,195 prayer meetings, made 33,813 religious visits, and baptized 1,300 persons. The treasurer reported receipts for the general fund, $22,373.82; for the church building fund, $21,081.23; in addition, $7,000 is about to be received on account of two legacies. There had been expended for salaries of missionaries and other expenses, $25,973.82; and for church building fund and other work, $26,160.90; the permanent fund now amounts to $36,500, some of which are contributions subject to annuities.

Following the report a symposium by missionaries was had, Rev. H. A. Pease speaking on "The Equipment of Pastors for Rural Churches"; Rev. W. D. Lukens, on "Development of Church Life in Rural Churches"; Rev. D. S. Toy, on "Important New Fields for Missionary Work"; Rev. C. M. Tower, on "Missionary Services in Uniting Churches in Support of Pastors"; and a paper was read by Rev. C. M. Jones, on "Financial Possibilities in Rural Fields." The plans proposed by the national societies on systematic beneficence were outlined and discussed by T. J. Morgan, D. D., upon which subject addresses were made by F. M. Ellis, D. D., Prof. Arthur Jones, and J. W. A. Stewart, D. D.

The educational report was simply a review of the condition of the various institutions in the State, which was in the main satisfactory, with the possible exception of pressing needs financially, and the general outlook was pronounced to be especially bright. The addresses were by Rev. T. F. Chambers, on "Christian Culture Courses"; Prof. J. P. Silvernail, on "The Expressional Element in Educational Training"; and Prof. Ralph W. Thomas, on "University Extension." In considering the work of Sunday-schools and young people the report stated that there were nearly 800 societies of young people in the State, and that special attention ought to be given to those young men and women who manifest special aptitude for evangelistic work. We are at the time that this goes to press without the desirable statistics usually furnished in this report. Addresses were made by Rev. F. H. Cooper, Rev. J. N. Field, Mrs. C. E. Nichols, and Rev. H. W. Sherwood. There were also the usual reports on home and foreign missions. A Commission on Systematic Beneficence was appointed. The termination of the tenth year of service as secretary was appropriately noted by a valuable testimonial presented to Rev. H. W. Barnes. There were interesting sessions of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies, but no statistics of their work are given.

The next meeting is to be held at Buffalo, beginning Oct. 19, 1897, the arrangements to be perfected by the executive committee.

The seventy-ninth annual meeting was held in the First Church, Hamilton, June 16, 1896. L. E. Gurley, the vice-president, in the chair. In addition to the presentation of the usual reports and the election of officers, there were addresses made by Rev. C. H. Watson, of Mass., on "The Protestant Emphasis upon the Minister's Personality," and by W. C. Bitting, D. D., of New York City, on "The Professional Aspect of the Ministry."

The treasurer's report shows the society's permanent funds to be $80,830.33, including $6,000 from legacies received during the year; receipts on the current expense account, $11,038.22; expenditures, including deficiency of $1,689.93 on last year's account, $15,092.89, thus leaving a total deficit of $4,054.67. President Colgate offers to pay one-third of the debt, provided that the balance is secured by January 1, 1897.

In the report of the corresponding secretary, it is stated that the beneficiary work has been prosecuted with increasing care and thoroughness, that while there has been a diminution in the number of students under the Society's care, the character, the work, and the promise of the body as a whole have certainly improved, and the sum total of wastage from all causes has been encouragingly small. This good showing is attributed in large measure to the rejection at the beginning of all doubtful cases, to the rigid holding of all to the higher standards of class-room work recently adopted, and to more thorough and closer personal oversight of the young brethren. The year's list comprises 109 students.

The reports of the faculty and the catalogues give the total enrollment of students as 344, representing 10 different colleges and 36 States and countries.

Six courses of lectures were delivered before the seminary: I. The Brooks Course on the Relations of Science and Religion, by Professor A. J. Dubois, Ph. D., of Yale University, on "Science and Miracles," and "Science and the Supernatural." II. Lectures on Pastoral Experience, by John Humpstone, D. D., Brooklyn, on (1) "Manhood in the Ministry"; (2) "The Minister as a Man of Letters"; (3) "The Minister as a Man of Affairs"; (4) "The Minister as a Man of God." III. By Halsey Moore, D. The forty-fifth annual meeting was held in the Second Church, Rochester, May 14, 1896. In addition to routine business arising from consideration of the reports, there were addresses by President A. W. Sawyer, D. D., Nova Scotia; President J. F. Cook, LL.D., Missouri, and President A. B. Chaffee, D. D., Iowa.

There had been 80 matriculates in the seminary from 27 colleges and universities and six divinity schools, representing 28 States and eight foreign lands. In addition to these there were 61 enrolled in the German Department, making 141 students in all. The whole number of beneficiaries was 171, of which 74 were in the English and 56 in the German Departments of the seminary, 25 in the University of Rochester, and 16 in preparatory institutions. The expenditure for seminary students had been $8,825; university students, $2,455; academy students, $777; by the German Department, $4,768; a grand total of $16,825 for beneficiary education.

The financial question continues to be a matter of anxiety, but instances of heroic self-sacrifice on part of churches and pastors are not wanting; 147 churches and 45 Sunday-schools had contributed; 45 students had returned means expended in their behalf, 69 individual gifts are recorded, and 7 societies of young people and two of women had rendered aid. From all these sources $6,728.42 had been received, which is $728 more than the previous year. There is in process an undertaking looking toward an endowment of $100,000 for the German Department, which would relieve the embarrassment if successfully accomplished. There is pressing need of new buildings for the comfortable accommodation of both students and professors.

The permanent funds were reported to consist of eight specific foundations, aggregating $604,200.65. These are in real estate mortgages, $477,503.24; personal bonds and notes, $10,600; corporation bonds, $23,000; real estate, $83,728.03; and cash, $9,369.38. The value of the buildings, including the gymnasium and president's house, is $105,327.05; of books in the library, $71,711.12; and of biblical museum, $1,306.33; the President's Loan Fund is $1,727.05. There are cash balances to the credit of various funds aggregating $2,815.02; so that the total property amounts to $787,087.22. Against this is an indebtedness of $20,000, which is an increase during the previous year of $10,500.

The year's statement showed receipts from all sources of $139,810.17; of this, $63,903.66 were payments on mortgages which became due; the income of the invested funds was $30,120.22; from the loan fund, $2,050; and there were $3,000 given for specific purposes by individuals. In the disbursements there were paid cash to students, $12,057; on salaries of professors, $25,600; for library and reading-room, $3,154.95; Trevor lectures, $362.57; current expenses, all charges, $9,945.15; loaned to students, $2,070; paid on president's house, $20,992.18; securities bought for reinvestment account, $52,050.87; the cash balances on hand amount to $13,576.45.

The printed report contains the detailed reports of the president and professors of the Seminary at Rochester, and also an engraving of the Rockefeller Hall. The annual meetings are always held in Rochester, in the month of May, and the arrangements are made by the Executive Committee.

The sixty-sixth anniversary was held at Morganton, November 11-15, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Richardson, from Heb. 13 : 8, on "The Unchanging Christ."

There had been employed 98 missionaries, who preached 9,603 sermons; supplied 196 churches and 188 out-stations; made 14,820 religious visits; baptized 1,036 persons; added otherwise 589; held 199 protracted meetings, at which 1,550 conversions were reported; organized 27 churches; distributed 958 Bibles and Testaments, and 5,494 pages of tracts; 95 churches are in process of erection. Part of this work is co-operative with the colored Baptists; there had been 4 general missionaries among these people who had, in addition to many evangelistic labors, held 96 institutes and visited 288 churches. The treasurer's report shows receipts for State missions, $9,461.44; foreign missions, $7,158.61; home missions, $4,351.31; education, $2,765.95; orphanage, $1,356.08; ministerial relief, $657.78. Receipts for all purposes, $60,626.38, and $80,064.62 had been spent in church erection.

There had been aided 36 young ministers by the Board of Education, 10 of whom had graduated during the year. A debt confronted the Board at the close of the session, and in consequence of this the present list contains only the names of 24, and other applications will be favorably considered if the contributions appear to justify it. The indebtedness of the Board had been reduced to $300. Including loans, there had been received $3,242.43, and the expense of the work had been $3,226.90. The trustees of Wake Forest College reported a flourishing condition of affairs in that institution, with 245 registered students at the time of the meeting of the convention, of whom 57 were preparing for the ministry. A new department of Bible study had been introduced. A new school of law had been established and gave evidence of gratifying success. The convention is also interested in the establishment of a female college at Raleigh, the building for which is now in process of erection, and is progressing as the funds in hand will warrant; for its completion there is needed $10,000. By this plan the work is not endangered by debt, but carried on as the funds permit. It is confidently hoped that by another year it will be brought to completion; the report on that subject suggests plans which, if carried out, will accomplish this result.

In Sunday-school and colportage work there is maintained in Raleigh an office for supplies, with facilities for the sale of books and other literature, which was reported to be upon a firmer basis than ever before; reported assets over liabilities, $1,313.23. The lack of funds for the purpose has interfered with general work in colportage under the Board. A Sunday-school missionary has been in the field constantly, and a number of institutes have been held with valuable results. In ministerial relief 13 beneficiaries has been aided; the receipts had been $635, and the permanent fund now amounts to $1,250. The Board reported the prospects of large increase during the coming year.

The report of the Women's Central Committee showed 48 societies organized; a large quantity of literature distributed; and contributions raised for foreign missions, $2,215.75; home missions, $967.71; State missions, $615.53; orphanage, $140.10, and smaller items bringing the total for all purposes to $3,967.94. The women held an annual meeting in connection with the convention, at which very full reports were presented and practical topics discussed, together with addresses from W. H. Whitsitt, D. D., R. J. Willingham, D. D., and Rev. J. E. White, with reference to the relationship which women bear to the special interests they represented.

The general subjects of home and foreign missions and kindred topics were presented in reports which gave rise to interesting discussions, and were attended by addresses by the representatives of the general denominational interests. The next convention is to be held at Oxford, beginning Thursday, December 9, 1897, and A. C. Barron, D. D., was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The third annual meeting was held at Morganton, November 10, 11, 1896. The executive committee reported large work in creating sentiment in favor of the cause, and while the results have not been very great they were encouraging. It was difficult to obtain correct statistics; societies were reported only at 28 points, but this is known to be only a partial list. The report strongly urged the adoption of the Christian Culture Courses. The principal address was by Rev. John D. Jordan on "Something to be Emphasized in our Young People's Work." The program consisted of discussions of topics of general interest, principally on the Purpose of Young People's Societies, and the Relation of Young People to the World in which we live, to the Pastors, and to their respective Churches.

The fortieth annual meeting was held at Brevard, October 28, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. S. S. Gibson, from Luke 12 : 32.

There had been 10 missionaries employed, who had rendered 1,896 days of service; traveled 12,467 miles; delivered 1,886 sermons and addresses; made 2,248 religious visits; held 243 prayer meetings; reported 443 conversions, and 240 baptisms. There had been expended for conventional missions $1,442, and about $600 for home missions under the management of the Southern Convention; but there is co-operation between the Home and the Sunday-school Boards of the Southern Convention. Much attention had been paid to evangelization in large territories where religious destitution prevails to an alarming extent. The influence of this body is visible in the emerging of a number of associations from a practically anti-mission spirit which had prevailed up to within recent years.

The women in the bounds of this Convention are admirably organized; the number of organizations of women is now 58, but reports were not in hand from some of these; their contributions for all purposes aggregated $761.94; there had been 33 societies organized during the year.

In addition to the usual reports on home and foreign missions, the work of the convention, temperance, and periodicals, the only noticeable matter was a proposition to the State Convention for better methods of co-operative work in the State, by which the autonomy of the Western Convention is to be recognized and certain points of friction now existing to be alleviated in the future. It is hoped that this Convention will in the future include all of the associations west of the mountain range, and be encouraged to more efficient work as growing out of their evident unity of interest.

The next meeting is to be held at Waynesville, beginning October 27, 1897, and the convention sermon is to be preached by Rev. T. Bright.

The thirteenth anniversary was held at Grand Forks, July 9–12, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. G. C. McClure, from 1 Sam. 17 : 47, on "Encouragement, based on Confidence in Divine Promise."

The work in this State is through direct co-operation with the Home Mission Society, which had been compelled to decrease its appropriations for the year. There had been 30 missionaries who supplied 35 churches and 21 out-stations; rendered 1,089 weeks of labor; preached 3,329 sermons; held 3,084 prayer meetings; made 5,264 religious visits; distributed 160 Bibles and 17,017 pages of tracts; baptized 126 persons, and received otherwise, 96; the total membership in the mission churches was 1,076, and their contributions had been $1,056.28 for missions, and $257.35 for other benevolence; several new and promising fields had been opened and three new churches organized. Much activity was noted among the Norwegians and Germans, and an association of these latter had been formed during the year. There is a general missionary among the Norwegians, of which nationality there are ten churches, aggregating 270 members, which reported 88 baptisms. Not all of these are connected with the Norwegian Conference. The treasurer reported receipts from the field, $1,038, all of which had been expended save a balance on hand of $132.25. It was resolved to increase the contributions from the field to $1,200 the coming year.

Under the Publication Society a Sunday-school missionary had operated, traveling 12,397 miles, distributing 333 copies of Scripture, 298 religious books, and 10,153 pages of tracts. He made 155 addresses, visited 165 families, and organized 4 Sunday-schools. His report contains the details of the Sunday-school work accomplished by the churches, which are incorporated in our statistical tables.

The attention of the body was principally devoted to the business of State evangelization. All of the missionary fields were, in succession, made the subjects of addresses or brief statements, and there were more elaborate addresses by Rev. W. L. Van Horn, on "Our Field and Our Obligation"; O. A. Williams, D. D., on "The Relation of Length of the Pastorate to the Growth of the Church"; J. W. Conley, D. D., on "The Pastor Striving to Render Himself Useless"; Rev. H. M. Cook, on "Winning the Young People"; Rev. J. A. Davies on "Pastoral Visitation"; three addresses on the Scandinavian work by Rev. H. A. Sather, Rev. J. B. Sundt, and Rev. T. O. Wold; Rev. C. H. Brooks and Rev. L. B. Hardy, on the features of the Sunday-school work; all closing with a sermon by O. A. Williams, D. D., from Deut. 22 : 8.

The claims of Home and Foreign Missions were presented in reports which were attended by addresses by the representatives of those interests. There was an interesting meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Societies at which addresses were made by Mrs. W. W. Campbell, of the Indian mission, and Miss Elena Olson, a missionary among the Swedes; and reports were made which are not included in the published proceedings.

The seventy-fifth anniversary was held at Toledo, October 21, 22, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. F. Taylor, from Luke 16 : 5.

There had been 15 churches aided the entire year in support of pastors for all-time service; 6 for part of the year in the same service; and for part time service 3 churches had helped throughout the year, and 7 for part of the work; there had been also appropriations for 3 churches in their pulpit supplies; in all 32 churches had been aided, 2 of which will be self-supporting in the future. A general missionary had been employed who had labored in 31 places, held 532 meetings, preached 270 sermons, made 64 addresses, made 759 religious visits, traveled 9,744 miles, and baptized 11 persons. For a portion of the year there had also been a missionary among the colored churches. While the Board had no fund set apart for church edifice purposes, there had been 6 churches helped in this department. In most of the important cities local missionary work under their own direction had been pursued with considerable outlay, and a few of the associations had expended amounts for missionary labors within their their own bounds; including all of these organizations $26,768.10 had been expended in missionary effort. The Convention raising $8,614.63; the Cincinnati Union $995.48; the Cleveland Union $10,008; the Dayton Union $1,287; and the Toledo Union $495.24. The active work of the Board seems to have been to foster weak interests, assisting in the maintenance of stated pastoral supplies, and thus encouraging them to that growth which will result in self-support. The treasurer reported in the general fund $7,103.16, and expenditures $6,539.97. There were in the hands of the secretary $1,164.68, with orders still to be paid and due amounting to $2,200, so that a deficit of $482.13 was reported.

Much attention was given to the proposed Commission on Systematic Beneficence suggested by the general associations, addresses being made on this topic by T. J. Morgan, D. D., and Mrs. E. H. Griffith, representing the Women's Foreign Missionary Society; it was decided to formulate a plan of action, and appoint a commission on this subject. In this same spirit a discussion on systematic giving was had, touching upon plans and hindrances: (1) "In the City Church," by H. F. Colly, D. D.; (2) "In the Village or Country Church," by Rev. A. G. Sargeant. A general discussion followed which was pronounced interesting and profitable. In further consideration of the work of the body there were addresses by Rev. G. R. Robbins, on "Loyalty, and Baptist Missions"; T. J. Kirkpatrick, on "Our Work for the Churches of To-morrow"; and C. J. Baldwin, D. D., on "Christ, the Model Teacher." Extended reports on the work of the general societies, including the women's work, and the Ministers' Aid Society, were presented and attended by addresses of interest by their representatives. A woman's hour also was observed during the session, in which special attention was paid to home mission effort among them. The committee on obituaries made mention of the departure of 15 friends of the convention.

The next meeting is to be held at Washington Court House, beginning October 20, 1897, and the annual sermon is to be preached by Rev. W. G. Partridge.

The sixty-fifth anniversary was held at Toledo, October 20, 1896. The opening address by the president was on the theme "The New Preacher."

There had been 45 students enrolled as beneficiaries; 3 at Rochester, 1 at Louisville, 19 at Granville, and 22 at Doane Academy; this is the smallest list for years. Collection receipts had fallen off, so that the expenses exceeded the income. A legacy enabled the Board to begin the year without debt. The churches had contributed $2,072, which is a falling off of $800 from the preceding year. From other sources, including interest, there had been received $771, making a total of $2,844. There had been paid to students in college $1,501, in the academy $1,089, and in seminaries $185; salaries and other expenses made the total disbursement $3,983, showing a deficit of $1,138. The Permanent Fund is now but $9,828; the failure of a bank in which a portion of this fund was invested occasioning a loss of $2,522.

In considering the report addresses were made by Rev. E. H. Wheeler on "A Prepared Ministry"; Prof. C. L. Williams on "Education—Three Stories High"; and Prof. G. B. Foster, of Chicago University, on "The Possibility and the Right of a Scientific Theology." The next meeting is to be held at Washington Court House, in connection with that of the State Convention.

The fifth annual meeting was held at Toledo, October 22, 1896. The statistical report showed 263 societies, of which 88 were newly organized; these comprised 8,919 active, 1,689 associate, and 418 honorary members; 705 were engaged in the Christian Culture work; there were 100 junior societies, with 1,798 members. This indicates a most gratifying increase, both in membership and in the practical work of the organization. The exercises of the annual meeting were practical, embracing points of interest in the internal workings of the societies. The annual meetings are held in conjunction with those of the State Convention.

OKLAHOMA TERRITORY.

Reference should be had to the review of the Missionary and Educational Convention under the head of the Indian Territory, as this embraces both Indian and Oklahoma Territories. A convention for Oklahoma was called during the year, but we have no facts and figures. An organization was effected, but it does not embrace all of the churches in the territory. The process of organizing permanent religious interests in this newly settled region is necessarily slow; there are a few weak churches, and the distances between them is so large that these associations must be small, and consequently ineffective. It is hoped that by another year the work will be in such permanent shape as to present intelligent reports of its progress.

The eleventh annual session was held at Salem, in October, 1896.

There had been 19 missionaries under appointment in 26 churches and 17 out-stations, who had given 954 weeks to the work; preached 2,747 sermons; held 1,204 prayer meetings; made 5,352 religious visits; baptized 259 persons; organized 7 churches and Sunday-schools; and distributed 22,149 pages of tracts; besides collecting for the Convention's work $761.06, other benevolence $435.05, and Home Extension $5,230.80. The general missionary had visited 54 churches; delivered 177 sermons and 27 addresses; held 50 prayer meetings; made 136 religious visits; traveled 17,547 miles; aided in 8 protracted meetings; and secured about $1,300 for the work. Three of the missionaries had served within the bounds of certain associations as evangelists. The cost of the mission work had been $6,374.75, of which $6,149.43 was paid to missionaries; two-thirds of this amount coming from the Home Mission Society, and the balance being secured by the churches on the field. There had been a preceding indebtedness of $2,006.48. The treasurer had received from the field $2,172.39, with subscriptions and cash in hand $1,652.48 was the amount to be provided for.

In co-operation with this Convention there are 97 churches, with a membership of 6,321; of these 6 are not in associational relations. There are 5 German and 3 Swedish churches; 727 have meeting-houses. During the conventional year there had been a net gain in members of 442, and 405 baptisms, 259 having been baptized into the mission churches.

Special attention was given to educational work in an address by President Boardman, of McMinnville College, which is the principal educational interest of the body. An address reviewing the 50 years of work on the Pacific Coast was made by Rev. C. A. Woody. The other matters occupying the attention of the body were routine and local.

The annual meeting for 1896 was held at Salem, in October, 1896. There were 21 societies represented by 75 delegates.

The statistical secretary reported 26 societies, with 657 active members, and 124 associate members, a total of 781. From these societies there had been contributed: for foreign missions, $127.51; State missions, $245.52; benevolence, $351.55; and local expenses, $140.16; a total of $864.74. The work among the young people had grown steadily during the year, and the prospects for the future were very bright. The roll-call of societies showed a general increase of activity throughout the entire State. An effort had been made to sustain a young woman in the Missionary Training School at Chicago, entirely by these societies.

The principal papers and addresses were by Vivian E. Rowton, on "The Foreign Mission Work"; Frank Holman on "Reaching the Young People Within the Church"; E. A. The sixty-ninth anniversary was held at Reading, Oct. 19, 20, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by W. A. Stanton, D. D., from 1 Peter 1 : 11.

There had been in commission 63 missionaries, for the whole, or portions of the year, who had preached 5,738 sermons; held 4,582 other meetings; made 16,329 religious visits; baptized 553 persons; and supplied 109 churches and out-stations. The number of missionary churches aided by the Board was 61. The year began with a debt of $1,709.44, which had been liquidated, but the year closed with another indebtedness of $670.90. An appeal had been made for enlargement of the building loan fund, which it is hoped will meet with response during the year to come. The $500 now existing for this purpose had been utilized in securing to two churches their excellent properties. The receipts for the whole work had been $19,102.30, and there had been disbursed $18,573.20, leaving a balance of $529.10, against which is to be reckoned the debt above referred to. The consideration of the annual report was attended by an address by Prof. W. E. Martin, who was followed by brief addresses by missionaries occupying the fields, and with an address by Rev. J. W. Weddell, on "The Local Church as a Factor in Church Missions."

The question of the Commission on Systematic Beneficence, as suggested by the general societies, was presented and urged in two addresses by B. F. Dennisson and H. K. Porter. It was determined to create such a commission for the State, to act in conjunction with the National Commission. The remaining portion of the time was occupied in the transaction of routine business.

The next meeting is to be held October 18–21, 1897, the place to be designated by the Board, and the annual sermon is to be preached by John Gordon, D. D.

The fifty-seventh annual meeting was held at Reading, October 21, 22, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by J. S. James, D. D., from Acts 4 : 8, 13, and 2 Tim. 2 : 2, on "The Relation of Culture to the Holy Spirit."

The register of students for the year contained 87 names; of these 14 were in the theological seminary, 52 in colleges, 15 in academies, and 6 were special appointments. Of these 16 had completed their courses of education, 2 had resigned, and 6 had terminated their relation with the Board for various reasons; deducting these changes 64 were aided during the entire scholastic year, and 16 new applicants had been received, waiting for financial development to enter their work of preparation.

The statement of the treasurer shows as permanent investments $28,000. The receipts from associations, churches, and individuals, had been $10,895.49; the expenditures for the year were $12,385.78, of which $8,860.63 had been appropriated to students preparing for the ministry. The overdraft of the preceding year was $1,981.20, making the total liabilities $14,366.98; deducting the receipts in hand, the overdraft at this anniversary amounted to $3,471.49, which was met in part by the transference of $2,000 temporarily from the Permanent Investment Fund. The Society has in addition to its permanent fund certain scholarships, which are available for use in sundry institutions, which would make the permanent funds $40,788.

The principal addresses were by President J. H. Harris, on "The Present Adaptation of the University to the Growth and Needs of the Society"; Rev. Henry C. Vedder on "Ministerial Training in its Relation to Evangelistic Work"; and the interests of the women's work in home and foreign missions as related to education, delivered by representatives of these societies.

The place of the next meeeting was referred to the Board of Managers, and Rev. James A. Maxwell was appointed to preach the annual sermon. The meetings of this society are usually held in connection with those of the State Mission Society.

The tenth annual meeting was held at Williamsport, May 6, 7, 1896. The receipts of the treasurer for the year had been: for the general fund, $8,283.90; for the expense fund, $2,086.63; a total of $10,370.53. A footnote states that $1,369.21 had been sent directly to the parent society at Boston, making for the general fund $9,653.21. The number of circles was reported to be 313, with 44 societies of young women, and 87 children's bands. The printed proceedings contain elaborate reports by associations of the work possible of accomplishment through this instrumentality.

The exercises embraced a number of practical topics concerning the duties and work of the officers of local societies, and topics of similar nature; a symposium on China; and appropriate notices of the departure of a number of active workers in the cause who had passed away during the year.

The next anniversary is to be arranged for by the Board of Directors, and duly announced through the denominational press.

The fifty-sixth anniversary was held in the Second Church, Newport, June 10, 1896.

There were reported in the State 83 Sunday-schools, with 1,634 officers and teachers, and 13,160 pupils. There are 6,221 church-members connected with the schools —5,266 over 15 years of age; 275 baptisms, and 99 deaths. There were 9 schools reporting an average attendance of over 200; the largest school reporting 697 members. There were 4 schools not reported, which if still existing, would make 87 schools and 131 additional pupils to those reported above.

The annual essay was on "The Importance of Early Conversion," by Rev. H. W. Watjen, and is published in the printed proceedings. Addresses were made by Rev. C. H. Spalding, on "A Crop of Timothy"; Rev. E. D. Burr, on "The Book and the Building"; and Rev. Courtland Myers, N. Y., on "The King's Business." In addition there were interesting exercises of a practical character, notably an address on primary schools, by Miss Bertha F. Vellar, who also spoke on "The Teacher's Equipment."

The treasurer reported contributions from schools, $254.24; cash balance, $91; interest, $2.15; total, $347.39. The disbursements were for printing, expenses of speakers, singers, etc., leaving cash balance on hand, $101.53. There is a mission fund account, showing cash on hand, $84.34.

The next meeting is to be held at Woonsocket, Wednesday, June 2, 1897, and Rev. J. K. Ewer was appointed to prepare the annual essay.

The seventy-sixth annual meeting was held with the Citadel Square church, Charleston, December 2–6, 1896. There were 141 delegates, representing 25 associations. The annual sermon was preached by C. S. Gardner, D. D., from 1 John 1 : 1–3.

There had been employed during the year 69 missionaries and colporters, who had occupied 107 stations, traveled 54,670 miles, worked 6,490 days, delivered 4,043 sermons and addresses, held 1,247 prayer meetings, made 16,128 religious visits, baptized 508 persons, and received otherwise 532; organized 4 churches and built 4 meeting-houses. They also organized 30 Sunday-schools. The membership of mission churches was 3,734; their Sunday-schools were 114 in number, with 5,116 teachers and pupils. Co-operation in work among the colored population, with the Home Mission Society and Southern Baptist Convention had been commenced, and the outlook was encouraging. Of the missionaries employed, 60 were pastors of weak churches, 5 were colporters, 3 were colored missionaries, and a lady missionary was also sustained. In colportage work the sales amounted to 3,130 books of a value of $1,657.87; there were donated to poor families 327 Bibles and Testaments valued at $55.22. The total receipts for the work had been $9,924.47, and the expenditures $11,147.53, the difference being made up by a loan from the colportage fund. The claims upon State mission work are increasing rather than diminishing; the introduction of new cotton mills has brought together large quantities of operatives in new places; it is estimated that 46,000 persons are so engaged at this time.

The Connie Maxwell Orphanage reported the completion of a new and beautiful cottage, the gift of one of its friends; 45 children had been received, 19 had gone out, and 1 had died; there were 100 in the home at the time of the report. The receipts in cash and provisions had been $8,995. The four buildings are fully up to the requirements of the time, and the institution lies very close to the hearts of the people.

In educational matters 12 students at the Theological Seminary and 13 at Furman University had received aid, for which $1,300 had been expended. The university reported an increased attendance over previous years. The Greenville Female College is part of the university. At this department the increase of patronage demands additional quarters for boarding accommodation. There had been $5,121 subscribed for annual expense in rearranging and beautifying the grounds.

Another admirable beneficence is the care of aged and indigent ministers. The absence of the printed minutes at this writing prevents our giving the amount raised and expended; the receipts were in advance of the previous year; 17 ministers were receiving aid and five had died during the year.

In the consideration of the various departments of denominational work there were addresses by F. H. Kerfoot, D. D., representing the Seminary at Louisville, J. N. Frost, D. D., and R. J. Willingham, D. D., of the Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention, B. L. Whitman, D. D., of Columbian College, President F. W. Boatwright, of Richmond College, besides those of the chairmen of committees in the presentation of their reports. Much attention is given in this Convention to appropriate honors to the dead, a session being held on the afternoon of the Sabbath for a memorial of 13 ministers who had passed away.

The next session is to be held at Rock Hill, commencing on Wednesday, December 1, 1897, and the annual sermon is to be preached by D. M. Ramsey, D. D.

The tenth annual meeting was held at Charleston, December 2, 1896. A prevailing storm much interrupted the proceedings so that the sermon was postponed and the only exercises were the discussion of a paper by J. W. Perry, D. D., on "The Fatherhood of God," and the question, "Is the Policy pursued by the State of giving Free Tuition in her Institutions of Higher Learning just to all Classes of her Citizens?" the principal address being by Hon. R. B. Watson. At a subsequent time a paper on "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit," was read by Rev. H. C. Bucholtz. The meetings are held in connection with those of the State Convention.

The fifteenth anniversary was held at Huron, Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. D. C. Smith, on "The Greatest Scheme on Earth: Redemption."

The report refers to the still prevailing financial depression, with a larger number of applications for aid than ever before, and 7 of the mission stations asking for aid. The large debt on the Home Mission Society adds to the discouragement of the financial outlook. Appreciation of the efforts of the churches to raise the $2,000 apportioned to them is expressed, for not a single church refused to raise its allotted sum. The work is in connection with that of the Home Mission Society, and by this conjoint arrangement 40 missionaries had been actively engaged; these had supplied 52 churches and 47 out-stations; rendered 1,470 weeks of labor; preached 4,609 sermons; held 2,007 prayer meetings; made 9,426 religious visits; distributed 113 Bibles, and 17,612 pages of tracts; baptized 219 persons and received 118 otherwise. The churches aided contributed for local missions, $235.82; State missions, $908.30; home missions, $85.86; and for other benevolence, $767.55. Three new churches had been formed and two houses of worship dedicated; there are now 106 churches in the State, of which 13 are Scandinavian, and a membership of nearly 6,000. The Sunday-school missionary reported the existence of 100 Sunday-schools, with 728 teachers and 5,267 pupils. This work is to be pressed through the coming year, and a series of Sunday-school institutes is to be held.

In addition to addresses by representatives of the general societies, Rev. R. N. Van Doren spoke on "Doctrinal Literature"; Rev. A. C. Keene, on "Improved Methods of Sunday-school Work"; F. D. Hall, on "The Home Department of the Sunday-school"; Prof. J. W. Montcrief, on "Education"; and Rev. A. R. Button, on "Self-support Our Ultimatum." Attention was given to the woman's work, and to the Baptist Young People's Union; in connection with the latter an address was made by Rev. D. C. Smith, on "Young People and Evangelistic Work."

The Sioux Falls University is the educational interest for this State; a detailed report of its work was presented and addresses made describing its possibilities for diffusing knowledge and setting forth its financial difficulties; the discussion on education emphasized the worth of the institution. Extended reports on home and foreign missions were attended by admirable addresses; the contributions for foreign missions had amounted to $764.00 for the year. Attention was given to the German and Scandinavian work, which is very large in this State. Steps were taken for the establishment of an aged ministers' home, to include the adjoining States and Oklahoma and the Indian Territory; a commission was appointed to confer with the conventions of the States interested.

The next session is to be held at Sioux Falls, beginning Thursday, October 7, 1897.

mon was preached by R. R. Acree, D. D., from Isa. 52 : 1.

The missionaries employed for the year were 53; they labored 8,960 days; supplied 250 stations; traveled 91,413 miles; preached 4,759 sermons, and made 2,537 addresses; organized 40 churches with a constituency of 757; baptized 845, and received otherwise 617; organized 71 new prayer meetings and 43 Sunday-schools; made 12,456 religious visits; and distributed 129,755 pages of tracts. There had been 12 new houses built under supervision of the missionaries, and 23 others repaired, at a cost of $13,000. The stations supplied were: 48 in East Tennessee, 43 in Middle Tennessee, and 40 in West Tennessee; 129 were occupied by colored missionaries, 20 in cities, 76 in villages, and 154 in country fields; 8 of the aided churches had become self-sustaining.

The Sunday-school and Colportage Board reported 20 under its control, who had labored 851 days; visited 18,752 families; preached 1,221 sermons; delivered 657 addresses and 342 Sunday-school addresses; held 267 prayer meetings and 9 Sunday-school conventions; organized 44 schools and 9 churches; and baptized 160 persons. They had sold 1,447, and donated 378, Bibles; sold 4,671, and donated 810, Testaments; and sold 3,233, and donated 403, religious books. The value of sales was $2,949.43, and of donations, $349.20. The report states that the gospel had been carried into 20,000 homes, many of which had never before been entered, and one out of twelve had not so much as a copy of the word of God.

The report of the treasurer shows receipts as follows: State missions, $7,805.01; foreign missions, $5,746.87; home missions, $4,247.59; Sunday-schools and colportage, $3,025.52; orphanage, $4,382.15; ministerial education, $1,608.76; ministerial relief, $121.64; total, $26,937.54. In the above are included $2,100 contributed for State work by the home board of the Southern Convention.

The relations of the Board of State Missions and Sunday-schools and Colportage, occupied the attention of the Convention, upon a question which subsequently prevailed, regarding their consolidation; the result of the protracted discussion was a harmonious agreement that both works should be entrusted to a single Board.

The two institutions of learning fostered by the Convention, located in the eastern and western portions of the State, reported to the body; there were 45 students for the ministry in Carson-Newman College; 74 at the Southwestern University; and 17 at the Theological Seminary, 61 of whom had received aid.

The Baptist Orphans' Home is part of the organic work of the body; there was reported receipts amounting to $4,314.84. A very admirable building had been secured, and 31 orphans had been sustained during the year. Some complaint was made that of $6,000 secured in pledges, only about two-thirds had been cashed. Certain restrictions, which operated to the detriment of the full active work of the Board were removed, and the outlook is more encouraging.

Other items of interest were, the discussion of the work of the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Convention, which is located in this State, and whose work was represented in an address by J. M. Frost, D. D.; the discussions on the various enterprises of the Convention, in which the Theological Seminary was represented by F. H. Kerfoot, D. D.; Foreign Missions, by R. J. Willingham, D. D., and W. D. Powell, D. D.; and Home Missions, by I. T. Tichenor, D. D., and Rev. A. J. Diaz; Publication work, by W. C. Luther, D. D.; the Young People's work was represented in a report, and an address by G. A. Lofton, D. D.; and the work of the women by an address by J. B. Gambrell, D. D. The other exercises were of a routine character.

This body was organized at Chattanooga, Sept. 4, 5, 1896. It being the first attempt to organize a State union the attendance was comparatively small, and this was partly due to the prevailing stringency of the times, and the inauspicious date at which the meeting was held, since young people were just beginning school duties, or were engrossed in business cares incident to the season. A constitution was adopted, which provides that the State union shall do its work through existing denominational institutions, without defining which; but the general understanding, which was so expressed, is that this body will affiliate with the Southern Union. The themes discussed were: "The Young People's Movement, and Its Denominational Aspects," by J. M. Frost, D. D.; "The Movement in the Light of the Bible," by Rev. R. L. Motley; "Its Importance to Baptists," by Rev. J. O. Rust;

The ninth anniversary was held at Nashville, July 14–19, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. D. Hurt, from Josh. 13 : 1.

At various times five missionaries had been commissioned by the Board, and their work was supplemented by about twenty others who operated under the direction of district associations. The Home Mission Society had devoted $400 to the work and the white convention had given $335. The colored churches had sent for the work, $1,671.65; the receipts from all sources had been $2,406.65. All of this had been expended in missionary work, and an indebtedness of $185 was reported. About 15,000 miles had been traversed by the missionaries, who had preached 1,000 sermons, organized 25 churches, dedicated 10 houses of worship, and baptized 365 persons. A Sunday-school missionary had also been employed in connection with the Publication Society; he had collected from the field $1,062.68. Much interest prevails in Roger Williams University, which is fostered by this body. It would appear from one entry in the report that $9,000 had been raised for this institution; but that sum in all probability represents the sum paid by students for board and education. Eight hundred and seventy-two dollars and eighty-eight cents were secured for the Howe Institute. Over $2,000 were pledged for foreign missions; but what had been raised during the year does not appear to be reported.

The forty-eighth annual session was held in the First Church, Houston, October 8–13, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. H. Mitchell, from Heb. 8 : 13.

There had been employed during the year 66 missionaries, who supplied 695 stations; labored 15,985 days; preached 8,517 sermons; delivered 2,664 addresses; organized 19 churches, with a membership of 296; baptized 989 persons, and received otherwise 776; made 15,367 religious visits; and distributed 118,163 pages of religious literature; they had also secured 9 lots for houses of worship, valued at $1,275; and built 6 houses of worship at a cost of $2,298. The fields yielded to the support of the missionaries $11,283.65, the whole amount for State missions reported by the Board was $18,620.67; the cost of missionary labor was $14,821.19, and the expenses of administration, $2,232.95. The Home Board of the Southern Convention appropriated $6,000 for the work in the State which is not included in the above. The Board also acknowledged receipts for foreign missions, $7,079.84; for home missions, $4,067.13; for ministers' relief, $1,908.89; for endowment of the same fund, $303.71; for church building funds, $155.23; on account of "Missionary Messenger," $614.38; the total expense of handling all these funds, which was divided among them, was $5,049.30.

The details of the work of State missions revealed the fact that three fields had become self-sustaining; that the chapel car "Good Will" had been used to great advantage, especially in the frontier work; that five missionaries among the German and two among the Swedes had received great encouragement, which leads to the imperative necessity of enlarging the work among them; also there is a demand for work among the Bohemians and Poles.

The report enters very largely into detail respecting the difficulties which it had experienced in administrating the affairs of the Convention. There had been difficulties among the colored people so embarrassing as to demand a discontinuance of co-operative work with them until there had been a fraternal adjustment between them. An attempt had been made to establish a church building fund, and the responsibility for a Mexican chapel at El Paso had been assumed. A large portion of the report refers to personal matters upon which the YEAR BOOK has no right to express opinion, and the consideration of them occupied very largely the attention of the Convention, protracted through much of two days of its deliberation.

One department of the work of the Board is the care of aged ministers, 54 of whom had received beneficiary aid. During the year three of these aged servants had died.

The discussions in this Convention are purely voluntary, arising upon reports made from committees appointed for the purpose on the various phases of denominational interest and effort. In connection with the consideration of foreign missions, an address was made by R. J. Willingham, D. D., and the interests of the Seminary at Louisville were reported by H. H. Harris, D. D. The consideration of these, as well as the educational interests of the State, was somewhat restricted by the pressure of other matters of a local and personal character.

The next session is to be held at Weatherford, beginning October 8, 1897, and Rev. W. L Skinner was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

The thirty-first annual meeting was held at San Antonio, June 25-28, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. L. D. Lamkin.

There had been 62 missionaries, colporters, and Bible women engaged in the work, who rendered 13,480 days of service; traveled 120,800 miles; visited 32,840 families, of whom 3,242 were found destitute of the Scriptures; preached 4,685 sermons; made 6,840 religious addresses; held 1,880 prayer meetings; 496 children's meeting and 121 mothers' meetings; organized 123 Sunday-schools, 87 institutes, and 18 conventions; baptized 381 persons, and received otherwise 228; sold 3,348 Bibles, 6,483 Testaments, and 4,341 religious books; they donated 2,868 Bibles, 4,062 Testaments, and 641 books; they distributed 821,000 pages of tracts; their book sales amounted to $7,424.55; and the value of grants was $1,556.70. There had been collected from the State from all sources $9,367.20, and from sources outside of collections from schools and churches, including grants of $900 in books from the Publication Society, from its branch house at Dallas, and $162.12 from the Sunday-school Board of the Convention, a grand total of $14,226.35. The total expense, including salaries, traveling expenses, printing, and other incidental items, amounted to $2,348.55. Much literature had been distributed in the German, Spanish, Swedish, Bohemian, and Italian languages, and much evangelistic work had been accomplished among those nationalities; some attempt had been made to reach the 200,000 Mexicans who now dwell in Texas; not so much work as desired had been accomplished among the colored people, who are very much divided in their councils in the State. The Bible women numbered 6 and were located in as many important cities of the State, devoting their attention especially to home work, and the holding of meetings for women and children, and the distribution of religious literature.

The proceedings of this session were of a routine character, with the discussion of some practical points in Sunday-school work. The principal addresses were by J. M. Frost, D. D., on "The Work of the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Convention"; Rev. T. C. Boykin, the Convention's superintendent of institutes, who spoke on "Help and Hindrances"; A. B. Miller, D. D., on "Early Training"; W. E. Wayte on "The Teacher as a Personal Power"; and interesting representations of the work prosecuted among the foreigners and Mexicans, by Rev. H. C. Gleiss and W. T. Powell, D. D., missionary in Mexico. All the sessions were largely attended and a spirit of enthusiasm prevailed.

The next meeting is to be held at Sherman, beginning Thursday, June 24, 1897, and Rev. H. N. G. Bently was chosen to preach the annual sermon.

The sixth annual convention was held at San Antonio, June 23-25, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. E. L. Compere, from Phil. 4 : 13.

The corresponding secretary indicated one great difficulty which prevails in our denomination; an attempt to obtain statistical reports was made by sending out 1,500 requests, which elicited but 50 replies. There is needed a stronger organization of force and more united action among the societies of young people. Not much attempt had been made to secure funds for any specific State work; the whole amount of contribution to the fund for literature, by which it was intended to create an interest in the work, was $55.92.

The leading address was by F. L. Wilkins, D. D. on "Our Baptist Future." The program embraced an extensive and varied range of themes and practical discussions, being by Rev. W. L. Times on "Bible Study"; J. W. Pender on "Development for Service"; Rev. A. E. Baten on "The Educational Feature of the Baptist Young People's Union Movement"; Prof. S. P. The twenty-fifth annual meeting was held with the Second Church, Austin, Oct. 16-19, 1896.

There were reported 25 missionaries operating in 23 associations of the State, who had performed a large quantity of evangelistic work, besides organizing 30 new churches and superintending the erection of 15 houses of worship; they had secured for all purposes, including support from their fields, about $20,000. The report of the superintendent of missions showed that he had collected $2,300. The main educational interest of this body centers about Bishop College, at Marshall, and two academies which are conducted as feeders to those institutions, in which schools there had been enrolled 515 pupils; on the two academies there exists a debt of $5,000, for the liquidation of which A. R. Griggs, D. D., was elected educational secretary, to give his entire time to the work. A woman's training school connected with the college was stated to have accomplished most gratifying results. The property valuation of these institutions of learning is about $110,000, invested in 16 buildings, 6 of which are of the first class, and 45 acres of productive land. The Home Mission Society co-operates with this Convention in both its educational and missionary work.

The next session is to be held with the Bethesda Church, Marshall, in October, 1897.

UTAH.

There is one association in this State of which N. D. Corser, Salt Lake City, is moderator and J. A. Smith, Ogden, is clerk. There are six churches with a membership of 538, and 60 baptisms were reported for 1896. There are 9 Sunday-schools with an enrollment of 1,169. The work is under the control of the Home Mission Society, none of the churches being self-sustaining. Formerly certain churches in Idaho were in union with this association, but they have withdrawn to form an association within the limits of their own State.

The seventy-second annual meeting was held at Bristol, September 22-24, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. H. M. Douglas.

In addition to a general missionary 34 churches had been aided in pastoral work during the year. In these churches there had been 52 persons baptized; the number of resident members in them was 1,405; they had raised for church expenses $12,616, of which $9,490 had been paid by the church-members; their benevolent contributions amounted to $1,465.67; they reported 2,102 pupils in Sunday-schools; for this work $3,485 had been appropriated, but the actual payments on the same had been $3,264.41; there had been expended on account of general missionary, $1,382.64; other items of expense swelled the total amount expended in State mission work to $5,468.50.

The treasurer's report showed receipts from the churches, $2,377.78, and $149.81 for minutes; received for the deficit of previous year $278.06; and other miscellaneous items swelled the total receipts from all sources to $4,070.43; the total disbursements were $4.741.97. The permanent funds now amount to $21,085.82, of which $3,262.33 had been received during the year.

The report was attended with an open parliament upon the work of the Board in which the details were discussed in a variety of speeches. The general missionary enterprises of the denomination were represented, not only in reports, but in addresses by officials connected with the societies. The business of the anniversary was of a routine character. The resolutions adopted embraced expressions of confidence in the great missionary organizations; the proposed plan for systematic beneficence, which called for the appointment of a State commission; and the usual endorsements of local interests; and deliverances upon the questions of temperance and divorce.

The next meeting is to be held at Chester, beginning Tuesday, September 21, 1897, and Rev. W. G. Scofield was appointed to preach the annual sermon.

Nothing was accomplished except the election of officers if we are to judge from the published proceedings. The meetings are held annually in connection with those of the State Convention.

The seventy-third annual meeting was held at Richmond, November 13-16, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Travis B. Thames, D. D., from 2 Tim. 4 : 7, on "Keeping the Faith."

The State Mission Board had employed 86 missionaries, who preached 6,900 sermons; baptized 1,142 persons; aided in meetings in which 1,841 conversions were reported; made 15,924 religious visits; and organized 4 churches and 28 Sunday-schools. These missionaries occupied 227 preaching points in the State; there had been co-operative work among the colored people, by which 1 general and three district missionaries had labored, at a cost of $900. The Education Board had aided 59 students for the ministry; 42 at Richmond College, 16 at the Theological Seminary, and 1 in an academy; of this number 42 had come under the care of the Board for the first time. An arrangement prevails with the Theological Seminary by which two-thirds of the expenses of students from Virginia is guaranteed by this Board. A debt of $727.25 was reported on this account. The Sunday-school and Bible Board had employed 26 colporters at available points throughout the State; in this work co-operation was had with the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Convention, and the Publication Society. In maintaining this work there had been received from the treasurer of the General Association, $1,763.95; arising from sales, $4,230.51; Sunday-school Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, $225; miscellaneous, $13.46; an available balance, $209.59; a total of $9,442.81. This was expended, on salaries, $4,935.58; purchase of books, $3,838.27; freight, $121.43; expense, $410.67; total, $9,295.95. There were available assets, in books, $1,385.38, and other items, making a total of $1,969.02; against which are liabilities for books and open accounts, $1,298.86.

The Ministers' Relief Fund had received $2,550 from the treasurer of the General Association, $1,362.72 from interest on investments, and $200 in a bequest. There had been expended for beneficiaries, $4,122.50; which is over $1,500 more than the churches had contributed. The demands were so great as to prevent any increase in the invested funds. The expense for administering fund was $36.35. The number of beneficiaries is not stated in the report, but 4 of them had passed away during the year. In the Baptist Orphanage are 72 children, 38 being males. Valuable additions to the plant had been made, especially in the erection of a workshop, and arrangements for supplying ample water for all purposes. The receipts in cash had been $9,142.71, and in provisions and other supplies, $1,504.24, a total of $10,646.95; the number of contributing churches to this charity was 233, who gave $2,077.99; and 133 Sunday-schools, who contributed $2,380.67. The immediate demands are, the liquidation of debt which exists upon the building, and the completion of the industrial building with proper apparatus, when the boys in the institution will be able to maintain themselves; as well as the erection of other buildings deemed necessary, especially for school and religious purposes.

The plan of operation of this body provides that all receipts should pass through the hands of a common treasurer, yet we note that direct contributions were made to several Boards as noted above. The treasurer's report showed, contributed for State missions, $11,820.90; Sunday-school and Bible Board, $1,778.67; Education Board, $1,766.30; foreign missions, $21,008.79; home missions, $9,837.29; ministerial relief, $2,541.45; orphanage, $9,677.85; a total of $64,431.23, which represents the contributions of the churches and individuals for the year to the specified interests.

The discussions in this body arise from reports presented by committees, and are purely voluntary, without the pre-arrangement of a set program. Interesting addresses were made by W. H. Whitsitt, D. D., representing the Seminary at Louisville; Pres. F. W. Boatwright and Prof. Mitchell, of Richmond College, on the question of education; J. H. Eager, D. D., of the Italian Mission; Pres. B. L. Whitman, D. D., of Columbian University; J. M. Frost, D. D., on the question of Sunday-schools; and I. T. Tichenor, D. D., on home missions. The devotional spirit and enthusiasm which attended these various discussions was notable.

The next annual meeting is to be held with the Calvary Church, Roanoke, beginning November 19, 1897, and A. B. Dunaway, D. D., was appointed as the preacher of the annual sermon.

In addition to a number of interesting practical exercises there were addresses and papers by F. C. McConnell, D. D., on "The Sociable vs. The Dance"; Rev. L. G. Broughton, on "Power for Service"; Rev. J. W. Mitchell, on "The Pastor's Lecture Course"; Rev. H. W. Tribble, on "Missionary Zeal and Knowledge"; and M. B. Wharton, D. The twenty-ninth anniversary was held at Norfolk, May 13-17, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. Z. D. Lewis, from Rev. 14:6, on "The Man and the Message."

The State Mission Board had employed 6 student missionaries for periods of 5 months each in supplying 13 stations; they preached 426 sermons; held 248 prayer meetings; made 962 religious visits; baptized 17 persons, and received 70 otherwise; distributed 115 copies of Scripture, and 3,773 pages of tracts; two houses of worship had been built, and 6 Sunday-schools organized. There had also been employed a missionary, who for part of the time had been assisted by another, by whom efficient work had been rendered, and 28 persons baptized; one church organized and two houses of worship dedicated. The general missionary had received for all purposes, educational and missionary, $996.40. There was co-operation with the Home Mission Society in the support of these missionaries, whereby that society furnished one-half the salary and traveling expenses.

The educational work of this body is represented by schools at Lynchburg and Richmond. The Virginia Seminary had received large sums, indicating a general response on the part of the churches of the State in the interest of the institution. The report on education indicated gratifying progress, and the promise of increased efficiency and power in this direction. The Theological Seminary, the Hartshorn Memorial College for Women, and the proposed institution for boys, located at Richmond, together with the institutions at Lynchburg and Hampton, are to be affiliated into what shall be known as the Virginia Union University; and the endorsement of this Convention was secured to the desired project. Efforts are to be made to secure $35,000 to provide a dormitory for the male college, and to liquidate the indebtedness of the Virginia Seminary, and the efforts of the churches in educational matters are to be concentrated by this work, which it is hoped will be accomplished by the year 1900.

The sessions of the body were characterized by a fraternal spirit, and an earnest heed to the demands upon the churches for efficient work. The finance committee reported as sent up for various objects $1,109.03, of which $737.85 were for State missions, and $258.52 for education. At the evening sessions sermons were preached, and other evangelistic services conducted.

In connection with this meeting there was organized a Baptist Young People's Union, of which D. G. Jacox, of Norfolk, was made president; Mrs. Sophia Quarles, Richmond, recording secretary; and Miss Annie Tucker, Norfolk, corresponding secretary. A constitution was adopted. Five societies of young people were represented in the organization. A paper by W. R. Ashburn, was read on "The Relation of Auxiliaries to the Churches"; and one was presented by Mrs. Sophia Quarles, on "Why we Prefer the B. Y. P. U."; and a discussion was held on the question of appropriate literature for the young people. The annual sessions of this body will form a part of the anniversaries of the State Convention.

The next session is to be held at Salem, beginning Wednesday, May 12, 1897.

The ninth anniversary was held at Tacoma, October 13–15, 1896. There were enrolled 213 delegates. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. G. C. King, from the Great Commission.

The Board reported 34 missionary pastors occupying 46 churches and 31 out-stations; they served 1,457 weeks; preached 4,189 sermons; made 12,391 religious visits; baptized 132 and received otherwise 229 persons; and raised from their mission fields $21,086 for all purposes. In addition the corresponding secretary had delivered 177 sermons and 54 addresses; visited 84 churches and 11 other points; performed a large amount of clerical labor; and collected for the Convention's work $1,898.24. The report mentions the pressing need for enlargement, although 7 more missionaries have been under appointment than ever before, and the appropriations were $1,390 in excess of the previous year. The co-operation with the Home Mission Society yields $5 to every $1 raised on the field, the limit being $8,000. The amount received from all sources on the field was $2,930. The women's society yielded $364.50, the Sunday-schools $161.27, and young peoples' societies $126.89. The report showed that $350 was necessary to close the year without debt, and this sum was provided for in the meeting.

The consideration of the report was attended by addresses by Rev. W. T. Stackhouse on "Opening Doors, and Our Duty to Enter Them"; Rev. S. A. Abbott on "Evangelistic Work"; Rev. J. H. Best on "Education of Mission Churches Toward Self-support"; and Rev. S. W. Beaven on "The Work of the Holy Spirit in Developing a Missionary Spirit." At another time an address was made by Rev. C. A. Woody on "Difficulties and Development in Home Mission Work on the Pacific Coast"; an address was also made by H. C. Woods in the interest of the home mission work, and J. Sunderland, D. D., on the foreign work; there were also voluntary discussions on temperance, Sunday-schools, and the work of the Publication Society; and special attention was given to Swedish and Norwegian work.

The territory covered by this Convention is not only missionary ground, but most important, the natural resources attracting a constantly increasing population, among whom it is highly important that missionary work should be done at once. The work is entirely under the direction of the Home Mission Society. There are many new fields where churches should be organized, but the churches on the ground are feeble and unable to accomplish the work. The statistics of missionary effort are included in the general summary of the Home Mission Society. The preceding year was reported to be one of the best in the history of the body. The Baptist College of Washington, is located at Colfax, and is fostered not only by this Convention, but also by the Connention of the State.

The next meeting is to be held at Dayton, beginning October, 1897.

The thirty-second anniversary was held at Wheeling, October 14–18, 1896. The annual sermon was preached by P. B. Reynolds, D. D., from 1 Cor. 11 : 1.

There had been 14 missionaries employed, who had served 533 weeks; preached 1,522 sermons; made 595 addresses; attended 877 other religious meetings; made 5,773 religious visits; traveled 12,414 miles; baptized 120 persons, and received 94 otherwise; organized 9 churches; distributed 355 Bibles, and 20,964 pages of tracts; collected for church erection and debts, $1,850.84, and $613.75 for benevolent objects. In addition the superintendent of missions had preached 89 sermons; made 95 addresses; 336 visits; traveled 12,094 miles; and performed a vast number of clerical duties. The receipts from all sources were $2,715-.33, and the expenditures for all purposes, $3,311.29. The excess of expenditures over income was $595.91, and the debt due at the close of the fiscal year was $2,250.32, which had been subsequently reduced. But this reduction will appear on the next report. Co-operation with the Home Mission Society continues in the support of several missionaries. One-fourth of the area of the State and about the same proportion of the population, have up to this time been unoccupied by the Baptists. There are ten counties, with an area of over 6,000 square miles, containing one-eighth of the population, in which are only 5 active resident preachers; 3 of whom have been recently located. In the Northern Panhandle, where one-tenth of the population resides, there is only one resident minister.

The Board of Education showed that 12 young men had been aided during the past year, and 10 applications were on hand for the scholastic year opening. The receipts for this work aggregated $919.80; expended in aid of students, $742.32; expenses, $175.37; balance, $2.11. The Convention was addressed by Prof. C. L. Williams, of Denison University, Ohio; Rev. E. E. Williams, of Broaddus Institute, where 70 students had been enrolled; and P. B. Reynolds, D. D. The Divinity School of Chicago was also represented by G. D. Foster, D. D., who preached the annual educational sermon from 2 Cor. 5 : 7. In considering Sunday-school and colportage work Rev. Harvey Cofer read a paper on "New Life in Our Sunday-school Work," and Rev. L. E. Peters made an address. The work is done in co-operation with the Publication Society. The report on church edifice aid was presented, outlining a plan by which 100 persons were sought to be secured, each agreeing to pay $5 a year for this work. On home and foreign missions Rev. P. H. Murray spoke on "Church Education in Missionary Knowledge and Interest"; Rev. T. G. Field, on "The Missionary Outlook"; and Rev. T. J. Morgan, of the Home Mission Society, on the work of that body. The proposed scheme to construct a Commission on Systematic Beneficence was acceded to and a State commission was appointed. Other addresses were by Rev. L. J. Huffman on the work of the corresponding secretary, and Rev. P. B. Smith on "Courage for the Cause." The obituary committee noticed the death of 10 life members. Rev. H. Adams followed the report on temperance with a paper on "Union of Forces Against the Saloon."

The fifty-second annual meeting was held at Oshkosh, October 6-8, 1896.

During the year 65 missionaries had been employed, 41 being stated pastors, and 15 students serving during their vacation; they labored in 63 fields and maintained 24 out-stations; baptized 343 persons, and received 171 otherwise; 2 evangelists had been employed upon missionary ground in the State. That this work was needed appeared from the fact that in one association there are 26 extinct churches. In the latter part of the year 2 district missionaries had been employed. The financial statement showed

In its co-operation with the Home Mission Society special attention was given at this meeting to systematic beneficence, following the plan outlined at the general anniversaries, of a commission upon that subject, in the various States. An exhaustive exposition of the plan was presented by H. C. Mable, D. D., of the Missionary Union. The question of co-operation was discussed with equal ability by W. M. Haigh, D. D. There were a number of addresses by missionaries laboring in the field, especially at strategic points, and among the large foreign population. Rev. E. W. White outlined the plan involved in the employment of district missionaries. In discussing educational topics addresses were made by Principal H. J. Vosburgh, of Wayland Academy, at Beaver Dam, which is the institution fostered by the churches of the State. Rev. W. G. Walker also spoke on "Loyalty to Wayland," and he was followed by a number of others urging the claims of the institution upon the minds of the brethren.

A symposium on Sunday-school work was held, at which a number of addresses and papers were presented upon practical topics, including "Instruction of Adult Classes, normal class work and primary work, and followed by an address by R. G. Seymour, D. D., on "Sunday-school Literature." The formation of a State Board consisting of 9 practical Sunday-school workers and representatives of associations, was determined upon, to outline co-operative work with the Publication Society, with reference to Sunday-school evangelization.

There were enthusiastic gatherings of women interested in home and foreign missions. For home missions the women had raised $1,761.71 for their general society, and $872.13 for State mission work. In foreign missions much interest was excited by the presence of Miss Yates, of Assam, and by a paper on "How Shall We Interest the Uninterested?" by Mrs. J. Y. Aitchison. Miss E. L. Cummings, of Japan, also addressed the women in their gathering.

The program embraced a paper by Mrs. D. G. Jones on "Hints from the Pew"; an address on "The Preacher's Place in Public Affairs," by Rev. Adam Fawcett; two lectures by E. B. Hulburt, D. D., on "Some Advantages to the Preacher of a Visit to Bible Lands," and "The English Reformation"; and M. G. Hodge, D. D., on "What the Holy Spirit Has Done For Me." The cause of the Ministers' Home at Fenton, Mich., was presented, and a collection taken for it. The chairman of the Historical Society showed a prosperous year, there having been 1883 baptisms, 831 other additions; a net gain of 1,477, and a total membership of 18,059.

The annual meetings are held on the day preceding the meeting of the State Convention.

The Baptist Young People's Union.

OFFICERS.

President.
Rev. A. C. KEMPTON, Eau Claire.
Secretary.
Rev. B. F. MARTIN, Oconomowoc.
Treasurer.
Mrs. J. H. TAYLOR, Green Bay.

The annual meeting for 1896 was held at Oshkosh, October 8, as a part of the anniversaries of the other bodies. Every association in the State had organized an associational union save one. The program was exceptionally practical, consisting of papers on various phases of the work, presented by the young people themselves. The Christian Culture Courses are observed with a high degree of excellence, and three banners were presented to senior, and as many to junior societies, as a result of competitive work in examination.

The annual meetings are held in conjunction with those of the State Convention.

WYOMING.

We have been furnished no information from the single association which exists in this State. The work is controlled by the Home Mission Society, and the missionary statistics are included in the report of that body. The prevailing financial stringency had prevented any marked advance in the work. There are about 350 members in the State, with a large number living in isolated points without any church affiliation.

ORDAINED MINISTERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

NOTE.—Among Baptists there exists no official register, as among other denominations compiled by a central ecclesiastical authority. Because of this, perhaps, we suffer the disadvantage of an always incomplete list. The present roll is compiled chiefly from the Associational Minutes, and is as near exactness as it is possible to make it. There are many Associations, however, which publish no lists of ministers at all, and many others which publish only the names of pastors, and these without postal address.

The policy of this YEAR-BOOK is to make the Associational Minutes the basis of operations, on the only and simple ground that it is deemed that every minister of good standing will be mentioned by the Minutes of his home organization. If names are omitted in this list that should be enrolled, let an examination be made first of the District Association Minutes, and the Editor be then acquitted. Errors will be cheerfully corrected, however.

The perpetual movement of such a large body of men occasions almost incredible numbers of changes and alterations in the course of a year. The YEAR-BOOK does not claim that the appended list includes all the Baptist ministers of the country, but it claims only to present an accurate list as furnished by the Associational Minutes, with such alterations as are discovered in a weekly scrutiny of the denominational papers.

In certain States, especially in the South and West, it is an impossible thing to obtain all the Associational Minutes before making up this list for any given year. Consequently, the Editor does not claim that it is a complete list, but it is an accurate one so far as it goes, affected by the constant changes to which the ministry is exposed. In these States, the Minutes for 1896 are closely followed, and where the Minutes of that year are not at hand, those of 1895, are carefully compared with the list; so that if a minister has removed, his last known address is given, and his movements may be traceable from that office. No name appears that is not in the District Association lists within two years. If the names of any so contained do not appear, the Clerk of the Association has sent neither blanks nor Minutes to us.

Before it will be possible to compile a full and complete list of American Baptist ministers, the friends of statistics must secure in their Associational Minutes these several features: 1. An alphabetical list of all ordained ministers living within the bounds of the Association, or serving churches, with their correct post office address attached—this list to be published quite separate from the statistics of the churches, and to show, by simple abbreviations, whether the brethren are pastors, teachers, without charge, agents, or honorably retired. 2. A corresponding list of ministerial changes, showing who have entered the Association within the year; who have left it, and where gone; and who have died, and when; and who have been ordained during the year.

If Clerks of the Associations can be induced to adopt the suggestions above, and be careful to address a copy of their Minutes to the Editor of the YEAR-BOOK, very early an absolutely correct list of ministers would be published. The attention of interested brethren in the Associations, and of Editors and Statistical Secretaries of State bodies, is respectfully called to these considerations.

Colored Ministers.—The fire of February, 1896, destroyed the only approximately reliable list of colored ministers in several Southern States; it will require much time and labor to reproduce them.

The orthography of the postal addresses conforms to that adopted by the United States Official Postal Guide, 1897.

☞ Some weeks must necessarily elapse between the preparation of this list for the press, and the issuing of the volume. The work of final proof revision began January 7. For such changes as occur, and of which we have information in this interim, consult the Supplement at the close of the volume.

NOTE, as to Ordained Ministers.—The editor, through his extended experience, has been confronted with the difficult problem of ascertaining the numerical strength of the colored Baptist ministry, and has reached the conclusion that no living man is able to give even an approximate estimate of their number. The remarkable variations from year to year have convinced him that his informants have engaged in mere guesswork without any reliable data. In the table the following estimates are given without any assurance of their accuracy: Alabama, 1000; Arkansas, 400; Florida, 200; Georgia, 1500; Louisiana, 600; Mississippi, 900; Missouri, 250; North Carolina, 600; South Carolina, 400; Texas, 800; Virginia, 400. No estimates whatever are made for Kentucky and Tennessee; and the figures in the column represent the white ministry in those States.

* Blanks for this year not returned.

† No information from these Institutions for two years. ‡ Returns missing for more than two years. Some of these do not care to report, preferring not to be enrolled as denominational schools, although established by Baptists and seeking patronage among them; others probably have suspended operations, owing to financial stringency, although those known to have suspended have been omitted.

MARRIED LIFE A BLESSING to the TRULY MARRIED

We would not advise any one to enter into married life without proper forethought.

Among the many things to be considered is the matter of a proper Certificate of Marriage.

It should be attractive.

It should be in shape to be easily kept.

It is desirable that it should combine with it souvenir attractions.

It should preserve the autograph signatures of the principal guests at the wedding.

Such a souvenir is "Married Life," by Mrs. D. E. W. Spratt.

There is nothing more attractive at a popular price on the market.

It has a beautiful steel-plate Marriage Certificate.

It has choice and suitable selections from the Bible and from eminent writers, both in prose and poetry.

It has spaces for signatures of guests present at the wedding.

It is printed on the finest enameled paper.

It is bound in white with a gilt side stamp of artistic design.

It is put up in a neat box.

It is sold for 50 cents, postpaid.

"Married Life" is enthusiastically received. Try it. As a gift it is appropriate.

CHILDREN'S DAY

IN JUNE

THE MONTH OF FLOWERS AND SINGING BIRDS

The Children's Day is the Second Sunday in June, and it should be sacredly kept by every Baptist school in the land for these reasons:

It is the day for the church to recognize the children, and to train them to care for other children.

It is the day for the Sunday-school to help to establish other Sunday-schools in destitute and waste places.

It is a day to help the American Baptist Publication Society to send out missionaries and colporters to find the lost men and women as well as children.

It is a day to help the wonderful chapel cars to carry the gospel into the far West and South.

Let every superintendent as well as pastor enter into the work heartily. The Missionary Department of the Publication Society never had such open doors for usefulness, and never so little funds to do the work. Do not neglect this opportunity to help.

Programs for Children's Day have been prepared and will be sent on application free to any school which will give the Society the collection of that day. Write the address plainly and send to us as soon as possible. Take time for the preparation of the exercise and the collection.

Missionary and Bible Secretary.

AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY

B. L. WHITMAN, D. D., President Columbian University, says in The Evangel:—"No publishing house and no agency can to-day offer better service to the reader than our own Society. . . . Nothing is more surprising or more gratifying than the progress made in the most recent years in the style of its publications. One feels a thrill of denominational pride from seeing what has been done. More than ever the Society is vindicating its right to be loved and trusted and supported by the denomination."

All the primitive sects are considered and special attention is given to the opposition that sprang up in Germany and elsewhere to the positions of Zwingli and Luther. Professor Newman has had access to original sources, and has produced a calm, impartial, and valuable historical work.

Messages of To-Day to the Men of To-morrow.

By ROBERT STUART MACARTHUR, D. D. 12mo, 336 pages. $1.25.

Christian Teaching and Life.

By ALVAH HOVEY, D. D., LL. D. 12mo, 286 pages. $1.25.

By HENRY S. BURRAGE, D. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 192 pages. 90 cents.

The Quotations of the New Testament from the Old.

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON, D. D. Cloth, 12mo, 428 pages. $2.00.
